2012 RC Technology Training Series: Introduction to Brushless Power RC Short Course Truck RCPress,2011-10-11 Stadium Trucks are primarily designed for jumps and off-road racing, while Short Course Trucks are made to be extremely durable (to absorb contact from other vehicles better than traditional RC trucks) for frequent bashing. Their design concepts are totally different. Simply put, a short course truck is for jumping AND bashing. To protect against impact from bashing, there has to be protection around the car body. The tradeoff is weight. To sustain the weight, the power system must be able to deliver enough torque. This training book has been developed from the ground up for beginners who know little about the latest electric power RC technology. As part of our RC Technology Self-Paced Training Series, this book gives an introduction to the BRUSHLESS TRUCK architecture. The primary goal of this book is to explain the various brushless RC technical concepts in very simple language. We believe that this book and its support materials have everything you need for an informative, interesting, challenging and entertaining RC educational experience. As you read this book, if you have questions, send an e-mail to editor@rcpress.com; we will respond promptly. You are encouraged to visit our Web site, www.rcpress.com, regularly. We use the Web site to keep our readers and industry clients informed of the latest news on RCPRESS publications and services.

Gold from Iron Triumph Books,2024-01-09 A daring and improbable story of Olympic gold from blue-collar origins Every summer in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, Nick Baumgartner went to work pouring concrete, taking on the harsh physical conditions of the construction trade to support his professional snowboarding dreams come winter. To limit travel time while he trained for the Olympics an hour and a half away from home, he lived out of a crusty, old construction van, parked anywhere he could find a spot. And in 2022, after 17 years of failure— all the crashes, injuries, and personal setbacks— he won Olympic gold at 40 years old, becoming the oldest Olympic snowboard medalist in history. In this candid and affable memoir, Baumgartner details his journey from a one-stoplight town to the podium in Beijing. Tales of crisscrossing the globe on the racing circuit and competing in four Olympic Games sit comfortably alongside Baumgartner's reflections as a single parent and his affectionate portrayal of Iron River, Michigan, the community that raised him. More than just a sports story, Gold from Iron is a tale of massive dreams, constant sacrifice, and the lessons that can be learned racing down an ice-covered course on a carbon fiber board.

Trap Responses of Flying Insects R. C. Muirhead-Thompson,2012-12-02 Insect trapping is a basic field research tool for many biologists, whether they are studying insect pests, disease vectors or insect ecology for its own sake. Any field entomologist contemplating a new insect trapping program or looking to improve or develop an existing scheme will benefit from this broad review of flying insect traps, in which the author draws on a wide variety of methods used by different research projects from all over the world. Over the years a great many traps have been developed and endlessly modified to suit particular species, habitats, and research requirements. In virtually every case the design of the trap interacts with the specific behavior of the insects involved to bias trap efficiency. In addition, the limited dialogue between workers in different subject disciplines and habitats has caused a shortage of new information available to field entomologists as a whole. Key Features * Describes and evaluates the main methods of trapping flying insects * Brings together results from agricultural/forest/pest studies and those from medical entomology
