Love Riot Sara Barratt,2020-05-05 Young people are walking away from the church and those still in the church often struggle with indifference about their faith. But it doesn't have to be this way. It's time for a revolution, a holy uprising. A riot. With passion and authenticity, teen author Sara Barratt calls on her generation to reject apathy and embrace a daring, costly faith. Not content with safe religion that demands nothing of us, Sara shows teens how they can stop giving in to the status quo and devote themselves fully to Christ, following him no matter what their friends do or the culture around them does. She challenges them to give everything over--their comfort zones, their time, their loyalties, their pride--and discover that in losing control they are gaining the life that was meant for them all along. Love Riot is a battle cry from one teen to another to embrace a life of wholehearted commitment and relentless abandon for Christ . . . no matter the cost.

Platinum Dolls Relentless Aaron,2009-02-03 Internet mogul and playboy Stew Gregory races against time to stop an unknown enemy who is destroying his notorious luxury penthouses and killing the Platinum Dolls, the girls who work in his successful online adult entertainment sites.

Relentless Visionary Michael Berick, If asked to list important inventors, few remember to include Alessandro Volta. Yet, his is a household name more spoken than that of Alexander Graham Bell, the Wright Brothers, or even Thomas Edison. That’s because the terms “volt” and “voltage” can be attributed to Volta, the inventor of the “Voltaic pile,” which is recognized as the first electric battery. A product of the Age of Enlightenment—a time when ideas about reason, science, literature and liberty took center stage—Volta employed a very modern, hands-on approach to his work. Though he had no formal education, he was the first person to identify the gas known as methane, and created the first authoritative list of conducting metals. Alessandro Volta saw things not just as they were, but as what they could be. He was a disrupter, an innovator and a visionary. Above all, he was relentless. Without Volta’s hunger to create and his drive to invent and discover, we might not have electric cars, laptops, cellphones, and hearing aids today.

Eighty Is Not Enough Dick Van Patten,2009-11-01 In his riveting memoir, beloved actor Dick Van Patten reflects on his prolific career, vibrant life, and the people who shaped both. From growing up during the Great Depression when poverty and racially biased ideologies dominated America, to witnessing the advent of television and its subsequent influence on culture, Dick Van Patten’s life is a rich record of change and progress in America and Hollywood. He commenced his career by lighting up the Great White Way as a child star alongside Broadway staples such as Tallulah Bankhead, Melvyn Douglas, Alfred Lunt, and Lynn Fontanne, early influences who fueled his relentless thirst for acting and stardom. Although perhaps best known for his role playing the mild mannered “every-dad” in 70s sitcom Eight Is Enough, Dick Van Patten has appeared in thousands of television, film, and radio roles viewed by millions of people. Van Patten divulges anecdotes, both amusing and emotional, that paint a fuller picture of many eminent entertainment idols. He chronicles throwing back drinks with notorious Hollywood producer Robert Evans, forming his family’s close friendship with pop icon Farrah Fawcett, rooming with the legendary Burt Lancaster, and living next door to the eccentric Michael Jackson and clan, just to name a few. Van Patten encountered struggles with family, gambling, and the fickleness of Hollywood. Retaining his signature optimistic outlook, even in the face of tragedy and admitted mistakes, shaped his experiences and allowed him to appreciate the simpler parts of life. Eighty Is Not Enough provides a look back on the evolution of entertainment in a manner rarely glimpsed—straight from the man who has experienced it all.

The Relentless City E. F. Benson,2022-05-17 The Relentless City is one of the first novels of E.F. Benson. Published in 1903, between the first success of the Dodo and the famous Mapp and Lucia series, it can be considered a link between the two. The story is set around two English people, Lord Keynes and a young widow Sybil. They decide to resolve their financial issues by marrying wealthy in America. In this novel Benson keeps his style as a witty social critic, but this time for a change, American society is a target. _x000D_ Edward Frederic Benson (1867 - 1940) was an English novelist, biographer, memoirist, archaeologist and short story writer, known professionally as E.F. Benson. He started his novel writing career in 1893 with the fashionably controversial Dodo, which was an instant success, and followed it with a variety of satire and romantic and supernatural melodrama. He repeated the success of Dodo, with sequels to this novel, but the greatest success came relatively late in his career with The Mapp and Lucia series consisting of six novels and two short stories. The novels feature humorous incidents in the lives of (mainly) upper-middle-class British people in the 1920s and 1930s, vying for social prestige and one-upmanship in an atmosphere of extreme cultural snobbery. Benson was also known as a writer of atmospheric, oblique, and at times humorous or satirical ghost stories.

