Robert R. Redfield

Martin Luther King, Jr Ron Ramdin,2004 Martin Luther King (1929-1968) was the dominant force in the civil rights movement in the decade before his death. With his genius for rhetoric and his passionate advocacy of non-violent protest, King, like Gandhi, is a modern icon of the possibilities of political activism. He was at the centre of many of the key events in the struggle for equal rights for non-whites in America: he organised the boycott of the (segregated) buses of Montgomery, Alabama; was arrested for his role in mass protest in Birmingham; and was a keynote speaker, delivering his famous 'I have a dream' speech, at the historic March on Washington. He was Time magazine's Man of the Year in 1963 and a few months later became the youngest person ever to win the Nobel Peace Prize. From the mid-1960s until his assassination in 1968, King widened his political concerns to protest against the Vietnam war and the evils of poverty. His birthday is now a national holiday in the United States.

THE STAR REVOLT: We Celebrate Earth Day why not celebrate Star Day? Lang Ramdin,2018-11-12 Intergalactic Reporter Ramdin has followed the news story of the enemy pursuing the cosmic mutant all the way to planet Earth. He learns the enemy is trying to obtain the horrifying formula for a frightening weapon. Known as the E-Bomb, when activated it will destroy the universe and all life within it. Only the mutant knows the basic equation needed for this to happen. Hiding out on Earth he joins with others to spark a revolt against the enemy and their deluded earthling followers. They came to earth spreading lies about their wish to save Earth from pollution. Little did their human followers know the enemy was playing one of their sick jokes. Their real aim was to feed planet Earth into the mouth of a black hole. Mixing horror with humor the enemy always enjoys acting out their sick comedy. The mad religion they follow hates life. They will crush any revolt against their creating the Holy Void of Nothingness they worship. Cosmic suicide is their alternative to the evolution of life and the existence of Reality.

Mary Seacole Ron Ramdin,2011-05-07 This account contains important lessons for those of us who care, and demonstrates why she was voted the greatest black Briton in 2004.' Sarah Mullaly, Church Times Mary Seacole was born in Jamaica in 1805. She came to England in the hope of serving as a nurse in the Crimean War. Through sheer tenacity she eventually travelled to the Crimea with a letter of introduction from an English doctor to Florence Nightingale. After reading this letter, 'the Lady with the Lamp,' said she would be very happy to do all she could to help. Amidst many dangers, and against all odds, the unknown Jamaican nurse won deserved praise for devoted service to the British soldiers she 'mothered' during the Crimean campaign.

SMOOTHIES THAT HEAL! Valerie Ramdin, 2013-04-24 “Let food be thy medicine.” —Hippocrates There are plenty of medical treatments for multiple sclerosis, lupus, heart disease, cancer, and other chronic inflammatory diseases. I did not want to “treat” my multiple sclerosis; I wanted to “recover” from multiple sclerosis. This book contains twenty recipes, made with easy-to-find ingredients. Eating raw, delicious veggies and fruit was the key to my MS reversal and phenomenally revitalized health. This book reveals the key to my optimal health after experiencing twenty years of multiple sclerosis symptoms that sometimes left me homebound. I thank Pat, Jackie, Joshua, Clete, and Ruby for listening to me, guiding me, and having faith in me. DELICIOUS! POWERFUL! EASY! FAST! SMOOTHIES THAT HEAL

Mary Seacole Ron Ramdin, 2021-07-15 Biography of Mary Seacole, a pioneering nineteenth-century British-Jamaican nurse. Mary Seacole’s remarkable life began in Jamaica, where she was born a free person, the daughter of a black mother and white Scottish army officer. Ron Ramdin—who, like Seacole, was born in the Caribbean and emigrated to the United Kingdom—tells the remarkable story of this woman, celebrated today as a pioneering nurse. Refused permission to serve as an army nurse, Seacole took the remarkable step of funding her own journey to the Crimean battlefield, and there, in the face of sometimes harsh opposition, she established a hotel for wounded British soldiers. Unlike Florence Nightingale—whose exploits saw her venerated as the “lady with the lamp” for generations afterward—Seacole cared for soldiers perilously close to the fighting. As Ramdin shows in this biography, Seacole’s time in Crimea, for which she is best known, was only the pinnacle of a life of adventure and travel.

