Saved! - Backing Up with Macrium Reflect: Prepare for the Worst - Recover from the Inevitable Leo Notenboom,2014 Confused by Backups? You're not alone. Saved! - Backing Up with Macrium Reflect will show you - step by step - how to backup your Windows computer using Macrium Reflect, a powerful professional and highly regarded backup program. - Never lose data again - Recover quickly from even the worst malware - Get back that file you accidentally deleted All this and more, ready for you to start backing up NOW! Backing Up - The Closest thing to a Silver Bullet Having a proper and recent backup can save you from just about anything. In fact, there's very little that a good backup can't rescue you from. Malware infection? Restore from a backup and it's gone. Bad software update? Restore from a backup and it's removed. Need that file you deleted last week? Restore it from a backup. I could go on singing the praises of backups - but hopefully by now you get the idea. You should backup. So why aren't you? Show You means SHOW YOU! Once you register your book (via a link that is only in the book) you'll get complimentary instant access to the companion web site that includes videos of the instructions presented in the book. The bonus videos might be the thing that helps it all make a little more sense. The videos include complete transcripts and are in both standard (640x360) and High Definition (1280x720) formats so you can choose which works better for you. All digital formats included PDF - for your computer or any device that can read PDFmobi - a backup copy for your Kindle, or Kindle reading software ePub - for a variety of other digital and ebook readers Once you get your copy simply use the link in the Register your book chapter to get access to all formats. Backing Up is Peace of Mind Once you have a backup in place you can rest easier, knowing that the stories you hear of people losing everything because of some random problem ... well, that won't be you! You'll be backed up. If you run into a problem, you'll be able to use your backups to restore files, restore folders, even restore your entire system should you need to. And restore a little peace of mind while you're at it. Saved! - Backing Up with Macrium Reflect will show you hwo to set it all up.

Reflect and Write Hank Kellner,Eliabeth Guy,2021-09-28 Now more than ever, we must take advantage of students' increasing fascination with graphic images as opposed to written words. Reflect and Write capitalizes on this situation by marrying dynamic images to original poems written by students at the junior and senior high school levels, teachers, and other writers nationwide. Additionally, each page contains keywords, as well as popular quotations by well-known authors, designed to inspire critical thinking. Taken together, the more than 300 poems, photographs, and quotations will help stimulate spirited class discussion and provide prompts that will evoke meaningful writing by students. Like Kellner's previous best-selling book, Write What You See, Reflect and Write will encourage students to read, relate to, and respond to modern verse and inspiring photographs both verbally and in writing. The book includes online access to the photographs and student pages. Grades 7-12

Reflect! Silke Kruse-Weber,2023 Teaching is complex, dynamic, and constantly changing. So-called checklists for lesson observation are therefore not always helpful for instrumental and vocal teachers. Volume 5 of the Grazer Studies for Instrumental and Vocal Pedagogy now conveys four areas of competencies in a playful and artistically designed card set, which is intended to stimulate a scientifically based exchange about the quality of instrumental teaching and learning. In the context of music (high) schools, the cards offer concrete entry points and imaginative ways to reflect on the complex, overlapping competencies associated with teaching and learning music and observing and developing instrumental and vocal teaching. In addition, the cards provide a playful basis for self-directed and self-regulatory feedback in collegial exchanges. Both students of instrumental and vocal pedagogy and experienced teachers can continually cultivate their individual teaching profile. Practical worksheets in this accompanying booklet support reflection on new perspectives. Reflect! also proves valuable in observing videotaped teaching sequences. Silke Kruse-Weber war bis 2022 Professorin für Instrumental- und Gesangspädagogik an der Kunstuniversität Graz, Vorsitzende der Curricula-Kommission und Vorständin des Instituts für Musikpädagogik. Sie studierte Klavier, Musikwissenschaft und promovierte in der Musikpädagogik als Stipendiatin zur Förderung des wissenschaftlichen Nachwuchses von Frauen an der Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München. Aktuell beschäftigt sie sich mit Wissenstransfer durch kollaborative Reflexionspraktiken in der Weiterbildung an Musik(hoch)schulen. Silke Kruse-Weber was Professor of Instrumental and Vocal Pedagogy at the University of Music and Performing Arts Graz, Chair of the Curricula Commission and Head of the Institute for Music Pedagogy until 2022. She studied piano, musicology, and received her doctorate in music pedagogy as a scholarship holder for the promotion of young female scientists at the Ludwig Maximilians University of Munich. Currently, she is working on knowledge transfer through collaborative reflection practices in professional development projects in (higher) music education.

Using Neurophysiological Signals that Reflect Cognitive or Affective State Anne-Marie Brouwer,Thorsten O. Zander,Jan B. F. van Erp,2015-07-27 What can we learn from spontaneously occurring brain and other physiological signals about an individual’s cognitive and affective state and how can we make use of this information? One line of research that is actively involved with this question is Passive Brain-Computer-Interfaces (BCI). To date most BCIs are aimed at assisting patients for whom brain signals could form an alternative output channel as opposed to more common human output channels, like speech and moving the hands. However, brain signals (possibly in combination with other physiological signals) also form an output channel above and beyond the more usual ones: they can potentially provide continuous, online information about an individual’s cognitive and affective state without the need of conscious or effortful communication. The provided information could be used in a number of ways. Examples include monitoring cognitive workload through EEG and skin conductance for adaptive automation or using ERPs in response to errors to correct for a behavioral response. While Passive BCIs make use of online (neuro)physiological responses and close the interaction cycle between a user and a computer system, (neuro)physiological responses can also be used in an offline fashion. Examples of this include detecting amygdala responses for neuromarketing, and measuring EEG and pupil dilation as indicators of mental effort for optimizing information systems. The described field of applied (neuro)physiology can strongly benefit from high quality scientific studies that control for confounding factors and use proper comparison conditions. Another area of relevance is ethics, ranging from dubious product claims, acceptance of the technology by the general public, privacy of users, to possible effects that these kinds of applications may have on society as a whole. In this Research Topic we aimed to publish studies of the highest scientific quality that are directed towards applications that utilize spontaneously, effortlessly generated neurophysiological signals (brain and/or other physiological signals) reflecting cognitive or affective state. We especially welcomed studies that describe specific real world applications demonstrating a significant benefit compared to standard applications. We also invited original, new kinds of (proposed) applications in this area as well as comprehensive review articles that point out what is and what is not possible (according to scientific standards) in this field. Finally, we welcomed manuscripts on the ethical issues that are involved. Connected to the Research Topic was a workshop (held on June 6, during the Fifth International Brain-Computer Interface Meeting, June 3-7, 2013, Asilomar, California) that brought together a diverse group of people who were working in this field. We discussed the state of the art and formulated major challenges, as reflected in the first paper of the Research Topic.

The Social Setting of the Ministry as Reflected in the Writings of Hermas, Clement and Ignatius Harry O. Maier,2006-01-01 Focussing on three first- and early-second-century documents (the Shepherd of Hermas, 1 Clement and the Ignatian epistles), this work contributes to a growing body of literature concerned with the social setting of early Christianity. Maier argues that the development of structures of leadership in the early Christian church is best accounted for by reference to the hospitality, patronage, and leadership of wealthy hosts who invited local Christian groups to meet in their homes. Sociological models and types are employed to analyze the tensions that arose from excesses of patronage and leadership by the well-to-do. Recognizing the socio-economic setting of these conflicts corrects the interpretation of early Christian conflicts over the ministry as purely theological and doctrinali.
