Fashion Victim Michelle Lee,2003 A riveting look inside the fashion world that exposes the truth about shopaholics, sweatshops, and celebrity closets. Fashion—from the $1500 Prada bag to the $30 Kate Spade knock-off sold on the sidewalk—has been transformed from a commodity reserved for the elite to a powerful presence in mass market culture. As a society, we are obsessed with fashion and style, racking up credit card debt to support compulsive shopping habits, scouring magazines for the latest trends to buy, and focusing more on who's wearing what at the Oscars than on who's winning. In Fashion Victim, award-winning journalist Michelle Lee blows the lid off the fashion industry, and spotlights the fascinating—and often disturbing—ways in which it is morphing our culture, our economy and our values. Dishing on the lords of the label, including designers like Donna Karan, Calvin Klein, and Kenneth Cole, Fashion Victim reveals a world that is sometimes grotesque, sometimes glitzy, but constantly intriguing. From bear hides to the Victorian bustle, Lee traces the role of fashion through the ages, taking us from the dawn of ready-to-wear in 1865 to the modern trend cycles that incite us to clamor after leg warmers, bumster trousers, and Manolo Blahniks. She details the birth of “Speed Chic”—the hamster wheel of style that keeps us stuck in an endless cycle of consumption and has become the crack-cocaine of fashion, providing us with a temporary high until we spot the next trend and reach for our wallets. She also explores the phenomenon of “McFashion,” the uncanny proliferation of retailers like the Gap and Old Navy that are creeping into every town in America and stripping us—and the designers they knock off—of individuality and innovation. And she ultimately probes the human cost of fashion's decadence, including the distorted perceptions of beauty fueled by high-end designers, the dangers of dry cleaning, and the ugly financial disparity between those who make the clothes and those who buy them. An unprecedented look behind the runway at the forces and personalities driving this $200 billion dollar industry, Fashion Victim is a stylish, provocative and highly entertaining contribution to the analysis of American popular culture.

Shopping for Love Rachel Levy Lesser, 2008-08-13 Shopping for Love is a memoir written by first-time author Rachel Levy Lesser. It tells the story of Lesser's life through vignettes of her shopping experiences with her grandmother, aunt, and mother over the course of twenty-five years. Shopping was a long-standing tradition in Lesser's family, and it became a gift for her mother throughout her long battle with cancer, in fact, extending the quality and quantity of her mother's life. It is written with humor through a daughter's eyes and her understanding of life and its joys and sorrows. The vignettes are laid out in chronological order, and each one of them weaves a story about family members and imparts important lessons learned along the way. The Devil Wears Prada meets Tuesdays with Morrie in this heartfelt, humorous journey of a daughter coming to terms with her young mother's mortality, the strength she found in the example her mother set, and the hope they discovered together in the ladies' dressing room. Readers will laugh through their tears and identify with the bond that every daughter has with her mother, and each mother with her daughter too. They will be transported to the dressy shoe floor at Neiman Marcus, the Trish McEvoy makeup counter at Henri Bendel's, and then back to the chemotherapy treatment room at Jefferson University Hospital. Lesser's story reminds us that it is the little moments that often hold the most meaning and memory. Early Praise for Shopping for Love In this delightful book, shopping becomes a metaphor for the journey through life during which generations of one family meet and celebrate life's milestones and learn to face the inevitable grief of loss. - Paula Deitz, Editor, The Hudson Review This humorous and heartfelt memoir will immediately draw you in, and you'll be smiling through your tears until finishing that last page. Rachel Levy Lesser is a wonderfully gifted storyteller; this tale will run like a movie through your mind. It reminds us of what is most precious in our lives, and gives the gift of true appreciation of sharing treasured moments with those we love. - Melanie C. Kaplan, LSW Program Coordinator, Gilda's Club Delaware Valley

How to Shop for Shi(f)t Taryn Hipwell, Karen Housel, Nicholas J Brown, 2019-04-11 HOW TO SHOP FOR SHI(F)T is the first shopping guide focused on healthier fashion for every budget! The #1 thing people take into consideration when purchasing clothes is the price. Is it affordable? Is it on sale? Can I get a good deal? For parents with new borns, the idea of putting healthier fabrics against a baby's skin becomes a consideration. People with skin sensitivities and cancer become more aware of the toxins in clothes due to reactions including, but not limited to eczema, hives, migraines, and yeast infections. Sensitivity or not, your skin is your largest organ. Your pores are like tiny little mouths and whatever you put on them, they eat! Have you ever taken the time to think about What's in my tee? What is a t-shirt made of? What are the INGREDIENTS in a t-shirt? The purpose of a shop shifting guidebook is to introduce readers, YOU, to better shopping habits, helpful resources, and to give a better understanding of what is in the fabrics you put on your body. This enables you to ask important questions: How do my clothes affect my health, the health of my family, and the health of the people who make my clothes? How can my fashion choices have a positive effect on the world (air, water & soil)? How can I #MakeShiftHappen?