The Exciting Story of MrBeast Histrophillia Editors,2024-01-31 In a lonely bedroom of small town Greenville, North Carolina, an eccentric 13-year old tinkered endlessly on his family computer escaping nagging struggles with focus and fitting in traditionally in school. While wildly imaginative, his innate drive towards entrepreneurship only manifested in fits and starts hawking experiments like handmade soaps around the neighborhood to little fanfare. But in 2012 when young James Donaldson discovered YouTube, the global video platform felt liberating - an endless buffet for feeding curiosity. He dove eagerly down rabbit holes consuming clips on gaming tricks, pranks, stunts, tunes, and quirky personalities oversharing their hidden talents through vlogging. Most intoxicatingly, YouTube offered a portal into people's unfiltered creativity on terms resisting gatekeeping convention. It felt like peering behind curtain of Hollywood wizardry demystifying how average homegrown stars manufactured moments earning thunderous internet applause seemingly from sheer willpower alone. Donaldson soon became enthralled with strangers humbly broadcasting their odd skills, thoughts and adventures out into the data void with just a standard webcam. He idolized their courage to put themselves out there vulnerably without assurance views or reactions would arrive. Yet with some sprinkled video secrets, they were somehow going viral regardless! The revelations were hope giving to introverted Donaldson who also sensed latent creative Calling despite grades and teachers continuously dismissing his scattered ambitions. He wondered - if these people could earn fans filming videos from inside messy bedrooms just like his own through perseverance alone, why couldn't he also someday? So Donaldson made the leap and launched a YouTube Channel in 2012 to begin understanding the entertainment alchemy firsthand during Web 2.0's Wild West epoch. What started as montages set to Linkin Park songs for classmate views evolved into extreme stunt spectacle by 2013 frequently risking body and mind for clicks. By 2015, despite unrelenting grind uploading daily, Donaldson still struggled converting regional schoolyard buzz into channel authority like idols. But opportunity arose from an unexpected place - peculiar counting marathon videos - setting fateful external dominos in motion towards the global spotlight. Soon this isolated misfit tinkering alone within a tiny North Carolina bedroom manifested that creative fire into one of most influential trailblazing digital empires of modern times. His explosive pioneering feats smashed previously unfathomable entertainment records through unprecedented fan mobilization. This book chronicles the historic eight year ascent of James Donaldson's alter ego MrBeast - from fringe clickbait stuntman discounted by gatekept media to architect of multiple historic internet phenomena reshaping pop culture entertainment. His relentless innovation appetite produced timeless case study for converting attention into inspiration on unprecedented scales dollar signs historically monopolize. Join us retracing steps of the proverbial Hero's Journey undertaken during one internet Creator's quest to transform personal creativity into mass goodwill showcasing digital barriers crumbling when imagination summons battalion strength from supporters directly. Even beyond tallying view counts, viral metrics and dollars raised, the improbable MrBeast saga exists centerpiece for modern myths where individual vision catalyzed collective glory.

Stewards of God's Delight Mark Clavier,2015-12-17 The world is our parish and all her creatures our congregation. Based on talks given to ordinands in Wales, this book presents the ministry as responding to God's call to be priestly stewards of creation and to participate in the blossoming of the new creation. Clavier engages with Scripture and people such as Augustine, Anselm, Bernard of Clairvaux, Bonaventure, Julian of Norwich, Lancelot Andrewes, George Herbert, C. S. Lewis, N. T. Wright, and Rowan Williams to portray the whole ministry of God's people as being animated by the generosity, freedom, delight, and love of God. Our understanding of the ministry must break free from managerial philosophy and business know-how to recapture an approach to ministry that seeks to delight in God, neighbors, and all of creation in order to reveal the depth of God's love to a world increasingly immersed in mass consumption.

