He built this virtual world because he is very anxious about crowds, and being outside in the world. Through a fit of life, he is one day forced to leave his comfort zone to go out and find the material that would allow him to keep his channel alive. Avoiding to leave means the cancellation of his channel, his entire life. So Mr. Moo musters some courage, believes in himself, puts himself out in the world and sets out to save his channel. The vehicle he thought was going to keep him from interacting too much with others is the very object that will push him to interact and realize how beautiful the world is. In the Kingdom of Binn, King Birtram works very hard, up at five every morning to ensure the kingdom is running smoothly. But at five o'clock in the afternoon, the workday ends and it's time to play . . . and in the case of King Birtram, that means racing around town on a pair of red stilts! But sour old Lord Droon doesn't think that this kind of fun is befitting Binn's king, and he steals the beloved stilts. Missing the stilts, King Birtram cannot have fun. In his sadness, the king doesn't notice that Binn is in danger: the Dike Trees that hold back the sea are being destroyed by the evil Nizzards. Can young Eric the page boy outsmart the dreary Droon and save the day? This Read & Listen edition contains audio narration.
