Human Development Report 1992 United Nations Development Programme, 1992 Since its headline-making debut, the Human Development Report has become an essential resource for development specialists, economists, and political scientists around the world. The 1992 Report not only updates the findings of the earlier volumes, but also examines the international dimensions of human development, showing how global economic growth and the expansion of the world economy have filtered down to poor economies and poor people in developing countries. In addition, it examines linkages between human development and international markets for products, capital, and labor, addresses issues of global governance, and presents updated human development indicators for more than 160 countries.

Jugendkultur und gesellschaftliche Partizipation. Partizipative Potentiale von Ultraszenen Malte K., 2019-08-01 Bachelorarbeit aus dem Jahr 2018 im Fachbereich Sozialpädagogik / Sozialarbeit, Hochschule für Angewandte Wissenschaften Hamburg (Fakultät Wirtschaft und Soziales), Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: Diese Bachelorarbeit analysiert die partizipativen Potentiale von Ultras anhand von vier Handlungsfeldern. Als Fallbeispiel dienen die Ultraszenen der beiden Hamburger Vereine, Hamburger Sport-Verein und Fußballclub Sankt Pauli. Die vier angesprochenen Felder, in denen nach Potentialen zur Partizipation gesucht wird, sind die eigene Fanszene, die Fanprojekte, der Verein sowie der öffentliche Raum. Die Leitfrage lautet insofern: Inwiefern bieten Ultraszenen innerhalb der vier benannten Ebenen Potentiale zur Partizipation? Der Fokus der Arbeit liegt auf der Perspektive der Betroffenen selbst, da aus ihrem Verständnis heraus die Motivation für die Partizipation erklärt werden soll. Auf diese Weise soll ein Erkenntnisgewinn in Bezug auf die Ursachen und Motive für die Partizipation junger Menschen erzielt werden. Die Forderung, dass Jugendliche in unserer Gesellschaft mehr partizipieren sollen, ist in aller Munde. Medien sprechen von einer Generation Facebook, in der die Auseinandersetzung mit gesellschaftlichen Themen nicht mehr stattfindet. Politiker fordern eine höhere demokratische Wahlbeteiligung und gehen von einer sogenannten Politikverdrossenheit der juvenilen Generation aus. Die Soziale Arbeit bemängelt fehlende partizipative Möglichkeiten für junge Menschen und sucht nach Lösungen für eine bessere Einbindung.

Gleichzeitig ungleich Sarah Herbst,Rüdiger Mautz,Berthold Vogel,2023-04-12 Die dritte Welle der Covid-19-Pandemie im Frühjahr 2021 stand medizinisch gesehen ganz im Zeichen erweiterter Infektionsgefahr auf der einen und beschleunigtem Impftempo auf der anderen Seite. In ihrem Buch setzen sich Sarah Herbst, Rüdiger Mautz und Berthold Vogel soziologisch mit dieser Phase der Pandemie auseinander. Ihre Analysen zeigen, welchen spezifischen Belastungen einzelne Berufsgruppen während dieser Zeit ausgesetzt waren und wie sich die Wertschätzung für einzelne Berufe und Tätigkeiten verändert hat. Zudem analysieren die Autor:innen, welche Spuren die Pandemie in der Arbeitswelt und in den Erfahrungen der Menschen hinterlässt. Dabei zeigt sich, dass die dritte Welle eine Schlüsselphase der Covid-19-Krise war.

National Identity in Literary Translation Łukasz Barciński,2020 This book is a collection of theoretical and empirical studies steering the reader through the intricacies of literary translation from the perspective of national identity. It offers a multifaceted view of the condition of the contemporary national identities and its linguistic transfer from different perspectives.

Freedom in the World 2018 Freedom House,2019-01-31 Freedom in the World is the standard-setting comparative assessment of global political rights and civil liberties. The methodology of this survey is derived in large measure from the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and these standards are applied to all countries and territories.

