Social Processes and Social Phenomena. the Chosen Problems Marlena Mirosława Kowalczyk, 2010-12

Sport in Socialist Yugoslavia Dario Brentin, Dejan Zec, 2018-09-24 The history of sport in socialist Yugoslavia is a peculiar lens through which to examine the country's social, cultural and political transformations. Sport is represented as one of the most popular and engaging cultural phenomena of social life. Sport both embodied the social dynamics of the socialist period as well as revealing questions of the everyday lives of the Yugoslav people. Ultimately, sport was closely intertwined with the country's overall destiny. This volume offers an introduction into the myriad social functions that sport served in the Yugoslav socialist project. It illustrates how sport was central to the establishment of Yugoslavia's physical and leisure culture in the early post-Second World War period, an international promotional tool for Yugoslav communists championing the ideological superiority of the 'Brotherhood and Unity' and the Non-Aligned Movement, as well as a social field in which the ideological contradictions of Yugoslav socialism became increasingly apparent. The chapters expand the existing knowledge of the processes that defined Yugoslav sport and contribute to a more nuanced understanding of socialist Yugoslavia in the years between 1945 and 1991. This book was originally published as a special issue of The International Journal of the History of Sport.

Online around the World Laura M. Steckman, Marilyn J. Andrews, 2017-05-24 Covering more than 80 countries around the world, this book provides a compelling, contemporary snapshot of how people in other countries are using the Internet, social media, and mobile apps. How do people in other countries use the social media platform Facebook differently than Americans do? What topics are discussed on the largest online forum—one in Indonesia, with more than seven million registered users? Why does Mongolia rate in the top-ten countries worldwide for peak Internet speeds? Readers of Online around the World: A Geographic Encyclopedia of the Internet, Social Media, and Mobile Apps will discover the answers to these questions and learn about people's Internet and social media preferences on six continents—outside of the online community of users within the United States. The book begins with an overview of the Internet, social media platforms, and mobile apps that chronologically examines the development of technological innovations that have made the Internet what it is today. The country-specific entries that follow the overview provide demographic information and describe specific events influenced by online communications, allowing readers to better appreciate the incredible power of online interactions across otherwise-unconnected individuals and the realities and peculiarities of how people communicate in today's fast-paced, globalized, and high-technology environment. This encyclopedia presents social media and the Internet in new light, identifying how the use of language and the specific application of human culture impacts emerging technologies and communications, dramatically affecting everything from politics to social activism, education, and censorship.

Polska klasa średnia Henryk Domański, 2012 Kilkanaście lat temu problematyka rozwoju klasy średniej nie schodziła z pierwszych stron gazet. Stała się kwestią polityczną, z postępów w jej rozwoju był rozliczany rząd. Na poziomie inicjatyw obywatelskich wyłonił się ruch na rzecz popierania klasy średniej przy nieistniejącym już tygodniku „Cash”. Kulminacyjnym punktem tego spontanicznego przedsięwzięcia było powołanie Komisji Rejestracyjnej Polska Klasa Średnia, która w 1995 roku ogłosiła, jakie kryteria przynależności trzeba spełnić, i zaczęła wydawać certyfikaty członkostwa; kandydaci musieli mieć co najmniej średni wykształcenie, samochód i miesięczne dochody powyżej 1500 zł. Dokonywało się to w atmosferze magicznej wiary w możliwości kreowania struktury politycznej i poczucia, że dzieje się coś, czego nie można zaniedbać. Mimo że entuzjazm tych pierwszych lat minął, a na pierwszy plan wysunęły się inne problemy, klasie średniej nie grozi zagrzebania w foliałach. w maju 2001 roku Unia Wolności zainaugurowała kampanię wyborczą Sejmu pod hasłem: „Silna klasa średnia to silna Polska”. Był to prawdziwie pionierski ruch, który sprawił, że „klasa średnia” zaistniała na scenie politycznej przynajmniej w roli symbolu, z nadziejami stania się głównym podmiotem elektoratu, jak w USA czy w Anglii.

