ON VALUE IN USE HUANXIN WEI,2018-07-05 The value in use is not only the exchange of matter between man and nature, but also the material base and premise of human life and survival. Gestated by commodity production for thousands of years and driven by capital system for hundreds of years, the crisis tendency of value in use which seriously threatened human life and survival has arisen and is intensifying. Only by establishing a clear and reasonable relationship between people, thereby building a harmonious and compatible relationship between man and nature, can human beings who stand at the crossroads of destiny and future achieve social sustainability. In the historical process of social changes nowadays, we should establish the concept of a community of shared future for mankind and act quickly, wholeheartedly and harmoniously to cope with the crisis tendency of value in use effectively.