Isabella's Legacy Ron Ramdin, 2017-01-20 In 1492 what had only months before seemed an unlikely event actually took place in Seville. Through the cobbled streets, Christopher Columbus on his triumphant return after his first voyage to the 'Indies', paraded seven exotic-looking Indians who were accompanied by equally strange-looking green and yellow parrots. Imagine the confusion in the minds of these Indians as they walked through the city and the curiosity this spectacle had aroused among the local population for at this time, Europeans knew little about the people of Africa and Asia about whom they were largely informed by the travel literature of the 15th century. We should remember however that these 'Indians' were not from India, the place which Columbus had set out to discover and mistakenly believed he had reached. Fast forward almost five centuries to 1991 when I (the Grandson of an indentured labourer from India who had travelled to the West Indies to work on the sugar plantations) walked the streets of Seville on my way to deliver a Lecture at the University of Seville entitled: 'Towards 1992: Discovery... and Minorities in Europe.' I was born in Trinidad which was 'discovered' by Columbus on his third voyage to the New World, but I could not speak Spanish. Why? Therein lies a tale of the connection between language and Empire. European rivalry for colonial power resulted in Spanish Trinidad giving way to British Trinidad and so my direction of migration was to the 'Mother Country,' as Britain was then known. But as I became more knowledgeable about Queen Isabella, Columbus, Las Casas, Seville and Granada, I realised I was only partially educated for both Britain and Spain were important. My first visit to Spain the year before my Lecture had set in train a growing desire to see and learn more about the country. Thereafter, the idea of writing Isabella's Legacy emerged, took hold and propelled me to travel through Andalusia and later to Catalunya. Isabella's Legacy is a unique book, a rare interweaving of travel, memoir, history, cultures and identities; a journey of surprises - stunning impressions, a meditation on world history and significantly on contemporary Europe. Above all, it is a narrative not only of my discovery of Spain which, in turn, has led to self-discovery, but also a book which will hopefully enlighten and enchant the reader.

Arising from Bondage Ron Ramdin, 2000-04 Arising from Bondage is an epic story of the struggle of the Indo-Caribbean people. From the 1830's through World War I hundreds of thousands of indentured laborers were shipped from India to the Caribbean and settled in the former British, Dutch, French and Spanish colonies. Like their predecessors, the African slaves, they labored on the sugar estates. Unlike the Africans their status was ambiguous--not actually enslaved yet not entirely free--they fought mightily to achieve power in their new home. Today in the English-speaking Caribbean alone there are one million people of Indian descent and they form the majority in Guyana and Trinidad and Tobago. This study, based on official documents and archives, as well as previously unpublished material from British, Indian and Caribbean sources, fills a major gap in the history of the Caribbean, India, Britain and European colonialism. It also contributes powerfully to the history of diaspora and migration.

Reimaging Britain Ron Ramdin, 1999-09 A practical guide to the growing influence of women on parliamentary legislation across the Commonwealth, and includes a study of how women's rights are promoted.

REPORT ON THE COSMIC MUTANT: A Tale of Immortals Fighting for Their Lives Lang Ramdin, 2018-11-17 WARNING - Earthlings must be aware that their struggle to keep Planet Earth green and free of pollution is betrayed by a psychotic alien species seeking to pollute and destroy the universe. Spreading terror from galaxy to galaxy they fight to capture a young cosmic genius born to oppose their sick comedy of universal death. He keeps secret the deadly equation they wish to find to help them accomplish their goal of wiping out all of reality.

Sinister Shape Shift Sachita Ramdin, 2016-04-18 Do we ever remember our past lives? Sometimes there seems to come to us a flash of recollection, a momentary lifting of the veil, a half remembered face or again the feeling that some place is familiar though we have never seen it before. Sinister Shape Shift is the gripping story of, Syrena, only daughter of a rich industrialist, Vickaro, grandson of Syrena's nursemaid. The unbreakable childhood friendship between the two kids annoys the businessman, Bamoran, who tries everything possible to separate their growing fondness for each other. He even threatens to throw the nursemaid out of the house. And yet, Bamoran dotes on his only daughter and finds himself powerless vis à vis her whims and tantrums. However, Destiny follows her own course and the children do get distanced from each other, caught by the twists of Fate and entangled in the whirlwinds of Time. Syrena, in spite of losing her memory, keeps yearning for something she feels she has lost but cannot remember what. Childhood friendship matures into a love that neither the hands of Destiny can shatter nor the fingers of Death can touch. While the children get physically separated, their souls continue to hunger for each other. Set against the tropical backdrop of Havena Island, Sinister Shape Shift is an untold story--with a hefty dose of the extraordinary--of love, loss, and wonder; of memory and soul loss, of shamanic journeys to the secret Other World and the Power Animals beyond the ordinary Reality; of shape shifts and past-life memories. It is a paranormal romance novel with an unusual love story is connected to the ancient mythical creatures and tales featuring thought-provoking wisdom on karma, on the effect from cause, on life and death and also on controversial mythical knowledge. In a unique take on romantic storytelling, this sweeping novel introduces readers to a preternatural ancient world where mythical creatures like the hundred year cobra, shift between man and reptile. In this entrancing novel, the author captures the reader's imagination as she goes along, drawing that silver line which connects man with his Destiny--Destiny he was born to fulfill; Destiny which cannot be tampered with.