Klasa, kapitał i coaching w dobie późnego kapitalizmu. Perswazja neoliberalnego zarządzania Michał Mokrzan, 2019 Przedmiotem podejmowanych w monografii analiz jest splot „klasy–kapitału–coachingu”, który jest rozpatrywany w kontekście procesu rozpowszechniania się w dobie późnego kapitalizmu idei przedsiębiorczości, odpowiedzialności indywidualnej oraz uekonomicznienia stosunków nieekonomicznych. Coaching – rozumiany jako materializacja neoliberalnych technologii zarządzania – jest praktyką materialno-symboliczną zachęcającą członków wyższych klas średnich w Polsce do podejmowania prób rozwijania form kapitału emocjonalnego (samoświadomości, postaw przedsiębiorczości i odpowiedzialności, pewności siebie oraz poczucia własnej wartości, odporności psychicznej i umiejętności zarządzania emocjami) w celu radzenia sobie z wyzwaniami stawianymi przez kapitalizm. Członkowie wyższych klas średnich, biorący udział w prowadzonych przez autora badaniach etnograficznych, budują tożsamość klasową w procesie afektywnej pracy nad sobą, inicjowanej w coachingu, która wypływa z potrzeby zyskania i/lub poszerzenia wymienionych wyżej dyspozycji emocjonalno-kognitywnych. Coaching jest narzędziem zarówno tę potrzebę zaspokajającym, jak i ją produkującym. Jest on mechanizmem konstruującym neoliberalne podmioty wyższych klas średnich, wyposażającym je nie tylko w kapitał emocjonalny, lecz także kategorie, na podstawie których sami działają i myślą o sobie oraz otaczającym świecie. Książka dowodzi, że pracę coachingową odpowiedzialną za wytwarzanie neoliberalnych podmiotów wyższych klas średnich konstituuje mechanizm retoryczny i polityczny, który dookreśla etykieta stanowiąca także drugi człon tytułu monografii: perswazja neoliberalnego urządzania.

Ryszard Kapuscinski Artur Domosławski, 2012-07-10 Reporting from such varied locations as postcolonial Africa, revolutionary Iran, the military dictatorships of Latin America and Soviet Russia, the Polish journalist and writer Ryszard Kapuscinski was one of the most influential eyewitness journalists of the twentieth century. During the Cold War, he was a dauntless investigator as well as a towering literary talent, and books such as The Emperor and Travels with Herodotus founded the new genre of 'literary reportage'. It was an achievement that brought him global renown, not to mention the uninvited attentions of the CIA. In this definitive biography, Artur Domosławski shines a new light on the personal relationships of this intensely charismatic, deeply private man, examining the intractable issue at the heart of Kapuscinski's life and work: the relationship and tension between journalism and literature. In researching this book, Domosławski, himself an award-winning foreign correspondent, enjoyed unprecedented access to Kapuscinski's private papers. The result traces his mentor's footsteps through Africa and Latin America, delves into files and archives that Kapuscinski himself examined, and records conversations with the people that he talked to in the course of his own investigations. Ryszard Kapuscinski is a meticulous, riveting portrait of a complex man of intense curiosity living at the heart of dangerous times.

Watching Si Doel Klarijn Loven, 2008-01-01 While television in today's world increasingly displays a global character, national television systems are still firmly rooted in a specific locality. But in what ways does this locality actually shape the content and performance of national television? What is the significance of local cultures and local languages in these processes of mediation? And how do the local, the national, and the global intersect in discourses of and discourse on television? Taking a critical discourse analysis perspective, Watching Si Doel investigates these and related questions in the context of contemporary Indonesia. Starting from the nationwide popularity of the local television serial Si Doel Anak Sekolahan (Educated Doel), it examines the various ways in which the national government, Indonesian television producers, and local audiences shape, interpret, and struggle over the meaning of the phrase 'national television'. In doing so, the book explores what Indonesian television at the turn of the century sounds and looks like—and, significantly, ought to sound and look like—according to those who create and control television and those who watch and interpret it. While providing insight into the production, nature, and reception of television discourse in general, this book particularly seeks to clarify the relationship between television, language, and power in late New Order and post-Soeharto Indonesia.

