Age as Disease David-Jack Fletcher,2021-03-21 Age as Disease explores the foundations of gerontology as a discipline to examine the ways contemporary society constructs old age as a disease-state. Framed throughout as 'gerontological hygiene', this book examines contemporary regimes, strategies and treatment protocols deployed throughout Australia, the United States, and the United Kingdom. The book deploys critical cultural theories such as biopolitics, somatechnics, ethics, and governmentality to examine how anti-aging technologies operate to problematise the aging body as always-already diseased, and how these come to constitute a movement of abolition, named here as 'gerontological hygiene'.

Fractales De Dios Kathy J. Forti,Phd,2014-10-27 A partir de la experiencia cercana a la muerte de una mujer, se desarrolla una sorprendente historia que explora las profundidades de la creación del hombre y el proyecto mismo de su creación. La sicóloga clínica, la Dra. Kathy Forti, nos comparte su experiencia en el año 2003, cuando su corazón se detuvo y fue ayudada por seres de luz multidimensionales para que volviese a la Tierra. La meta de estos seres es traer la sanación a nuestro mundo. Con sus nuevos Guías, ella investigó el mundo de las físicas y la geometría sagrada, con ello aprendió cómo cierta información matemática clave puede afectar nuestra consciencia y nuestras células. Las experiencias místicas de la Dra. Forti cambiarán para siempre sus conceptos sobre la vida, la sanación y el verdadero potencial del hombre para llegar a un cambio evolutivo. Esta profunda y reveladora historia narra el propósito de la esencia de nuestras almas, para que podamos encontrar una mayor conexión con la Fuente Divina que se encuentra en todos los seres vivos.

Water in Biomechanical and Related Systems Adam Gadomski,2021-04-21 The contributed volume puts emphasis on a superior role of water in (bio)systems exposed to a mechanical stimulus. It is well known that water plays an extraordinary role in our life. It feeds mammalian or other organism after distributing over its whole volume to support certain physiological and locomotive (friction-adhesion) processes to mention but two of them, both of extreme relevance. Water content, not only in the mammalian organism but also in other biosystems such as whether those of soil which is equipped with microbiome or the ones pertinent to plants, having their own natural network of water vessels, is always subjected to a force field. The decisive force field applied to the biosystems makes them biomechanically agitated irrespective of whether they are subjected to external or internal force-field conditions. It ought to be noted that the decisive mechanical factor shows up in a close relation with the space-and-time scale in which it is causing certain specific phenomena to occur. The scale problem, emphasizing the range of action of gravitational force, thus the millimeter or bigger force vs. distance scale, is supposed to enter the so-called macroscale approach to water transportation through soil or plants' roots system. It is merely related to a percolation problem, which assumes to properly inspect the random network architecture assigned to the biosystems invoked. The capillarity conditions turn out to be of prior importance, and the porous-medium effect has to be treated, and solved in a fairly approximate way. The deeper the scale is penetrated by a force-exerting and hydrated agent the more non-gravitational force fields manifest. This can be envisaged in terms of the corresponding thermodynamic (non-Newtonian) forces, and the phenomena of interest are mostly attributed to suitable changes of the osmotic pressure. In low Reynolds number conditions, thus in the (sub)micrometer distance-scale zone, they are related with the corresponding viscosity changes of the aqueous, e.g. cytoplasmatic solutions, of semi-diluted and concentrated (but also electrolytic) characteristics. For example, they can be observed in articulating systems of mammals, in their skin, and to some extent, in other living beings, such as lizards, geckos or even insects. Through their articulating devices an external mechanical stimulus is transmitted from macro- to nanoscale, wherein the corresponding osmotic-pressure conditions apply. The content of the proposed work can be distributed twofold. First, the biomechanical mammalian-type (or, similar) systems with extraordinary relevance of water for their functioning will be presented, also including a presentation of water itself as a key physicochemical system/medium. Second, the suitably chosen related systems, mainly of soil and plant addressing provenience, will be examined thoroughly. As a common denominator of all of them, it is proposed to look at their hydrophobic and/or (de)hydration effects, and how do they impact on their basic mechanical (and related, such as chemo-mechanical or piezoelectric, etc.) properties. An additional tacit assumption employed throughout the monograph concerns statistical scalability of the presented biosystems which is equivalent to take for granted a certain similarity between local and global system's properties, mostly those of mechanical nature. The presented work's chapters also focus on biodiversity and ecological aspects in the world of animals and plants, and the related systems. The chapters' contents underscore the bioinspiration as the key landmark of the proposed monograph.

Fractals of God Kathy J Forti Ph D, 2014-05-16 The author recounts her near-death experience, during which she received new Guides, and her experimentation with resonance therapy machines (invented by Royal Rife) and fractal-producing software, which ultimately led to the invention of the Trinfinity8 technology she now uses in her psychotherapy practice.

