ALL+ 2020 6 No.187 LiveABC, 2020-05-15
~ ALL+ Waste Not, Want Not Owain Mckimm 6/18 The enormous fires that burned through Australia last year and this year have scientists very concerned. They worry that when the rains fall, they will wash the ash left by the fires into the rivers and pollute Australia's water supply, a situation that would leave thousands of Australians without drinking water. This looming water crisis in Australia has also called attention to Taiwan's own dangers of water shortage. Although Taiwan has an average rainfall of 2,500 millimeters per year, its lack of storage capacity means that much of that rainfall flows into the ocean. In fact, the nation's reservoirs can only store about six weeks' worth of water before running completely dry. As a result, Taiwan faced water shortages nine times between 2002 and 2015. An additional element that perpetuates this problem is the low cost of water in Taiwan—one of the lowest in the world. Inexpensive water bills mean people hardly think about saving water. And although a rise in water prices could reduce Taiwan's water usage significantly, no politician is brave enough to suggest that solution. To reduce the risk of a severe water crisis in the future, it's therefore up to us to cut back on the amount of water we use. 我們應該如何節省用水？其實方法很多，但最簡單、最容易做到的，就是從日常生活中的一些小事做起。例如，刷牙時不要讓水一直流著，洗完澡後要關緊水龙头，還有，不要為了省水而把髒水倒掉。這些看似微不足道的舉動，如果每個人都能做到的話，將會產生巨大的節水效果。6/19 To figure out what actions are needed to conserve water, it helps to know where water is being wasted. In an average household, flushing the toilet and showering account for an overwhelming percentage of all water used. It stands to reason, then, that the most significant change you can make is to your bathroom habits. Everyone loves a long hot shower, but do try to limit your shower time to around five minutes. To help you stick to this rule, find a five-minute-long song that you can play while showering, and make sure you're finished when it ends! Limiting your shower time is pointless if you're allowing the shower water to drain away while it warms up. To solve this, collect that initial stream of cold water in a container. You can then use that water to flush your toilet. Besides trying to minimize the number of times you flush, check your toilet for leaks. After all, leakages are the biggest waste of water. You may think these small actions won't make much of a difference, but there are over 23 million people in Taiwan. If everyone takes steps to waste less water, the nation's water security is all but assured. 我們應該如何節省用水？其實方法很多，但最簡單、最容易做到的，就是從日常生活中的一些小事做起。例如，刷牙時不要讓水一直流著，洗完澡後要關緊水龙头，還有，不要為了省水而把髒水倒掉。這些看似微不足道的舉動，如果每個人都能做到的話，將會產生巨大的節水效果。

Don't Travel without iPhone Jimmy Chang,

Unlocking the World Claudia W. Ruitenberg, 2015-12-03 Unlocking the World proposes hospitality as a guiding ethic for education. Based on the work of Jacques Derrida, it suggests that giving place to children and newcomers is at the heart of education. The primary responsibility of the host is not to assimilate newcomers into tradition but rather to create or leave a place where they may arrive. Hospitality as a guiding ethic for education is discussed in its many facets, including the decentered conception of subjectivity on which it relies, the way it casts the relation between teacher and student, and its conception of curriculum as an inheritance that asks for a critical reception. The book examines the relation between an ethic of hospitality and the educational contexts in which it would guide practice. Since these contexts are marked by gender, culture, and language, it asks how such differences affect enactments of hospitality. Since hospitality typically involves a power difference between host and guest, the book addresses how an ethic of hospitality accounts for power, whether it is appropriate for educational contexts marked by colonialism, and how it might guide education aimed at social justice.