Protest and Dissent Anna Warso, Agnieszka Pantuchowicz, 2020-02-18 Essays collected in this book discuss textual and discursive formulations of dominance and resistance. The authors analyze how they are narrated and re-narrated, framed and reframed in different social, political and language communities and realities, through different media and means, and translated into different contexts and languages. As the ways we name, rename, or label events, people and places have implications in the real world, the essays are also meant to investigate the ways in which we partake in negotiating its construction, its changing meanings and senses through the stories we tell and the practices we live by.

Palace of Flies Walter Kappacher, 2022-05-03 One of those rare biographical novels that bring a whole world to life in a way that lingers in memory. -- Jay Parini, author of Borges and Me This absorbing, sensitive novel portrays a famed author in a moment of crisis: an aging Hugo von Hofmannsthal returns to a summer resort outside of Salzburg that he visited as a child. But in the spa town where he once thrilled to the joys of youth, he now feels unproductive and uninspired, adrift in the modern world born after World War One. Over ten days in 1924 in a ramshackle inn that has been renamed the Grand Hotel, Hofmannsthal fruitlessly attempts to complete a play he's long been wrestling with. The writer is plagued by feelings of loneliness and failure that echo in a buzz of inner monologues, imaginary conversations and nostalgic memories of relationships with glittering cultural figures. Palace of Flies conjures up an individual state of distress and disruption at a time of fundamental societal transformation that speaks eloquently to our own age.

The Life Course Reader Walter R. Heinz, Johannes Huinink, Ansgar Weymann, 2009
The course of human lives in Western society is inescapably shaped by political, cultural, and economic factors. Changes in these spheres inevitably lead to changes in our conceptions of everything from childhood and adulthood to family structures and living arrangements. The nineteen articles collected in The Life Course Reader offer a range of both theoretical and empirical studies of changing conceptions of the life course. Drawing on data from North America and Europe, the Reader will be indispensable for anyone studying human development and the twenty-first century family.

Quality of Work in the European Union Ana Marta Guillén, Sverre Dahl, 2009
This collective volume on quality of work in the European Union offers a comprehensive analysis on the current situation of the tensions between work and welfare in Europe, with a special emphasis on employment-related issues. The volume tackles a crucial aspect of employment policies, namely the strengthening of the quality dimension in the decisions taken by policy-makers to foster the performance of the labour market and to combine this orientation with the demands of workers for welfare, protection and a better reconciliation of work and family life. Quality of work has been on the agenda of policy-makers, practitioners and academics for the last few years, promoting a wide debate. The book provides a contribution to this debate and takes into consideration a range of issues associated with the analysis of work quality from an innovative perspective. Relevant subtopics including a conceptual and political analysis of work quality, wage differentials and in-work poverty, gender issues or workers' direct and indirect representation in the firm and its relation with work quality are addressed.

Making Bodies, Making History Leslie A. Adelson, 1993-01-01 In West German literature in the 1970s and 1980s bodies functioned not as victims of history nor as allegories for the nation but as sites of contested identities. Focusing on conflicts about identity in present-day Germany and on literary texts in which the body is an aesthetic construct, Leslie A. Adelson reformulates questions of embodiment and historical agency—questions that continue to haunt culture studies in general and German studies and women's studies in particular. This interdisciplinary study of history, race, gender, and nationality offers rich readings of three contemporary prose texts that challenge the suppositions of prevalent literary theory—Anne Duden's Übergang, TORKAN's Tufan: Brief an einen islamischen Bruder, and Jeanette Lander's Ein Sommer in der Woche der Itke K. Adelson's discussion of heterogeneous identities in contemporary German culture boldly explores accountability and innovation in historical process.

