Bilingual Education Handbook DIANE Publishing Company,1996-02 LEP students should have access to the same body of knowledge, skills, and ways of thinking about the world from the academic core as English-speaking students receive. This handbook is designed for teachers working directly with language-minority students; for parents of LEP children; for administrators; and for other interested parties. It is particularly useful in describing how the requirements of the core curriculum, as reflected in the subject-area frameworks, interact with the special needs of LEP students. Award-Winner! Illustrated.

Z Physics at LEP 1 Guido Altarelli,Ronald Kleiss,Claudio Verzegnassi,1989

LEP - The Lord of the Collider Rings at CERN 1980-2000 Herwig Schopper,2009-08-12 Housed by a 4 m diameter tunnel of 27 km circumference, with huge underground labs and numerous surface facilities, and set up with a precision of 0.1 mm per kilometer, the Large Electron-Positron Collider (LEP) was not only the largest but also one of the most sophisticated scientific research instruments ever created by Man. Located at CERN, near Geneva, LEP was built during the years 1983 - 1989, was operational until 2000, and corroborated the standard model of particle physics through continuous high precision measurements. The Author, director-general of CERN during the crucial period of the construction of LEP, recounts vividly the convoluted decision-making and technical implementation processes - the tunnel alone being a highly challenging geo- and civil engineering project - and the subsequent extremely fruitful period of scientific research. Finally he describes the difficult decision to close down LEP, at a time when the discovery of the Higgs boson seemed within reach. LEP was eventually dismantled in 2000, enabling the tunnel to be reused for building the next generation machine, the much more powerful Large Hadron Collider (LHC), an upgrade then called LEP3 and foreseen from the beginning. It became operational just as this account was being completed. Written by the main protagonist responsible for making LEP a reality, this is the definitive inside story of a remarkable machine and the many thousands of scientists and engineers from around the world, whose efforts contributed to the new knowledge it produced.

Electroweak Physics at LEP and LHC Arno Straessner,2010-03-14 During more than 10 years, from 1989 until 2000, the LEP accelerator and the four LEP experiments, ALEPH, DELPHI, L3 and OPAL, have taken data for a large amount of measurements at the frontier of particle physics. The main outcome is a thorough and successful test of the Standard Model of electroweak interactions. Mass and width of the Z and W bosons were measured precisely, as well as the Z and photon couplings to fermions and the couplings among gauge bosons. The rst part of this work will describe the most important physics results of the LEP experiments. Emphasis is put on the properties of the W boson, which was my main research eld at LEP. Especially the precise determination of its mass and its couplings to the other gauge bosons will be described. Details on physics effects like Colour Reconnection and Bose-Einstein Correlations in W-pair events shall be discussed as well. A conclusive summary of the current electroweak measurements, including low-energy results, as the pillars of possible future ndings will be given. The important contributions from Tevatron, like the measurement of the top quark and W mass, will round up the present day picture of electroweak particle physics. This is an open access book.

b-Quark Physics with the LEP Collider Gary John Barker,2010-05-29 With an emphasis firmly on telling the story from an experimental viewpoint, this book reviews the impact that the LEP experiments have had on the subject of b-quark physics. Highlights of the final b-physics results from the LEP collaborations are reviewed.

Mobility Information Needs of Limited English Proficiency (LEP) Travelers in New Jersey Rongfang Liu,2004 The primary objectives of this research are to provide residents and travelers in New Jersey who have Limited English Proficiency (LEP) with the ability to gain essential access to New Jersey's transportation opportunities, such as bus, rail, road, water and air and to further New Jersey transportation agencies' compliance with Title VI regulations as they pertain to the avoidance of discrimination against people of different national origins or language proficiency. To find methods to convey mobility information to LEP persons, we have studied the practices of a variety of American and non-American agencies including transportation organizations, international airports, and other internationally oriented activity centers.
