IBM Enterprise Content Management and Box Whei-Jen Chen,Sherry A Ajax,Ali Arsanjani,Vaclav Bahník,Priscilla Lok,Monique Ruggiero,Parameswaran Venkatraman,Roger Welch,IBM Redbooks,2016-03-09 The integration of IBM® Enterprise Content Management (ECM) products with the Box for secure file sharing and collaboration opens new possibilities for achieving higher levels of capability within ECM. This IBM Redpaper™ publication describes how the integration of Box, IBM Content Navigator, IBM Case Manager, IBM Datacap, and IBM StoredIQ® products enables higher maturity in ECM, and distills the capabilities provided by each integration and the combination as a whole. By leveraging these IBM ECM technologies with Box, clients can realize the power of hybrid capabilities between on-premises and cloud systems. This paper shows you how to create an integrated, end-to-end solution that uses the capabilities of those IBM ECM products in conjunction with Box.

A Generic Fault-Tolerant Architecture for Real-Time Dependable Systems David Powell,2013-04-17 The design of computer systems to be embedded in critical real-time applications is a complex task. Such systems must not only guarantee to meet hard real-time deadlines imposed by their physical environment, they must guarantee to do so dependably, despite both physical faults (in hardware) and design faults (in hardware or software). A fault-tolerance approach is mandatory for these guarantees to be commensurate with the safety and reliability requirements of many life- and mission-critical applications. This book explains the motivations and the results of a collaborative project', whose objective was to significantly decrease the lifecycle costs of such fault tolerant systems. The end-user companies participating in this project already deploy fault-tolerant systems in critical railway, space and nuclear-propulsion applications. However, these are proprietary systems whose architectures have been tailored to meet domain-specific requirements. This has led to very costly, inflexible, and often hardware-intensive solutions that, by the time they are developed, validated and certified for use in the field, can already be out-of-date in terms of their underlying hardware and software technology.

Networking - ICN 2001 Pascal Lorenz,2003-06-29 The International Conference on Networking (ICN01) is the first conference in its series aimed at stimulating technical exchange in the emerging and important field of networking. On behalf of the International Advisory Committee, it is our great pleasure to welcome you to the International Conference on Networking. Integration of fixed and portable wireless access into IP and ATM networks presents a cost effective and efficient way to provide seamless end to end connectivity and ubiquitous access in a market where demands on Mobile and Cellular Networks have grown rapidly and predicted to generate billions of dollars in revenue. The deployment of broadband IP based technologies over Dense Wavelength Division Multiplexing (DWDM) and integration of IP with broadband wireless access networks (BWANs) are becoming increasingly important. In addition, fixed core IP/ATM networks are constructed with recent move to IP/MPLS over DWDM. Moreover, mobility introduces further challenges in the area that have neither been fully understood nor resolved in the preceding network generation. This first Conference ICN01 has been very well perceived by the International networking community. A total of 300 papers from 39 countries were submitted, from which 168 have been accepted. Each paper has been reviewed by several members of the scientific Program Committee.

Networking -- ICN 2005 Pascal Lorenz,Petre Dini,2005-04-01 The International Conference on Networking (ICN 2005) was the fourth conference in its series aimed at stimulating technical exchange in the emerging and important field of networking. On behalf of the International Advisory Committee, it is our great pleasure to welcome you to the proceedings of the 2005 event. Networking faces dramatic changes due to the customer-centric view, the venue of the next generation networks paradigm, the push from ubiquitous networking, and the new service models. Despite legacy problems, which researchers and industry are still discovering and improving the state of the art, the horizon has revealed new challenges that some of the authors tackled through their submissions. In fact ICN2005 was very well perceived by the international networking community. A total of 651 papers from more than 60 countries were submitted, from which 238 were accepted. Each paper was reviewed by several members of the Technical Program Committee. This year, the Advisory Committee revalidated various accepted papers after the reviews had been incorporated. We perceived a significant improvement in the number of submissions and the quality of the submissions. The ICN2005 program covered a variety of research topics that are of current interest, starting with Grid networks, multicasting, TCP optimizations, QoS and security, emergency services, and network resiliency. The Program Committee selected also three tutorials and invited speakers that addressed the latest search results from the international industries and academia, and reports on findings from mobile, satellite, and personal communications related to 3rd- and 4th-generation research projects and standardization.

