The Transformative Power of Mobile Medicine Paul Cerrato, John Halamka, 2019-01-23 The Transformative Power of Mobile Medicine: Leveraging Innovation, Seizing Opportunities, and Overcoming Obstacles of mHealth addresses the rapid advances taking place in mHealth and their impact on clinicians and patients. It provides guidance on reliable mobile health apps that are based on sound scientific evidence, while also offering advice on how to stay clear of junk science. The book explores the latest developments, including the value of blockchain, the emerging growth of remote sensors in chronic patient care, the potential use of Amazon Alexa and Google Assistant as patient bedside assistants, the use of Amazon's IoT button, and much more. This book enables physicians and nurses to gain a deep understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of mobile health and helps them choose evidence-based mobile medicine tools to improve patient care. Provides clinicians and technologists with an update on the latest mobile health initiatives and tools, including the work done at Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center/Harvard Medical School Encompasses case studies with real-world examples to turn abstract concepts into flesh and blood examples of how mHealth benefits the public Presents drawings, graphics and flow charts to help readers visualize the functionality and value of mobile medicine

Permission to Feel Marc Brackett, Ph.D., 2019-09-03 The mental well-being of children and adults is shockingly poor. Marc Brackett, author of Permission to Feel, knows why. And he knows what we can do. We have a crisis on our hands, and its victims are our children. Marc Brackett is a professor in Yale University's Child Study Center and founding director of the Yale Center for Emotional Intelligence. In his 25 years as an emotion scientist, he has developed a remarkably effective plan to improve the lives of children and adults – a blueprint for understanding our emotions and using them wisely so that they help, rather than hinder, our success and well-being. The core of his approach is a legacy from his childhood, from an astute uncle who gave him permission to feel. He was the first adult who managed to see Marc, listen to him, and recognize the suffering, bullying, and abuse he'd endured. And that was the beginning of Marc's awareness that what he was going through was temporary. He wasn't alone, he wasn't stuck on a timeline, and he wasn't "wrong" to feel scared, isolated, and angry. Now, best of all, he could do something about it. In the decades since, Marc has led large research teams and raised tens of millions of dollars to investigate the roots of emotional well-being. His prescription for healthy children (and their parents, teachers, and schools) is a system called RULER, a high-impact and fast-effect approach to understanding and mastering emotions that has already transformed the thousands of schools that have adopted it. RULER has been proven to reduce stress and burnout, improve school climate, and enhance academic achievement. This book is the culmination of Marc's development of RULER and his way to share the strategies and skills with readers around the world. It is tested, and it works. This book combines rigor, science, passion and inspiration in equal parts. Too many children and adults are suffering; they are ashamed of their feelings and emotionally unskilled, but they don't have to be. Marc Brackett's life mission is to reverse this course, and this book can show you how.

Applied Cognitive Behavioral Therapy in Schools Diana Joyce-Beaulieu,Brian A. Zaboski,2021 Anxiety, depression, substance use, conduct disorders, attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder, and learning disorder are but a subset of problems that youth experience throughout their lives. Chapter 1 presents the school-based practitioner as a first-line interventionist for these difficulties. Framing school-based care within a multi-tiered system of support, Chapter 1 introduces cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT), an evidence-based intervention with flexible applications for children and adolescents. It acknowledges the complex intersection between CBT, 504 Plans, and individualized education programs (IEPs); discusses the many ways students may receive services under the law (and otherwise); and highlights the details of school-based practice integral to evaluating these plans. Chapter 1 ends with a thorough case presentation complete with background information, interviews, behavior and symptom assessment, CBT session planning, and outcome data-

One Line a Day Mood Tracker: Thirty-One-Day, Abstract Slicing Rain, Condensed Mood Diary, Complete with Sketch Areas and Color Charts. L. S. Goulet, Lsgw, 2019-02-13 If you have trouble journaling or have never tried it, you may find that the one-line-a-day journal system may be helpful in chronicling different events or aspects of your life. This particular journal guides you in chronicling your moods and their triggers from one line to a few lines a day. This innovative design contains three sections: morning, afternoon, and evening. Simply jot a few words or lines describing how you feel. Note if there were any specific triggers that enabled this mood. If writing any words seems too much on any specific day, try sketching a picture or coloring in one of the mood tracker charts with a pencil or colors. Each section is purposefully small, but if you feel like venting, turn toward the back and enter what you need in the Expanded Notes section. Are you feeling particularly angry? Splash some black crayon across the page. Learn to identify your feelings and portray them in some manner that makes sense to you. Let it all out. It's just you and the journal. Also, toward the back of the journal is a one-month-long mood color chart. Fill this in at the end of every day to get a look, in color, at your moods overall. An easy to write, easy to read journal of feelings. Give it a try and dip your toe in the fascinating world of journaling without getting too wet!

Moodies Moodle Doodle, 2019-11-17 While it's nice to track your mood each day to gain self-awareness, it's even nicer if you can take control and manipulate your moods. In this 190 page mood tracking journal, you will track your daily moods in a most simplified fashion, but you won't stop at tracking. You're going to take a deep dive inside of you to find out what has triggered your bad mood. Then you're going to try to find the reasons and emotions behind your trigger. This journal will prompt you to give reasons for your feelings and then to challenge your feelings with logic. Are you feeling anxious? Worried? Worthless? Shamed? Why? Once you become self-aware of your negative thought process, you're going to embark on a positive thought process by staying mindful of the reality, of the truth of the situation. And then, to drag yourself completely out of your negativity, from your negative emotions, you will commit to taking positive action. So, is this a mood tracker journal? Yes. But it's also a mood changing, life changing sort of journal!
