The Cult of the Amateur Andrew Keen,2011-03-04 A new, updated edition, with a new foreword of Andrew Keen s witty and provocative polemic against the rise of user-generated content and the anything goes standards of much online publishing, which set the blogosphere and media alight on publication. Dubbed the 'anti-christ' of Silicon Valley and a dot-com apostate Andrew Keen is the leading contemporary critic of the Internet. and The Cult of the Amateur is a scathing attack on the mad utopians of Web 2.0 and the wisdom of the crowd. Keen argues that much of the content filling up YouTube, MySpace, and blogs is just an endless digital forest of mediocrity which, unconstrained by professional standards or editorial filters, can alter public debate and manipulate public opinion.

Audiovisual Quality Assessment and Prediction for Videotelephony Benjamin Belmudez,2014-12-27 The work presented in this book focuses on modeling audiovisual quality as perceived by the users of IP-based solutions for video communication like videotelephony. It also extends the current framework for the parametric prediction of audiovisual call quality. The book addresses several aspects related to the quality perception of entire video calls, namely, the quality estimation of the single audio and video modalities in an interactive context, the audiovisual quality integration of these modalities and the temporal pooling of short sample-based quality scores to account for the perceptual quality impact of time-varying degradations.

Peer to Peer and the Music Industry Matthew David,2010 Have the music and movie industries lost the battle to criminalize downloading? This penetrating and informative book provides readers with the perfect systematic critical guide to the file-sharing phenomenon. Combining inter-disciplinary resources from sociology, history, media and communication studies and cultural studies, David unpacks the economics, psychology and philosophy of file-sharing. The book carefully situates the reader in a field of relevant approaches including Network Society Theory, Post-structuralism and ethnographic research. It uses this to launch into a fascinating enquiry into: * the rise of file-sharing, * the challenge to intellectual property law posed by new technologies of communication, * the social psychology of cyber crime * and the response of the mass media and multi-national corporations. The book concludes with a balanced, eye-opening assessment of alternative cultural modes of participation and their relationship to cultural capitalism. This is a landmark work in the sociology of popular culture and cultural criminology. It fuses a deep knowledge of the music industry and the new technologies of mass communication with a powerful perspective on how multinational corporations seek to monopolize markets, how international and state agencies defend property, while a global multitude undermine and/or reinvent both.

Market-led Strategic Change Nigel Piercy,2009 With the use of case studies this book will help the reader go back to basics by confronting critical questions in the organisation of marketing and how the critical processes of marketing, planning and budgeting are managed.

New Trends in Internet Market Jose Manuel Garcia Sanchez,2007-06-04 Inhaltsangabe:Abstract: Internet. Broadband access. Mobile telephony. Fixed telephony. TV. Google. Yahoo!. Social networks. Mobile network operators. Telecommunication operators. Media conglomerates. Citizen media. All these terms have always been traditionally considered independent, but nowadays the interrelations among all of them happen more often and are becoming deeper: a new global scenario is being defined, in which communications, entertainment and information are converging, being provided by global conglomerates in our PCs, TVs and mobile devices. Nowadays technology advances will soon enable to provide users with the best internet experience on the go . Services hosts, access providers, vendors, media owners and online players now realize that the barriers that traditionally have separated their markets dilute, bringing them all in a common-global market. Internet business models have now to converge with traditional structures and merges and acquisitions happen to reach competitive positions in foreign markets. The paradigm of internet will influence and change the most popular services as they are currently known. Fixed communication providers already suffer a loose of voice revenues in favor of the cheapest online communication. Mobile operators are facing now the same situations and find themselves on a delicate strategic situation: with VoIP nearing a competitive QoS, voice along doesn t seem to be for a long time enough as unique revenue source... Even watching TV will be soon an enriched personalized experience through the new IP end2end platforms. Will the online players be the ones successfully accomplishing a vertical expansion of their business? How will the mobile operators react? Which will be the paper of the network access providers? What about the media and content? How will all that affect the customers? In this document will be described the nowadays situation on the different markets involved in the converging scenario, and how the respective players situate themselves strategically. An initial global point of view will be followed by the definition of strategies and trends of each of them independently, and the determination of the merging points and relations among them. The effort will be focus firstly on offering recommendations and comparisons concerning specific environments. Step by step the basis of the competition environment in the converging market will be defined, offering a strategic map of the [...]

Convergenza Vincenzo Franceschelli,2009 Da qualche anno, l'innovazione tecnologica ha sconvolto il sistema delle telecomunicazioni. Le tre piattaforme tradizionali (telefono, televisione, internet) si sovrappongono nell'area della convergenza. Il diritto delle telecomunicazioni, tradizionalmente regolato dal diritto pubblico, oggi è regolato da norme privatistiche. Con gli interventi della Corte costituzionale e sulla spinta del diritto comunitario, dal monopolio di Stato nelle Poste, nella Televisione, nella Telefonia si è passati, con le privatizzazioni e la liberalizzazione dei servizi, a un sistema concorrenziale. In questo quadro, il diritto d'autore sta vivendo la sua crisi. Un settore del diritto, tradizionalmente associato alle più elevate ed elitarie espressioni dell'ingegno umano, alla musica, alla pittura, alla scultura e alle opere letterarie si trova, improvvisamente, proiettato nel mondo della tecnologia più avanzata e sofisticata. E da scudo di autori, compositori, musicisti ed artisti squattrinati, è divenuto arma di distruzione di massa. Secondo alcuni, siamo tutti pirati. E occorre sorvegliare la rete, per giungere a controllare l'intera area della convergenza. Non esistono più, nel nuovo diritto d'autore, utilizzazioni libere, ma solo eccezioni e limitazioni. Questo studio vuole essere una difesa della copia privata e della liceità della riproduzione per fruizione di ogni opera. L'opera conclude che non siamo tutti pirati e che occorre trovare il modo di distinguere tra le organizzazioni criminali dell'industria del falso e cittadini della Repubblica: i primi vanno combattuti, i cittadini lasciati stare.