THIS IS FOR YOU Barry Sadleir, 2012-01-27 Gran is a powerful, intergalactic being who cares deeply for the Earth and the people upon it. His words address the dramatic changes that are occurring on Earth now. The most visible evidence of these is the political and economic upheavals as well as the great number of natural disasters. Gran explains that what is really taking place is an evolutionary step in the nature of our planet and in humanity. Our evolution will mean less involvement in the physical and a turning inward to learn more of our hearts, minds and souls. Gran says our true nature is love which is the nature of the universe and we must reconnect with this. The result will be a world that is far more caring and where wealth is distributed more evenly. This is not a book that provides comfortable answers to difficult questions. Instead, it urges us to turn within to discover our own personal truth. This is what we can trust completely and what will guide us safely and harmoniously through the difficult period we currently face. Help and guidance are always there for us. Gran's very words help to heal us which in turn helps to heal the Earth.

Near-Death Experiences, The Rest of the Story P.M.H. Atwater, 2009-01-09 Real-life stories of out-of-body experiences, encountering a special light, greeters from the afterlife, life reviews, tunnels, and 360-degree vision--are all part of this intriguing look at near-death experiences (NDEs) by one of the world's noted authorities, P.M.H. Atwater. Atwater shares her amazing findings, based on her sessions with more than 4,000 adults and children and over 40 years of research; a breathtaking culmination to a successful and controversial career. Atwater examines every aspect of the near-death phenomenon: from first-hand accounts of survivors experiencing flash forwards, waking up in morgues, and developing psychic abilities, to stunning cases of groups experiencing NDEs together. Atwater offers statistics from her findings to show the distinctive common patterns that people experience, as well as the common aftereffects and how it changed their lives. She also explores the physiological and spiritual changes that result from near-death experiences and looks at the connections between the NDE experience and what is often called "enlightenment. Near Death Experiences not only provides a glimpse of what lies beyond the veil of our temporal existence, but points to what--or who--we really are and what we are meant to be.

Future Memory P. M. H. Atwater, 2013-01-01 There are many different paths to the future. According to P.M.H. Atwater, one of the foremost investigators into near-death experiences, future memory allows people to live life in advance and remember the experience in detail when something triggers that memory. Atwater explains the unifying, and permanent, effect of that experience is a brain a brain shift which she believes may be at the very core of existence itself. In Future Memory, Atwater shows that structural and chemical changes are occurring in our brains, changes indicative of higher evolutionary development. This mind-blowing exploration of a mind-blowing topic traces her findings about this phenomenon and explores its implications for the individual and for society. Future Memory: Provides a series of steps to assist in developing future memory Explores new models of time, existence, and consciousness Presents an in-depth study of the brain shift and how it can be experienced Offers an extensive appendix and resource manual Future Memory is an important step in understanding the relationship between human perception and reality.

Grandogma for Sacred Village Earth Cynthia Kay Castle, 2018-07-13 This is about a spiritual poetic journey of life's hard-knock detours, which explodes gifts after near-death experiences. The awakened human, being the poet within all of us, releases the response that enable heroes in families and neighbors to inspire an Eweniverse, where human beings are helping to build a sacred village earth.

Tantra Yoga (Sacred Knowledge of Self, God and Universe) Setyo Hajar Dewantoro, 2022-01-01 Tantra Yoga is actually a spiritual teaching that was developed based on a deep understanding of the reality of the self, the universe and God. This teaching guides spiritual learners to be able to step into Divine Consciousness, with the estuary of liberation of the soul from all the roots of sorrow. In Tantra Yoga, there are systems and methods that lead to the purification of the soul from all karmic residues, bad traces of trauma and mental wounds, angkara murka, illusions and entanglements of inharmonious energies. Unfortunately, a lot of confusion has developed regarding Tantra. In the West, there are many neo-tantras that make sexuality the axis of teaching. This triggers people to associate Tantra with sexuality. In other parts of the Earth, such as in Nusantara, Tantra is often associated with brutal rituals that are considered as the application of the teachings of Panca Makara. Legendary figures from Nusantara such as Adityawarman, Sri Kertanegara and Calon Arang are often mentioned as practitioners of Tantra, specifically Bhairawi Tantra, with the habit of holding following rituals that undoubtedly make people in the modern era shake their heads: eating corpses, binge alcoholic drinking and sex parties, or performing dances. mystic naked in the grave. This book was actually written to answer all the confusion and at the same time straighten the slander against the legendary figures of Nusantara. In this book, Tantric practices are explained which are actually divine, simple and effective, to lead to enlightenment and a life full of happiness. Tantric practice includes dhyana, pranayama, samadhi, mantra, yantra and others. The author of this book, Setyo Hajar Dewantoro is a practitioner of Tantra as a path of stillness mindfulness that leads to connectedness as well as and great oneness with Sang Hyang Atman/True Self Divine Self and Brahman/God Almighty. The readers are invited to dive into Tantra as a teaching of spiritual sciences as well as and a holistic method for the transformation of the soul towards purity, wisdom and complete perfect empowerment.

