Marking Time Nicole R. Fleetwood,2020-04-28 A powerful document of the inner lives and creative visions of men and women rendered invisible by America's prison system. More than two million people are currently behind bars in the United States. Incarceration not only separates the imprisoned from their families and communities; it also exposes them to shocking levels of deprivation and abuse and subjects them to the arbitrary cruelties of the criminal justice system. Yet, as Nicole Fleetwood reveals, America's prisons are filled with art. Despite the isolation and degradation they experience, the incarcerated are driven to assert their humanity in the face of a system that dehumanizes them. Based on interviews with currently and formerly incarcerated artists, prison visits, and the author's own family experiences with the penal system, Marking Time shows how the imprisoned turn ordinary objects into elaborate works of art. Working with meager supplies and in the harshest conditions—including solitary confinement—these artists find ways to resist the brutality and depravity that prisons engender. The impact of their art, Fleetwood observes, can be felt far beyond prison walls. Their bold works, many of which are being published for the first time in this volume, have opened new possibilities in American art. As the movement to transform the country's criminal justice system grows, art provides the imprisoned with a political voice. Their works testify to the economic and racial injustices that underpin American punishment and offer a new vision of freedom for the twenty-first century.

Weapons Of Mass Creation Sheri Vegas, 2020-03-03 Forward By Isabelle De Vries Sheri Vegas has played a predominant role in making the Australian beauty industry what it is today. As an Award-winning make up artist, entrepreneur, and educator, with a strong background in art as an abstract resin artist, Sheri knows the importance colour theory plays in our lives. Creativity Takes Courage.- Henri Matisse. This book came to me at a time when I need art the most, I had lost the drive and the passion for something that I had once loved. The industry had taken its toll on me, I felt lost at sea, I was just floating away with no real drive or passion anymore. My ideas had dried up, my brain had burnt out and the love was gone. I soon discovered that it was not the passion to create that had faded, it was the courage to create that had faded. I put down my brushes, stepped away from my creativity and decided to work on the business side of beauty. However I was not as fulfilled as I hoped, I still felt that tingling you feel, when you see someone else creating and your just itching to help. So it was time to pick up my brushes. Just because my brain had decided to be logical did not mean my heart had to follow. I returned back to painting, my original passion, which lead me to be a makeup artist in the first place. I tried to use painting to ease my tingling fingers and roaming mind, but the more I painted and played with new textiles and medium the more my courage to create came back. Being able to express my creativity in new ways lit the spark in me again and my creativity was set on fire. I wanted to paint faces again and push myself as a makeup artist. Using items that were not traditional cosmetics products in each makeup design and experimenting with new mediums, texture and materials and that is how the book was born. In each look, there are elements used that you would not normally expect to see in beauty or creative makeup but those elements are what makes each makeup design interesting and special. Not only do you get to see the images that sprang from my imagination, but you will also be invited to experience the journey of how these makeup designs were created.

The Advent Project James W. McKinnon, 2000-10-02 In his final accomplishment of an extraordinarily distinguished career, James W. McKinnon considers the musical practices of the early Church in this incisive examination of the history of Christian chant from the years a.d. 200 to 800. The Mass of Creation Rev Joseph Randolph Bowers, 2020-07 The Mass of Creation: Liturgies and Prayers for All Occasions - A Sacramentary Inspired by the Cosmology of Franciscan, First Nation, and Celtic Traditions, is a collection of interest to laity, ministers, priests, liturgists, poets, musicians, and mystics of the heart. Around the inspirational and moving Mass of Creation, the sacramentary provides culturally inclusive liturgies for gathering, blessing of sacred space, honouring of elders, healing, transgenerational healing, water blessings, baptism, and naming. Included are scripturally based liturgies for renewal of vows, dedication, consecration, and reflections on the gospel-based counsels of Jesus. You will find ceremonies for reconciliation, anointing of the sick; and blessings for readers, sacred groves, rings, crosses, and for couples. Deeply moving are original amplified translations of The Lord's Prayer and Francis of Assisi's Canticum of the Sun; along with a provocative cross-cultural and inter-religious revision of all Christian prayers using a creation-based theology.

Arising from the independent apostolic movement, the work stands apart from the institutional church and speaks eloquently of spirituality in everyday life. A good guide for home-based liturgies. Charismatic, intuitive, and inspired. Produced in a large format hardcover Altar Edition for celebrants, and a smaller paperback Pew Edition for the community.