Nikolina Ivezić Nikolina Ivezić, 2020-08-29 With her original, recognizable and engaged work, Nikolina Ivezić (Zagreb, 1970) has been one of the top Croatian artists for a number of years. The versatile artist who works with sculpture, illustration, scenography in theater and film, murals, street art, product and graphic design, video art and conceptual art, action and multimedia, is best known for her paintings-objects, where in a specific way, combining elements of painting, sculpture (relief), illustration and comics, she outlines controversial topics from our everyday life, criticizing consumerism, clichés, modern fetishes, and most of all sexist exploitation of the female body. Her approach is critical and ironic - with a dose of humor, provocatively pointing her finger and mocking stereotypes, mass media, sensationalism and superficiality of the modern society. The book - in English and Croatian - presents three decades of her artistic career. During this time, following the pop-art idiom and comic strip aesthetics, but at the same time building her expression on specific iconography (scenes with comic-style figures without faces and handwritten witty comments), and by using original and characteristic materials and techniques in her work (laminated Styrofoam and other materials painted with acrylic, with applied sheet metal tiles - all this simply named combined technique), Nikolina Ivezić always knew how to intrigue both the audience and the critics in the right way; to provoke attention and even reaction, showing each time its topicality and engagement. Design and Layout: Nikolina Ivezić Texts: Mladen Lučić, Željko Spoljar (aka. Pavle Svirac / Književna Groupie) Editor: Zvonimir Bulaja English and Croatian. The book has been published with the financial support of the Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Croatia Her works, made with inexpensive materials, accentuate the basic characteristics of her artistic expression, which is, along with pop art, also based on Bad Painting, comic strip, pin-up magazines, the aesthetics of advertising, and today's erotica and porn industry. Busty women, pumped-up men, comic-strip heroes, all of them with no faces but only with the outline of a head that rounds the empty surface painted with skin tones, all these are the nameless subjects of Nikolina's works. They are, just like modern society, deprived of their identity and any sort of individuality: entities of impersonal mass incorporated in cheap consumerist kitsch attire; the artist emphasizes this with expressive basic colors and elements such as metal, silver and gold stars. With her simple and innovative artistic language, with the themes of her work, and with her presence in places that communicate with the audience directly, Nikolina became the most important artist that helped create Zagreb's alternative pop culture of the last decade of the previous century and the beginning of the new century. Nikolina's parody relates not only to social context, but it also lucidly questions contemporary art, its role and purpose, as well as the established system of values. She chose a form of expression that anyone can understand, and her art is not laden with hermetic, intellectual premises and sublimated messages. ---- Mladen Lučić

Then I asked her what I could I do to make it up to her, for using her work on the cover of my book. Well, nothing really. Buy me a beer sometime when we meet in town. No, I would like to make it up to you with the only thing I have, with my writing... Say, I could write an honest, inspired text about your work... And you certainly deserve to get an art book as soon as possible... You are an urban legend after all. And this book must also be unconventional, potable and seductive, just like your works. And then, I could try to write a text for the book. A text that would go well with your work... ---- Pavle Svirac

Contexts of Adult Education Tara J. Fenwick, Tom Nesbit, Bruce Spencer, 2006
This book provides a critically informed overview of adult education today with contributions by leading researchers and practitioners from across Canada. It examines the contexts of adult education today - the historical contexts that shape the practice; the philosophical contexts that underpin their activities; the socioeconomic contexts by which practitioners are informed; the community contexts in which they are located; and the practice contexts that their activities reveal.

Inside the Stalin Archives Jonathan Brent,2010-02-22 To many people, Russia remains as enigmatic today as it was during the Iron Curtain era. With the collapse of the Soviet Union, the country had an opportunity to face its tortured past. Here, Brent asks - why didn't this happen? To answer such a question, he draws on 15 years of unprecedented access to high level Soviet archives. He shows readers a Russia where, in 1992, women sold used toothbrushes on the street to survive, yet now the shops are filled with luxury goods. Brent encounters Stalin's spectre through these changes and takes readers deep inside his archives.

Colonial Space J.K. Noyes,2012-10-12 First Published in 1992. This book is about space of a colony and how it was produced. It began as a study of the literature of the German colony of South-West Africa between the years 1884 and 1915. The author's aim is to demonstrate the active role which literature had played in structuring the experience of the colony. If it could be shown that literature not only describes, but also helps to structure the forms of experience, then it would follow that it also plays an important role in structuring the experience of colonization, and hence the form of the colony itself. From the outset, therefore, the study was concerned with a number of issues centering around colonization, representation, experience, and social form, where spatiality is the concept which allows us to understand how these various aspects of colonialism interrelate.