The Relentless One D. T. Riddles,2016-05-26 Xing Chuan is a cyborg who has lived a long life, perhaps too long. She has seen the world collapse into war and chaos. She has seen society falter and crumble until a handful of people remain in the world. She lives in an area called Department 37. It was established as a place for people to live in safety from the rest of the world where nuclear radiation and other dangers are the norm. There, she is summoned to a fighting arena against her will. She must take part in battles for the entertainment of a person known as the Administrator. If she resists, she will be killed. If she doesn't win her battles, she will be killed. Regardless of this threat, she decides not to obey the summons to the arena. She wishes to live her life on her own terms. She doesn't want anyone to tell her what to do. Just as she is on the point of leaving Department 37, she receives a demonstration of the Administrator's power. She realizes that she has no choice but to fight in the arena. However, she quickly discovers that her battles are far more about acquiring information about her opponents than they are about physical strength. There are rules behind the rules. If she is to survive, she must discover what they are. Behind the arena lurks the Tower- the place where the Administrator rules. Xing's goal is to reach the tower and do something about the Administrator. She doesn't know what she will do or how she will do it. She only knows that something must be done and that she must be the one to do it.

Tales From the Hollow Scott Kennedy,2022-11-28 This story begins some 13,000 years ago, at the end of the last ice age, before travelling thousands of years ahead to the early pioneers and the farms they established, and right up to the present day. Readers will learn how the local St. John's Anglican Church welcomed its first worshippers when Beethoven was still performing in the concert halls of Europe. They will meet Cornelius van Nostrand, born in 1730—twenty-six years before Mozart and eleven years before the first performance of Handel's Messiah—and now at rest in St. John's churchyard. This rich history also includes such diverse figures as Amelia Earhart—who discovered her love of flying at an aerodrome overlooking Hogg's Hollow—and Northern Dancer, the most influential Thoroughbred racehorse in history. Members of the British Royal Family—including two Kings of England—were also regular visitors to the area, staying in later years with E.P. Taylor and his wife Winifred at the Taylors' Windfields Farm, where Northern Dancer was also a resident.

Media Mythmakers Benjamin Radford,2010-05 ...a provocative, well-researched book...gives an apt overview of many of the problems facing modern society. -Oakland Press This book should be required reading for all who are caught up in the thrall of US mass media; all who think they are being manipulated, misled, and lied to but are not quite sure how and why this is happening...Written in an appealing style devoid of academic jargon and pontification, this book peels away the myths that mislead and provides the facts. It should be on every library shelf. Essential. -Choice With insight and wit, Benjamin Radford trains his experienced skeptical eye on fear-mongering journalists and activists. The result is a fascinating book that leaves no modern American myth unchallenged. - Barry Glassner, author of The Culture of Fear As the lines between advertising, news, and entertainment blur, the ideal of an informed citizenry becomes harder and harder to achieve. We, the American public, aren't sure anymore what to believe, or where to put our money and trust. We know we're being manipulated, misled, and outright lied to by those who seek our support. Whether it comes from advertisers, activists, or the government, the manipulation is constant and pervasive. Those who are supposed to help us understand the world and the problems we face frequently fail us. Journalists and the news media offer entertainment and sensationalism instead of significant information. Politicians and lawmakers who guide our country are little better; instead of real solutions, we are offered merely illusions of change. This hard-hitting critique of our media culture examines not only the ways in which we are deceived, but the media's role in propagating those deceptions. But Media Mythmakers goes beyond criticism to give concrete examples of the damage that manipulation of the news causes. From missing children to the aftermath of the September 11 attacks, from the efforts to end slavery to AIDS education, myths and deception in the media threaten us all. While the public is being misled, real problems go unaddressed and resources are wasted on misguided ideas. In an increasingly complex world, where accurate and unbiased information is more important than ever, this book provides a timely and much-needed analysis. Benjamin Radford is managing editor of Skeptical Inquirer magazine and editor-in-chief of the Spanish-language magazine Pensar, published in Buenos Aires, Argentina. He is the coauthor with Robert Bartholomew of Hoaxes, Myths, and Manias: Why We Need Critical Thinking; and a member of the Committee for the Scientific Investigation of Claims of the Paranormal (CSICOP). He has written hundreds of articles on a wide variety of topics, including urban legends, the paranormal, critical thinking, film, and media literacy. Radford is also a columnist for Skeptical Inquirer magazine and the Skeptical Briefs newsletter, as well as online at LiveScience.com and MediaMythmakers.com.
