International Marketing Management Mario Glowik, Slawomir Smyczek, 2012-09-18 This book takes as its perspective that the customer undoubtedly is positioned in the center of the firm's overall management activities. True understanding of the customer requires efficient marketing research about the firm's international business environment. As discussed in the first chapters of the book, the firm's business success depends in part on its ethical standards; thus awareness of its environmental and social responsibility is required. The following chapters concentrate on various aspects of culturally biased customer behavior and how the firm ensures sensitivity when planning and selecting its marketing strategies. The most efficient techniques of international market segmentation, targeting, and strategic competitive positioning are introduced. Furthermore, concepts of consumer loyalty programs and their implementation in diversified international markets are presented. An important part is dedicated to describing suitable mixes of marketing policies for firms operating in culturally heterogeneous international markets. Finally, forecasting changes in consumer behavior as a tool of planning international marketing activities is taken into consideration. Marketing control mechanisms that seek to increase efficiency of selected marketing activities further contribute to the valuable insights of this publication.

Information and Communications Security Sihan Qing,Chris J. Mitchell,Guilin Wang,2010-01-13

The 11th International Conference on Information and Communications Security (ICICS 2009) was held in Beijing, China during December 14–17, 2009. The ICICS conference series is an established forum that brings together people from universities, research institutes, industry and government institutions, who work in a range of fields within information and communications security. The ICICS conferences give attendees the opportunity to exchange new ideas and investigate developments in the state of the art. In previous years, ICICS has taken place in the UK (2008), China (2007, 2005, 2003, 2001 and 1997), USA (2006), Spain (2004), Singapore (2002), and Australia (1999). On each occasion, as on this one, the proceedings have been published in the Springer LNCS series. In total, 162 manuscripts from 20 countries and districts were submitted to ICICS 2009, and a total of 37 (31 regular papers plus 6 short papers) from 13 countries and districts were accepted (an acceptance rate of 23%). The accepted papers cover a wide range of disciplines within information security and applied cryptography. Each submission to ICICS 2009 was anonymously reviewed by three or four reviewers. We are very grateful to members of the Program Committee, which was composed of 44 members from 14 countries; we would like to thank them, as well as all the external referees, for their time and their valuable contributions to the tough and time-consuming reviewing process.

GTAG: Supporting Geographical Queries Onto DHTs Jordi Pujol Ahullo, Pedro García López, Marc

Sánchez Artigas, Antonio F. Gómez Skarmeta, Universitat Rovira i Virgili. Departament d'Enginyeria Informàtica, Architecture and Telematic Services Research Group, 2008 Location-based services (LBS) are currently receiving world-wide attention as a consequence of the massive usage of mobile devices, but such location services require scalable distributed infrastructures in order to resolve spatial queries efficiently. We propose a novel methodology to enable geographical query support to distributed hash tables (DHTs). The contributions of our methodology are the followings: a) our technique is DHT-generic, b) it makes an effective clusterization of nodes and information into geographical areas, c) providing data locality without sacrificing routing and data load balancing, d) it is able to answer classical spatial range queries, as well as e) a new kind of queries we call geocast, all of them in a distributed, scalable way. We demonstrate the feasibility of our approach by means of meaningful simulations.
