Design Principles for Interactive Software Gilbert Cockton, Christian Gram, 1996-06-30 IFIP's Working Group 2.7(13.4)* has, since its establishment in 1974, concentrated on the software problems of user interfaces. From its original interest in operating systems interfaces the group has gradually shifted emphasis towards the development of interactive systems. The group has organized a number of international working conferences on interactive software technology, the proceedings of which have contributed to the accumulated knowledge in the field. The current title of the Working Group is 'User Interface Engineering', with the aim of investigating the nature, concepts, and construction of user interfaces for software systems. The scope of work involved is: - to increase understanding of the development of interactive systems; - to provide a framework for reasoning about interactive systems; - to provide engineering models for their development. This report addresses all three aspects of the scope, as further described below. In 1986 the working group published a report (Beech, 1986) with an object-oriented reference model for describing the components of operating systems interfaces. The model was implementation oriented and built on an object concept and the notion of interaction as consisting of commands and responses. Through working with that model the group addressed a number of issues, such as multi-media and multi-modal interfaces, customizable interfaces, and history logging. However, a conclusion was reached that many software design considerations and principles are independent of implementation models, but do depend on the nature of the interaction process.

Handbook of Research on Software Quality Innovation in Interactive Systems Cipolla-Ficarra, Francisco Vicente, 2021-03-19 The inclusion of experts in communicability in the software industry has allowed timeframes to speed up in the commercialization of new technological products worldwide. However, this constant evolution of software in the face of the hardware revolution opens up a host of new horizons to maintain and increase the quality of the interactive systems following a set of standardized norms and rules for the production of interactive software. Currently, we see some efforts towards this goal, but they are still partial solutions, incomplete, and flawed from the theoretical as well as practical points of view. If the quality of the interactive design is analyzed, it is left to professionals to generate systems that are efficient, reliable, user-friendly, and cutting-edge. The Handbook of Research on Software Quality Innovation in Interactive Systems analyzes the quality of the software applied to the interactive systems and considers the constant advances in the software industry. This book reviews the past and present of information and communication technologies with a projection towards the future, along with analyses of software, software design, phrases to use, and the purposes for software applications in interactive systems. This book is ideal for students, professors, researchers, programmers, analysts of systems, computer engineers, interactive designers, managers of software quality, and evaluators of interactive systems.

Methodology and Software for Interactive Decision Support Andrzej Lewandowski, Ivan Stanchev, 2013-06-29 These Proceedings report the scientific results of an International Workshop on Methodology and Software for Interactive Decision Support organized jointly by the System and Decision Sciences Program of the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis (nASA, located in Laxenburg, Austria) and The National Committee for Applied Systems Analysis and Management in Bulgaria. Several other Bulgarian institutions sponsored the Workshop - The Committee for Science to the Council of Ministers, The State Committee for Research and Technology and The Bulgarian Industrial Association. The workshop was held in Albena, on the Black Sea coast. More than 80 scientists from 15 countries attended the workshop; 50 lectures were presented and 17 computer demonstration sessions took place. This Workshop is one of a series of meetings organized by nASA with the collaboration of scientific institutions from the National Member Organization countries. The previous meetings took place in Austria (1983), Hungary (1984) and the German Democratic Republic (1985). All proceedings of these meetings have been published by Springer Verlag in the series Lecture Notes in Economics and Mathematical Systems.

Toward Interactive and Intelligent Decision Support Systems Yoshikazu Sawaragi, Koichi Inoue, Hirotaka Nakayama, 2012-12-06 These proceedings include papers presented at the VII-th International Conference on Multiple Criteria Decision Making which was held in Kyoto/Japan on August 18-22, 1986. Multiple Criteria Decision Making (MCDM) has been a greatly important subject in many practical fields, for example, in planning, design, control and management in both private and public sectors. After remarkable developments of theory, methodology and pilot case studies in recent years, it is now facing the stage of real applications and development of more sophisticated methodology as interactive intelligent decision support systems. The conference aimed to provide a significant contribution to the future of MCDM as one of total systems including human factors: Substantial emphasis was given to knowledge engineering and cognitive science. The conference inherits the tradition and the style of the previous conferences: (1) Jouy-en-Josas/France (1975), (2) Buffalo/U.S.A. (1977), (3) Konigswinter/FRG (1978), (4) Delaware/U.S.A. (1980), (5) Mons/Belgium (1982), (6) Cleveland/U.S.A. (1984). This time a great many Japanese companies provided grants for the conference. As a result, the total number of participants was over 120, and a computer demonstration could be realized on an extensive scale as well as the conference sessions. Throughout the conference, it was observed that MCDM is making steady progress not only in theory but also as a tool for decision support.

User Interface Software Manuel Perez-Quinones,Pardha Pyla,Manas Tungare,2014-11-15 A timely contribution to the literature of human-computer interaction, this text explains how to build interactive software applying principles from the fields of human-computer interaction, psychology, and software engineering. The book's primary emphasis is on how to build interactive software, with a secondary emphasis on what makes systems easy to use. It uses several different styles of user interfaces (desktop, mobile, web) to illustrate the principles behind building interactive software, and employs several languages and technologies throughout. The coverage includes new technologies, such as mashups and RSS feeds, and a discussion of social software principles.