New Challenges in Computational Collective Intelligence Radosław Katarzyniak, Adam Janiak, 2009-08-27 Collective intelligence has become one of major research issues studied by today's and future computer science. Computational collective intelligence is understood as this form of group intellectual activity that emerges from collaboration and competition of many artificial individuals. Robotics, artificial intelligence, artificial cognition and group working try to create efficient models for collective intelligence in which it emerges from sets of actions carried out by more or less intelligent individuals. The major methodological, theoretical and practical aspects underlying computational collective intelligence are group decision making, collective action coordination, collective competition and knowledge description, transfer and integration. Obviously, the application of multiple computational technologies such as fuzzy systems, evolutionary computation, neural systems, consensus theory, knowledge representation etc. is necessary to create new forms of computational collective intelligence and support existing ones. Three subfields of application of computational technologies to support forms of collective intelligence are of special attention to us. The first one is semantic web treated as an advanced tool that increases the collective intelligence in networking environments. The second one covers social networks modeling and analysis, where social networks are this area of in which various forms of computational collective intelligence emerges in a natural way. The third subfield relates us to agent and multi-agent systems understood as this computational and modeling paradigm which is especially tailored to capture the nature of computational collective intelligence in populations of autonomous individuals.

Advanced Programming Methodologies Gianna Cioni, Andrzej Salwicki, 2014-05-10 Advanced Programming Methodologies consists of lecture demos and practical experiments from the Summer School on Advanced Programming Methodologies which took place in Rome, Italy, on September 17-24, 1987. The school focused on tools of advanced programming as well as theoretical foundations for software engineering. Problems connected with implementation and application of high-level programming languages are highlighted. Comprised of 11 chapters, this volume first looks at two software development projects at the Institute of Informatics of the University of Warsaw in Poland, with emphasis on the methodologies used in programming and implementation. The reader is then introduced to flexible specification environments; object-oriented programming; and Paragon's type hierarchies for data abstraction. Subsequent chapters focus on the inheritance rule in object-oriented programming; a functional programming approach to modularity in large software systems; database management systems; and relational algebra and fixpoint computation for logic programming implementation. The book also examines modules in high-level programming languages before concluding with a chapter devoted to storage management. This book is intended for computer programmers, undergraduate students taking various courses in programming, and advanced students of computer science.

Polin: Studies in Polish Jewry Volume 27 Glenn Dynner,Antony Polonsky,Marcin Wodziński,2014-11-14 The Kingdom of Poland had the largest concentration Jews in eastern Europe and a liberal policy towards them that engendered cultural and political movements of all sorts. Hasidic courts flourished despite the opportunities of modernization, yet modernizing maskilim similarly established institutions that influenced Jewish society in a completely different direction. Later came integrationism, Zionism, Jewish socialism, and cultural autonomy. The resulting ferment was a critical factor in shaping the modern Jewish experience.

Workers, Women, and Social Change in Poland, 1870–1939 Anna Zarnowska,2023-07-14 The studies collected here deal with social and cultural changes in Polish lands during the early phases of industrialisation, i.e. the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Attention is first given to the stabilisation of urban agglomerations and workers' communities, and the accompanying transformations in social status, family structure, and collective life and culture of the workers. An especial focus is the cultural transformations which occurred at the time of the 1905-1907 revolution in the Kingdom of Poland, incorporating it into tsarist Russia. In parallel with this, Professor Zarnowska has been concerned to examine the gender-determined inequalities of the life opportunities of women and men, and how these altered as social modernisation in Poland progressed. She looks at the changing legal and social status of women and their life chances, as well as the emergence of new social models of women's roles. Several studies are also devoted to the impact exerted by urban civilisation, as well as the growing professional activity of women upon the changes to cultural norms regulating the relations between women and men, as well as the development of women's aspirations in the family, society and culture.
