Marriage as a Covenant Gordon Paul Hugenberger,2014-09-03 This book focuses on the interpretation of Malachi 2:10-16, which censures the lax marital practice of its contemporaries. In particular, Hugenberger investigates Malachi's identification of marriage as a covenant in response to recent scholarly challenges to this identification. Taking the issues raised by Malachi as his point of departure, Hugenberger examines the nature of covenant and oath (including verba solemnity and oath-signs), and, in light of these findings, explores the theory of marriage implied elsewhere in the Old Testament. Included in this investigation are an analysis of the concentric literary structure of Malachi and a study of the Old Testament's ethical perspectives on divorce, polygamy, and sexual fidelity. An extensive bibliography and indices complete the book.

N96-185 Man-Portable UXO Detection System: Phase I Final Report November 4, 1996 - May 4, 1997 ,1997 Existing methods to detect landmines and UXOs depend on inducing an oscillating electric current in the metallic components of the target. For objects with very small metallic content such as plastic-cased mines, these methods have false alarm rates approaching 1000:1. Recently an electromagnetic technique known as nuclear quadrupole resonance (NQR) has been developed to detect explosives directly in their bulk form using radio waves. In the last year, large scale NQR systems have been used to screen airline baggage and mail at airports in the US and Europe. In this Phase I SBIR program, we investigated the feasibility of modifying current airline NQR systems to make them man-portable and capable of detecting landmines under field conditions. In the context of an overall engineering redesign, we investigated two principal technical issues: 1) the use of advanced signal processing techniques to increase sensitivity and signal discrimination, and 2) the limits of conventional (transistor-based) NQR receivers and the potential improvements offered by superconducting sensors. These studies show that it should be possible to develop a man-portable detection system capable of detecting over 90% of all plastic-cased mines (regardless of metal content) and 100% of metallic-cased mines and UXO when buried at typical depths. We estimate that an NQR-based mine detection system will produce 10 or less false alarms per 100 m(2) at a detection probability of >90%. Phase I successfully sets the groundwork for development and field testing of a prototype NQR-based mine and UXO detector in Phase II.

Mughal Painter of Flora and Fauna Ustād Manşūr Som Prakash Verma,1999 This volume follows Mughal Painters and their Work-A Biographical Survey and Comprehensive Catalogue (Oxford University Press, New Delhi, 1994), the first comprehensive book of reference on the work of nearly 200 Mughal painters; and has been conceived to provide readers much information on the Mughal painting through the contribution of individual master painters. Need not say ample information is available about the artists of the Mughal atelier (sixteenth-seventeenth centuries). Yet, to date, except for some articles on a few painters, no book has been published on individual artist. Ustad Mansur, a keen observer of nature endowed with almost Euclidean intellect, deserved a more detailed study to re-evaluate his merit as an artist whose achievement in naturalistic portraiture of a large number of species from the world of flora and fauna has remained unsurpassed till today. Our attempt is to enter into the very creative process of this great Mughal painter; to relive in his times and environment, in order to discover real Mansur. The whole panorama of Mansur's portraits of birds, animals and flowers set in marvellously and uniquely laid background represents, in his true spirit and characteristics, the very quintessence of nature's endless variety of creation and beauty. Part I provides historical and artistic context in which Ustad Mansur worked. Information about him has been gleaned from original texts (principally Persian historical sources), supplemented by the evidence of artist's own work. Part II comprises the plate section of representative eighteen miniatures that illustrate our painter's style and his specialisation in painting. The appendix further enhances the value of this work since it provides correct rendering of contemporary inscriptions and determines genuine signatures and contemporary ascriptions. The volume is richly illustrated with a large number of black-and-white and colour illustrations. These illustrate the art and style of Ustad Mansur Nadir u'l 'Asr (Unequalled of the Age), the most illustrious naturalist painter of India. It will naturally be of interest to students of art and natural history. It is also recommended to persons curious to know about the Mughal times. It is hoped that other volumes on individual Mughal painters will follow' and monographs on their lives and work with a critical valuation will be available.