The Other Middle Passage Ron Ramdin, 1994 A facsimile edition of the Captain's journal of, the Salsette, a ship carrying indentured Indian, Labourers to the West Indies, recently discovered, by the author, a historian and writer working at, present in the British Museum. A detailed, introductory analysis by Ramdin puts in context, the significance of this document, which portrays, in vivid detail this little known mass migration.

All India Reporter, 1920 Vols. 1-36, 1914-1949, 1999- issued in separate parts, called sections, e.g. Journal section, Federal Court section, Privy Council section, Allahabad section, Bombay section, etc.

The Making of the Black Working Class in Britain Ron Ramdin, 2017-08-22 A classic history of the role of Black working-class struggles throughout the twentieth century In this pioneering history, Ron Ramdin traces the roots of Britain's disadvantaged black working class. From the development of a small black presence in the sixteenth century, through the colonial labour institutions of slavery, indentureship, and trade unionism, Ramdin expertly guides us through the stages of creation for a UK minority whose origins are often overlooked. He examines the emergence of a black radical ideology underpinning twentieth-century struggles against unemployment, racial attacks and workplace inequality, and delves into the murky realms of employer and trade union racism. First published in 1987, this revised edition includes a new introduction reflecting on events over the past four decades.

Graduate Students' Research about Community Colleges Deborah L. Floyd, Cristobal Salinas Jr., Ethan C. Swingle, María-Jose Zeledón-Pérez, Sim Barhoum, Gianna Ramdin, 2021-05-14 This book brings together a collection of chapters with different research designs that explore the research, practice, and policies of community colleges. The chapters in this book are the result of the graduate students and their faculty mentor's scholarly work, and a rigorous special issue's peer review process. Furthermore, this book offers recommendations on how to mentor graduate students, in the absence of research and mentorship on how to publish for graduate students and practitioner-scholars, as well as recognizing that graduate programs and professional associations are important on the socialization of practitioner-scholars. Each book chapter addresses the implications for practice and future research, policy for community colleges, and recommendation for change indicated by the research results. Five broad research themes, higher education policy, leadership practices and roles, network community, student success, and technology, emerged from the empirical articles and critical reviews. A final chapter shares advice and lessons learned from the 30 authors and mentors. With the exception of Chapter 14, the chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Community College Journal of Research and Practice.

The Role of Student Affairs in Advancing Community College Student Success C. Casey Ozaki,Paulette Dalpes,Deborah L. Floyd,Gianna Ramdin,2019-07-30 This collection brings together insightful chapters which explore diverse student success initiatives and programs in response to challenges faced by community colleges. Each chapter of the collection magnifies a specific aspect of student affairs to illustrate how dedicated departments and practitioners have effectively supported student success via select projects or initiatives. Readers will gain a deeper insight into the contemporary applications, practices, and impacts of agendas such as the assessment of student affairs and services, student success programming, Guided Pathways, and The Completion Agenda. By demonstrating the meaningful involvement of student affairs practitioners in fulfilling institutional missions and visions, this collection contributes to an overarching dialogue about promoting community college student success. This collection will be of interest to researchers, academics, graduates, and postgraduate students in the fields of higher education administration, educational leadership, adult education, and lifelong learning.

Community Colleges' Responses to COVID-19 Deborah L. Floyd,Christopher M. Mullin,Gianna Ramdin,2022-08-08 In 2021, community college practitioners, scholars, researchers, and leaders documented the challenge of what worked, what did not work, and lessons learned during the era of the COVID-19 pandemic. This book summarizes the works of 39 authors who collectively wrote 14 peer reviewed papers in areas of leadership, curriculum, funding, social and racial tension, technology and digital access, self, family and community, and health and safety. Readers are challenged to embrace this era with innovative zeal and to continue to document community colleges' evolutionary changes during this pandemic era. The book will be useful to higher education practitioners, scholars, and leaders, as well as individuals in organizations who are interested in how community colleges responded to challenges of change during the COVID-19 pandemic. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Community College Journal of Research and Practice.
