The Enemy Within Dominick Pratico,2007-03-21 As a society, the Interstellar Web was dying. Enormous fortunes were amassed in the face of unspeakable want, and avarice thrived as sport. With no villains left to fight but each other, quarreling factions stood prepared to devour one another at the slightest provocation. None of this mattered to Zoeicelli K Galvin, Black Ops Commander, and ex-Marine. Exiled to a remote command on The Frontier, nobody was looking for him until he was ordered to investigate the disappearance of a fellow Black Ops commander. What starts as a routine search and recovery operation rapidly escalates into something more sinister as Galvin suddenly finds himself caught up in a web of deceit and corruption. On the very edge of civilization, from the coldest of barrens to blistering infernos, Galvin is not only forced to confront The Enemy, but also. . .The Enemy Within.

X-Factor Amy Eing,2011-11-07 As a young boy, Christopher Bower's mom is brutally murdered by his father. This leaves him searching for a place where he belongs and someone to love. It's not until he gets a surprise visit from an old friend that he begins to wonder if he has finally found his sole mate and a place he knows he's home. Only when a common everyday relationship is threatened when a revengeful ex, Kristen Smith, refuses to accept the fact her and her boyfriend's relationship is over. Not only does Kristen not accept the end of the relationship, but she will stop at nothing to get Chris back into her arms. Kristen is a dangerous, immoral, evil woman, who only cares about one thing - herself. Through a series of violent acts, Kristen tries to manipulate her way back with the man she refuses to let go. If she could only win him back, she would have achieved her dream of living a great life with the man she loved.

Transcultural Nursing. A comparison between patients of Christianity and Islam Paulina Eing,2019-04-12 Seminar paper from the year 2019 in the subject Nursing / Foster Care Management / Social Services, grade: 2,0, Fresenius University of Applied Sciences Idstein, language: English, abstract: In the following the term culture is defined and the model of the cultural dimensions of Hofstede is presented. A definition of the concept of Transcultural Nursing follows and a model of the founder M. Leininger's is presented. Subsequently, the differences in the care of Christian and Islamic patients are exemplarily described. Globalisation and strong migratory movements mean that today every person is confronted with different cultures. In medicine, these changes are also noticeable. The medical care of patients takes place across cultural borders, which requires a corresponding perception of cultural differences on the part of the nursing staff. But also, the ability to incorporate the associated cultural changes into their professional competencies. Not only migrants from a group of foreign patients, but also business travellers or tourists, health tourists or migrants living in the country. The biggest problem, the care of culturally different patients is not the language barrier. This can, for example, be solved by an interpreter. It is much more difficult to understand each other if there are different cultural concepts, attitudes or views of life which prove to be important factors for successful care. Great challenges are, among other things, different views on family structures, understanding of roles, the status of women or religiously determined food prohibitions or touch taboos. Transcultural nursing is a central topic dealing with such challenges in care. Overall, the ability to recognise, understand and respond to the needs of different cultural groups and individuals is a major challenge. The aim of transcultural nursing is thus to be able to integrate the skills for such care into everyday working life in a suitable way.
