Leonardo Da Vinci Master Draftsman Leonardo (da Vinci), Rachel Stern, Alison Manges, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 2003 This handsome book offers a unified and fascinating portrait of Leonardo as draftsman, integrating his roles as artist, scientist, inventor, theorist, and teacher. 250 illustrations.

Leonardo Da Vinci James Pearson, 2008 Leonardo's art is the apotheosis of Renaissance - and Western - art. He depicted angels, Madonnas and saints in ever-mysterious images. His sfumato paintings remain some of the most hypnotic in art. The sheer intensity of Leonardo's curiosity and his spectacular inventiveness in the fields of science, botany, geology, anatomy, medicine and warfare make him more than worthy of the name 'universal genius'.

La Chapelle de Riom Jean-Paul Marcheschi, Musée régional d'Auvergne, 2003 Jean-Paul Marcheschi, me disait-on, c'est le feu. Homme de feu, je ne sais, mais homme du feu. Je l'imaginai, du coup, tel un de ces dieux ou Titans de la mythologie attelés à quelque épuisante forgerie, enfermé dans une grotte illuminée par instants de rougeoiements et d'étincelles. Et rentrant de cet affreux labeur éreinté et noirci. Peut-être revient-il en cet état, certains jours, de son atelier de la rue des Bourdonnais. Mais l'être est lumineux. D'une culture et d'une délicatesse qui ne sentent pas leur Héphaïstos (Héphaïstos dont Homère dit qu'il est [amphiguhéïs], ce qui veut dire muni de deux bras robustes , mais peut vouloir dire aussi boiteux des deux jambes). Non. Voici comment Marcheschi s'y prend avec le feu. Fourrant dans un porte-flambeau deux ou trois cierges qui, à peine allumés et brandis, commencent leur dégoulinement de cire. Et écrivait avec ces dégoulinements sur des étendues de papier, lançant, comme il dit pollockienement, ses drippings de feu. (...) Le voici entrant dans l'illustre cohorte des artistes contemporains à qui l'on confie la décoration d'une chapelle: Matisse, Cocteau, Soulages... À lui celle de Riom, jadis consacrée à saint Joseph et aux missionnaires de la Société de Marie. Qu'a-t-il voulu en faire ? Il l'explique lui-même plus loin, sur l'exemple particulier du dernier de ses trois grands panneaux. Peu d'artistes parlent aussi bien de ce qu'ils font. Marcheschi porte en lui-même son méta-Marcheschi. C'est pourquoi cette préface est inutile. (...) .

Landscape Design in Color Mira Engler, 2022-12-27 Architects, landscape architects and urban designers experiment with color and lighting effects in their daily professional practice. Over the past decade, there has been a reinvigorated discussion on color within architectural and cultural studies. Yet, scholarly enquiry within landscape architecture has been minimal despite its important role in landscape design. This book posits that though color and lighting effects appear natural, fleeting, and difficult to comprehend, the sensory palette of built landscapes and gardens has been carefully constructed to shape our experience and evoke meaning and place character. Landscape Design in Color: History, Theory, and Practice 1750 to Today is an inquiry into the themes, theories, and debates on color and its impact on practice in Western landscape architecture over the past three centuries. Divided into three key periods, each chapter in the book looks at the use of color in the written and built work of key prominent designers. The book investigates thematic juxtapositions such as: natural and artificial; color and line; design and draftsmanship; sensation and concept; imitation and translation; deception and display; and decoration and structure, and how these have appeared, faded, disappeared, and reappeared throughout the ages. Richly designed and illustrated in full color throughout, including color palettes, this book is a must-have resource for students, scholars, and design professionals in landscape architecture and its allied disciplines.

North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century Jules Heller, Nancy G. Heller, 2013-12-19
First Published in 1997. North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century: A Biographical Dictionary was created to fill a gap of there being a comprehensive reference work like this available, even though the bibliography in English on various aspects of the history of women artists has grown exponentially during the past ten years. As researchers, the editors have been frustrated many times by being unable to locate basic information about many of the artists included in this volume—especially those working outside the United States. This leads directly to another reason for producing this particular kind of reference book—to try and create a better understanding between and among the artists and art audiences in these countries.

Drawing the Male Nude Giovanni Civardi, 2017-09-04 Giovanni Civardi breaks down the complex process of drawing the male nude, from making rudimentary choices about framing, lighting and the most appropriate drawing tools, to rendering detailed and anatomically accurate artworks. Civardi's own masterful drawings provide an excellent touchstone for the artist wanting to explore the depiction of the male body, and his studies of numerous poses cover all aspects of life drawing. Civardi takes a pragmatic, almost scientific, approach to teaching the subject, combining basic physics with artistic interpretation. Drawing the Male Nude also touches upon the significant anatomical differences between the male and the female form, but these are also covered in some detail in the companion to this title, Drawing the Female Nude.

Mona Lisa Serge Bramly, Leonardo (da Vinci), 1996 The woman in Leonardo da Vinci's work gazes out from the canvas with a quiet serenity. But what lies behind the famous smile? Shrouded in mystery, the Mona Lisa has attracted more speculation and questioning than any other work of art ever created. This work provides an aide memoire of the world's most famous painting. The full-page colour plates portray the Mona Lisa in close-up photographs, while Serge Bramly, the author, explores its shadowy history and the fascination the painting has engendered.

Mapping Archaeological Landscapes from Space Douglas C Comer, Michael J. Harrower, 2013-01-10 Mapping Archaeological Landscapes from Space offers a concise overview of air and spaceborne imagery and related geospatial technologies tailored to the needs of archaeologists. Leading experts including scientists involved in NASA's Space Archaeology program provide technical introductions to five sections: 1) Historic Air and Spaceborne Imagery 2) Multispectral and Hyperspectral Imagery 3) Synthetic Aperture Radar 4) Lidar 5) Archaeological Site Detection and Modeling Each of these five sections includes two or more case study applications that have enriched understanding of archaeological landscapes in regions including the Near East, East Asia, Europe, Meso- and North America. Targeted to the needs of researchers and heritage managers as well as graduate and advanced undergraduate students, this volume conveys a basic technological sense of what is currently possible and, it is hoped, will inspire new pioneering applications. Particular attention is paid to the tandem goals of research (understanding) and archaeological heritage management (preserving) the ancient past. The technologies and applications presented can be used to characterize environments, detect archaeological sites, model sites and settlement patterns and, more generally, reveal the dialectic landscape-scale dynamics among ancient peoples and their social and environmental surroundings. In light of contemporary economic development and resultant damage to and destruction of archaeological sites and landscapes, applications of air and spaceborne technologies in archaeology are of wide utility and promoting understanding of them is a particularly appropriate goal at the 40th anniversary of the World Heritage Convention.
