Mobile Interfaces in Public Spaces Adriana de Souza e Silva,Jordan Frith,2012-04-23 Mobile phones are no longer what they used to be. Not only can users connect to the Internet anywhere and anytime, they can also use their devices to map their precise geographic coordinates – and access location-specific information like restaurant reviews, historical information, and locations of other people nearby. The proliferation of location-aware mobile technologies calls for a new understanding of how we define public spaces, how we deal with locational privacy, and how networks of power are developed today. In Mobile Interfaces in Public Spaces, Adriana de Souza E. Silva and Jordan Frith examine these social and spatial changes by framing the development of location-aware technology within the context of other mobile and portable technologies such as the book, the Walkman, the iPod, and the mobile phone. These technologies work as interfaces to public spaces – that is, as symbolic systems that not only filter information but also reshape communication relationships and the environment in which social interaction takes place. Yet rather than detaching people from their surroundings, the authors suggest that location-aware technologies may ultimately strengthen our connections to locations.

Social network Francesco Tissoni,2014-02 Per operare consapevolmente nel mondo della comunicazione e del marketing sono necessari strumenti critici e culturali: il volume unisce una conoscenza teorica al sapere pratico oggi necessario per districarsi fra innumerevoli software e applicazioni. Il testo offre una panoramica su alcuni dei fenomeni più significativi della "comunicazione 2.0" e illustra, in particolare, le tecniche di scrittura nel Web, il tema dell'usabilità nella progettazione di siti e applicazioni, i blog come elemento per rinforzare l'identità online e alcuni strumenti utili, come le infografiche, i CMS e WordPress. Vengono poi presi in esame i principali social network – Facebook, Twitter, Google+, LinkedIn – e la loro storia, con un occhio particolare ad alcune problematiche generali: privacy, motori di ricerca, BOT (agenti software che imitano il comportamento umano). Una parte, infine, è dedicata al social media marketing e illustra nel dettaglio la teoria, la pratica e gli strumenti necessari per condurre una campagna di marketing tramite i social media, oltre a fare riferimento ad alcune campagne di successo condotte da aziende italiane e multinazionali. Francesco Tissoni è docente di Editoria multimediale e di Teorie e tecniche della comunicazione Web presso il Dipartimento di Beni culturali e ambientali dell'Università degli Studi di Milano.

Smartphones as Locative Media Jordan Frith,2018-06-06 Smartphone adoption has surpassed 50% of the population in more than 15 countries, and there are now more than one million mobile applications people can download to their phones. Many of these applications take advantage of smartphones as locative media, which is what allows smartphones to be located in physical space. Applications that take advantage of people's location are called location-based services, and they are the focus of this book. Smartphones as locative media raise important questions about how we understand the complicated relationship between the Internet and physical space. This book addresses these questions through an interdisciplinary theoretical framework and a detailed analysis of how various popular mobile applications including Google Maps, Facebook, Instagram, Yelp, and Foursquare use people's location to provide information about their surrounding space. The topics explored in this book are essential reading for anyone interested in how smartphones and location-based services have begun to impact the ways we navigate and engage with the physical world.
