A universal theme throughout the book is the evolution and taxonomic distribution of each type of eye, and the roles of different eye types in the behaviour and ecology of the animals that possess them. In comparing the specific capabilities of eyes, it considers the factors that lead to good resolution of detail and the ability to function under a wide range of light conditions. Great Cities Through Travelers' Eyes Peter Furtado, 2019-09-03 A wide-ranging anthology of travelers' accounts in thirty-eight of the world's most fascinating cities, from ancient times through the twentieth century. This entertaining new anthology includes travelers' tales from thirty-eight cities spread over six continents, ranging from Beijing to Berlin, Cairo to Chicago, and Rio to Rome. The volume features commentators across the millennia, including the great travelers of ancient times, such as Greek geographer Strabo; those who undertook extensive journeys in the medieval world, not least Marco Polo; courageous women such as Isabella Bird and Freya Stark; and enterprising writers and journalists, including Mark Twain. We see the work of famous travelers, but also stories by ordinary people who found themselves involved in remarkable situations, like the medieval Chinese abbot who was shown around the Sainte-Chapelle in Paris by the king of France. Some of the writers seek to provide a straightforward, accurate description of all they have seen, while others concentrate on their subjective experiences of the city and encounters with the inhabitants. Introduced and contextualized by bestselling historian Peter Furtado, each account provides both a vivid portrait of a distant place and time and an insight into those who journeyed there. The result is a book that delves into the splendors and stories that exist beyond conventional guidebooks and websites.

How to Use Your Eyes James Elkins,2007-08-20 James Elkins's How to Use Your Eyes invites us to look at--and maybe to see for the first time--the world around us, with breathtaking results. Here are the common artifacts of life, often misunderstood and largely ignored, brought into striking focus. With the discerning eye of a painter and the zeal of a detective, Elkins explores complicated things like mandalas, the periodic table, or a hieroglyph, remaking the world into a treasure box of observations--eccentric, ordinary, marvelous.

The Most Beautiful Thing I've Seen Lisa Gungor,2018-06-26 Lisa Gungor thought she knew her own story: small-town girl meets boy in college and they blissfully walk down the aisle into happily ever after. Their Christian faith was their lens and foundation for everything—their marriage, their music, their dreams for the future. But as their dreams began to come true, she began to wonder if her religion was really representative of the ‘good news’ she had been taught. She never expected the questions to lead as far as they did when her husband told her he no longer believed in God. The death of a friend, the unraveling of relationships and career, the loss of a worldview, and the birth of a baby girl with two heart defects all led Lisa to a tumultuous place; one of depression and despair. And it was there that her perspective on everything changed. The Most Beautiful Thing I’ve Seen tells the story of what can happen when you dare to let go of what you think to be true; to shift the kaleidoscope and see new colors and dimension by way of broken pieces. Lisa’s eloquent, soul-stirring memoir brings you to a music stage before thousands of fans and a front porch where two people whisper words that scare them to the core. It is the story of how doubt can spark the beginning of deeper faith; how a baby born with a broken heart can bring love and healing to the hearts of many, and ultimately, how the hardest experience in life often ends up saving us.

These Beautiful Brown Eyes Nancy McCreary, 2002 Lauryne Scott, an attractive insurance underwriter and consummate daydreamer, kept a fifteen-month journal of her life and exploits. After surviving the aftermath of cocaine-addicted, Harvard-educated Derrick, she tumbles into the arms of Kelly, a charming blue-collar fella with a complicated past. The result? Not the easygoing fantasy she envisioned. To further complicate things, several people enter Lauryne's life, causing her to ask, "Should I have... ..a magnetic, beautiful man who's in tune with everything I stand for--but he's Kelly's best friend?" ...a successful businessman with everything going for him: Looks, money, and charm--but he's my cousin?" ...a gorgeous pro football player who worships the ground I walk on--but he's unavailable?" ...a fetching surgeon who makes me feel good all over--but she's a woman?" ...a handsome, sought-after local sports hero who's got it going on--but he's still in high school?" Helping Lauryne sort through her love life and the crazy coincidences it seems to bring are her quirky sistahfriends. When tragedy strikes, Lauryne is forced to rebuild her life and self-worth. Emerging as an unfeeling fraction of herself, she juggles her suitors and coincidental circumstances. Will she ever recover and find true love--and sense of self?
