The Savage Truth Greg Savage, 2022-01-01 The Savage Truth is the story of Greg Savage, his stellar career in recruitment and the lessons he has learned on leadership, business and life over a career spanning four decades. The Savage Truth is a must-read for next generation leaders and lovers of business biography. It is a book in two parts. The first part covers Greg's early life - the people and events that shaped him - and follows his career path, which took him from his hometown of Cape Town around the world before settling in Sydney, Australia. He gives an honest, open, often humorous account of his experiences, which reflect how much business has changed over the past 40 years. In the second part of the book, Greg distills his learnings into guidance and advice for his successors in the recruitment industry and, more broadly, to anyone working in business. He covers topics including building a personal brand, negotiating fees and margins, people leverage, performance management, 'Savage' leadership skills and preparing for exit towards the end of your career. Throughout his fascinating career, Greg has learned countless lessons in leadership, business and in life. One of his greatest achievements is his success as a communicator. Greg is one of the most highly respected voices across the global recruitment and professional services industries, speaking regularly to audiences around the world. An early adopter of social media for recruiters, Greg's industry blog, The Savage Truth (gregsavage.com.au/the-savage-truth), is a must-read in the recruitment industry. The Effectiveness of Partnering and Source Selection in Job Order Contracting Francis S. Mulcahy, 2000 Job Order Contracting (JOC) is an alternative to the sealed bid method of procuring facility construction and repair services. The concept was developed by the Federal Government in the 1980's to reduce the processing time and administrative effort required for smaller construction jobs. A typical JOC contract is two to five years in duration and work is issued through individual delivery orders, with cost determined by pre-negotiated unit prices for a myriad of tasks. However, there are various methods that JOC contracts are procured and administered. Due to the need for negotiations on individual delivery orders and the lack of a defined scope of work at the beginning of the contract, teamwork and frequent communication are required for a successful contract. A formal Partnering process is often used in JOC to focus the parties in that direction. In addition, many JOC contracts employ a negotiated source selection procedure to choose a qualified contractor instead of using a sealed bid method. Research was conducted to examine the effectiveness of Partnering and source selection procedures to determine if their use enhances success of JOC. Thirty-five sites nationwide were surveyed to assess opinions on performance of the contract from both the owner and contractor perspectives. Areas for analysis included construction performance, administrative support, the owner-contractor relationship, and the participants' satisfaction with the contract. Analysis of survey data revealed that owners and contractors perceived advantages in the use of Partnering and source selection procedures in improving key areas of contract performance and overall satisfaction.
