Perspectives on Human-Computer Interaction Research with Older People Sergio Sayago,2019-02-20 This book promotes a critical reflection about the research conducted so far in Human-Computer Interaction (HCI) with older people, whose predominant perspective focuses on decline, health, and help. It introduces a new (or different) perspective, which is grounded in interdisciplinary research on older people and digital technologies. Key elements are to (i) address topics that include, but also go beyond decline, health, and help, such as leisure, fun, creativity and culture, to delve more deeply into the role of digital technologies in multiple facets of older people's lives; (ii) focus on doing research and designing technologies with and for older adults, and their communities, to avoid and fight against negative social conceptions of ageing; and (iii) examine older people's life course, strengths, interests, and values, as well as their limitations and needs, to design technologies that not only help but also empower them, extending their abilities and acquiring new knowledge, beyond technology use. This perspective aims to help us better understand, design, and evaluate older people's interactions with digital technologies in the early 21st century.

Machine-to-Machine Marketing (M3) via Anonymous Advertising Apps Anywhere Anytime (A5) Jesus Mena,2012-07-02 In today's wireless environment, marketing is more frequently occurring at the server-to-device level—with that device being anything from a laptop or phone to a TV or car. In this real-time digital marketplace, human attributes such as income, marital status, and age are not the most reliable attributes for modeling consumer behaviors. A more effective approach is to monitor and model the consumer's device activities and behavioral patterns. Machine-to-Machine Marketing (M3) via Anonymous Advertising Apps Anywhere Anytime (A5) examines the technologies, software, networks, mechanisms, techniques, and solution providers that are shaping the next generation of mobile advertising. Discussing the interactive environments that comprise the web, it explains how to deploy Machine-to-Machine Marketing (M3) and Anonymous Advertising Apps Anywhere Anytime (A5). The book is organized into four sections: Why – Discusses the interactive environments and explains how M3 can be deployed How – Describes which technologies and solution providers can be used for executing M3 Checklists – Contains lists of techniques, strategies, technologies, and solution providers for M3 Case Studies – Illustrates M3 and A5 implementations in companies across various industries Providing wide-ranging coverage that touches on data mining, the web, social media, marketing, and mobile communications, the book's case studies show how M3 and A5 are being implemented at JP Morgan Chase, Hyundai, Dunkin' Donuts, New York Life, Twitter, Best Buy, JetBlue, IKEA, Urban Outfitters, JC Penney, Sony, eHarmony, and NASCAR just to name a few. These case studies provide you with the real-world insight needed to market effectively and profitably well into the future. Each company, network, and resource mentioned in the book can be accessed through the hundreds of links included on the book's companion site: www.jesusmena.com

The Procrastination Economy Ethan Tussey,2020-04-01 2018 Outstanding Academic Title, given by Choice Magazine How mobile devices make our in-between moments valuable to media companies while also providing a sense of control and connection In moments of downtime – waiting for a friend to arrive or commuting to work – we pull out our phones for a few minutes of distraction. Just as television reoriented the way we think about living rooms, mobile devices have taken over the interstitial spaces of our everyday lives. Ethan Tussey argues that these in-between moments have created a procrastination economy, an opportunity for entertainment companies to create products, apps, platforms, subscription services, micropayments, and interactive opportunities that can colonize our everyday lives. But as businesses commoditize our free time, and mobile devices become essential tools for promotion, branding and distribution, consumers are using these devices as a means of navigating public and private space. These devices are not just changing the way we spend and value our time, but also how we interact with others and transform our sense of the politics of space. By examining the four main locations of the procrastination economy—the workplace, the commute, the waiting room, and the "connected" living room—Ethan Tussey illuminates the relationship between the entertainment industry and the digitally empowered public.

Welche (inter-)disziplinären Kooperationen haben sich als fruchtbar erwiesen, welche sind gescheitert? Wie verhalten sich Game Studies und Game Design bzw. Game-Design-Theorie zueinander? Und nicht zuletzt: Wie hat der (massen-)kulturelle Durchbruch digitaler Spiele andere Disziplinen beeinflusst, etwa Literatur-, Kunst-, Theater- und Filmwissenschaft? Mit Beiträgen von u.a. Ian Bogost, Thomas Hensel, Jesse Schell, Stephan Schwingeler und Eric Zimmerman.
