 [?] Silence within and beyond pedagogical settings Eva Alerby, 2021-09-30 This book explores the significance of silence within and beyond pedagogical contexts. Silence is a complex and multidimensional phenomenon for everyday life: since schools mirror society, it is also significant in education. While silence can be experienced in a multitude of different ways, the author reflects on whether silence itself can bear a message: is there an aspect of dialogue in silence, or is it a language all of its own? This book examines a variety of silences essential for education, examining such topics as silence and aspects of power, silent students, and the relationship between listening and silence. Drawing on a range of empirical data, the author elucidates the significance of silence in pedagogical contexts.

 [?] Ethnicity and Kinship in North American and European Literatures Silvia Schultermandl, Klaus Rieser, 2021-03-17 This edited collection applies kinship as an analytical concept to better understand the affective economies, discursive practices, and aesthetic dimensions through which cultural narratives of belonging establish a sense of intimacy and affiliation. In North American and European ethnic literatures, kinship has several social functions: negotiating diasporic belonging in and outside of the perimeters of bloodlines and genealogy; positioning queer-feminist interventions to counter ethno-nationalist narratives of belonging; challenging liberal sentimentalist narratives, such as those grafted onto the bodies of transnational adoptees; re-formulating cultural heterogeneity through interracial and interethnic kinship constellations outside either post-racial assumptions about colorblindness or celebrations of racial and ethnic pluralism. In all of these cases, kinship features as a common theme through which contemporary authors attend to challenges of conscribing individuals into inclusive, counter-hegemonic cultural narratives of belonging.

 [?] Putting Body and Soul Together Virginia Wiles, Alexandra R. Brown, Graydon F. Snyder, 1997 Robin Scroggs, of the Union Seminary, New York, has persistently communicated a sense of connection between New Testament interpretation and the everyday lives and social needs and contexts of real human beings. He has urged interpreters to put body and soul together again by moving beyond an exegetical method that operates as if believers had minds and spirits unconnected with their individual and corporate lives to one that attends to the (dynamic) interaction between social reality and theological assertions. This book reflects in various ways the kinds of connections social condition to theological assertion, context text, text to reader to which Professor Scroggs has dedicated his efforts as a scholar, teacher and theologian. The essays fall into four groups: (1) exploring the social worlds of the New Testament - Graydon F. Snyder, Pamela Eisenbaum, Sara Winter, Cameron Afzal, and Agneta Enermalm; (2) reading the Jewish context of early Christianity - Deirdre Good, Celia Deutsch, Andre LaCocque, Burton J. Visotzky, Gary Gilbert, and Claudia Setzer; (3) understanding Paul - J. Louis Martyn, Michael Winger, Calvin J. Roetzel, Frederick W. Weidmann, and Robert Jewett; (4) interpreting the New Testament for a new day - Daniel Patter, Vincent L. Wimbush, and Virginia Wiles. Virginia Wiles is Assistant Professor of Religion, Muhlenberg College, Allentown, PA. Alexandra Brown is Associate Professor of Religion at Washington and Lee University, Lexingtonton, VA. Graydon F. Snyder is Professor of New Testament, Chicago Theological Seminary.