Convergence of Project Management and Knowledge Management Taverekere Srikantaiah,Michael E. D. Koenig,Suliman Al-Hawamdeh,2010 This book focuses on the proper access and delivery methods for explicit knowledge in projects and also concentrates on tacit knowledge unknown and unavailable to most people in project environments. This book also discusses the benefits of managing knowledge in projects, provides techniques, and addresses strategy and deployment issues that will increase the rate of return on projects.

Cooperative Information Systems Opher Etzion,Peter Scheuermann,2006-12-31 Cooperation among systems has gained substantial importance in recent years: electronic commerce virtual enterprises and the middleware paradigm are just some examples in this area. CoopIS is a multi-disciplinary conference, which deals with all aspects of cooperation. The relevant disciplines are: collaborative work, distributed databases, distributed computing, electronic commerce, human-computer interaction, multi-agent systems, information retrieval, and workflow systems. The CoopIS series provides a forum for well-known researchers who are drawn by the stature and the tradition of these conference series and has a leading role in shaping the future of the cooperative information systems area. CoopIS 2000 is the seventh conference in the series and the fifth conference organized by the International Foundation on Cooperative Information Systems (IFCIS). It is sponsored by the IFCIS, the IBM Research Laboratory in Haifa and Compaq, Tandem labs Israel. It replaces the former international workshops on Interoperability in Multidatabase systems (IMS) and the conference series on Cooperative Information Systems (CoopIS & ICICIS). In response to the call for papers 74 papers were submitted. Each of them was reviewed by at least three reviewers, and at the end of this process 24 papers were accepted for presentation at the conference. Six additional papers were selected for short presentations. In addition the conference includes two panels, two keynote speakers (Professor Calton Pu from Georgia Tech and Professor Sheizaf Rafaeli from Haifa University) and one tutorial. A special issue of the International Journal of Cooperative Information Systems will follow. August 2000 Opher Etzion & Peter Scheuermann

Auf dem Weg zur Integration Factory Joachim Schelp,Robert Winter,2005-12-06 Das Buch Auf dem Weg zur Integration Factory fasst den State of the Art sowie die Zukunftsperspektiven im Bereich der integrierten Informationslogistik zusammen. Die Autoren untersuchen zum einen, inwieweit sich bisherige Ansätze zum Data Warehousing sowie zur Enterprise Application Integration mittelfristig technisch, organisatorisch und wirtschaftlich als geeignete Lösungen erwiesen haben. Die Kernthemen sind hierbei Architekturen, Vorgehensmodelle, Business Intelligence, Online-Analyse, Customer Relationship Management, Supply Chain Management und Anwendungsintegration. Zum anderen werden neuere Ansätze vorgestellt, welche die Integration des Data Warehouse in die Gesamt-Informationslogistik zum Ziel haben und so die Realisierung neuer Applikationstypen und Geschäftsmodelle ermöglichen. Darüber hinaus wird insbesondere auf eine Verbesserung der Prozessunterstützung durch einen höheren Integrationsgrad der Applikationen eingegangen. Das Buch wendet sich vorwiegend an Praktiker aus den Bereichen Betriebswirtschaft und Wirtschaftsinformatik.

Advanced Information Networking and Applications Leonard Barolli,Flora Amato,Francesco Moscato,Tomoya Enokido,Makoto Takizawa,2020-03-27 This proceedings book covers the theory, design and applications of computer networks, distributed computing and information systems. Today's networks are evolving rapidly, and there are several developing areas and applications. These include heterogeneous networking supported by recent technological advances in power wireless communications, along with silicon integration of various functionalities such as sensing, communications, intelligence and actuations, which is emerging as a critically important disruptive computer class based on a new platform, networking structure and interface that enables novel, low-cost and high-volume applications. However, implementing these applications has sometimes been difficult due to interconnection problems. As such, different networks need to collaborate, and wired and next-generation wireless systems need to be integrated in order to develop high-performance computing solutions to address the problems arising from these networks' complexities. This ebook presents the latest research findings, as well as theoretical and practical perspectives on the innovative methods and development techniques related to the emerging areas of information networking and applications