Extraordinary Healing, Ordinary Miracle Patricia French Crilly, Patricia French Crilly R N, 2015-08-24 Extraordinary Healing, Ordinary Miracle: Choosing WellBeing Over Fighting Cancer offers a new perspective on healing. Meet Patricia French Crilly aka Nurse Crilly as she takes you along on her healing odyssey. Her extraordinary healing from invasive ovarian cancer was not a random or spontaneous occurrence but rather came about through a deliberate intention to heal herself. What puts this in a realm of miracles is that her healing took place in the space of two weeks between learning of her diagnosis and having surgery. Despite sharing with all of her doctors her intention to get rid of it, all but one, her surgeon, were left scratching their heads in disbelief of the outcome. Many tried to come up with a rational explanation ranging from misdiagnosis to extremely good luck to that old standby, spontaneous remission, the go to explanation when all other possibilities have been debunked. There was just one problem with that theory in this case and that was as Nurse Crilly said, There was nothing spontaneous about this healing. I worked my butt off Combining traditional medicine with the Alternative Holistic Healing Arts, Nurse Crilly was able to achieve balance and harmony of her mind, body and spirit creating an environment that allowed her body to use its own innate ability to heal itself. This is an ordinary miracle that we are all capable of achieving and receiving. Part I chronicles her day to day journey through diagnosis, surgery and recovery with all of its complications and setbacks. Part II, is methodically deconstructed to uncover some surprising insights that illuminated her path back to WellBeing. Among them were the discovery of three pillars that served as the foundation for what Nurse Crilly calls her Healing Triad. She shares how she overcame the tsunami of fear that accompanied her cancer diagnosis and how she completely and radically changed her self-limiting belief system that cancer was a death sentence to one that allowed her to embrace the belief that complete healing was possible. She took back her power that was stolen by or given away to the cancer, the medical traditionalists and well-meaning friends and family whose own fear around cancer was disempowering. Nurse Crilly is funny, clever and courageous and shares her story with a wicked wit and wisdom. And, by the way, the language she uses to talk about cancer creates a whole new paradigm shift by completely altering the cancer lexicon that we all use by default without ever giving it much thought as to its significance or meaning...until now. For example, she does not refer to herself as cancer free any more than being flu free or measles free choosing not to be identified by a disease she no longer has. She simply states that she is well. If you or a loved one is dealing with cancer, no matter where you are in the course of the disease, you will find within the pages of this book, inspiration, hope and even a chuckle or two. This may not be the only book you read about healing cancer but it should be the first one you read.

More Than Saying I Love You Andrea Goodman Weiner, 2011-01-30 Self-love is not the same as being self-centered, egotistical, self-righteousness or narcissistic. What would it look like to have a generation of children that practiced self-love? They would be caring and loving towards others as well as themselves. Being able to “love others as ourselves” or as the Bible says “love your neighbor as yourself” comes from practicing self-love. They would appreciate their talents and be accepting of who they are. By being accepting and compassionate towards themselves, they can in turn be the same towards their friends, classmates, siblings, and parents. Their self-worth or high self-esteem becomes a by-product of their self-love.

The Woman Who Would Be King Kara Cooney, 2014-10-14 An engrossing biography of the longest-reigning female pharaoh in Ancient Egypt and the story of her audacious rise to power. Hatshepsut—the daughter of a general who usurped Egypt's throne—was expected to bear the sons who would legitimize the reign of her father's family. Her failure to produce a male heir, however, paved the way for her improbable rule as a cross-dressing king. At just over twenty, Hatshepsut out-manuevered the mother of Thutmose III, the infant king, for a seat on the throne, and ascended to the rank of pharaoh. Shrewdly operating the levers of power to emerge as Egypt's second female pharaoh, Hatshepsut was a master strategist, cloaking her political power plays in the veil of piety and sexual reinvention. She successfully negotiated a path from the royal nursery to the very pinnacle of authority, and her reign saw one of Ancient Egypt's most prolific building periods. Constructing a rich narrative history using the artifacts that remain, noted Egyptologist Kara Cooney offers a remarkable interpretation of how Hatshepsut rapidly but methodically consolidated power—and why she fell from public favor just as quickly. The Woman Who Would Be King traces the unconventional life of an almost-forgotten pharaoh and explores our complicated reactions to women in power.

Myth and Audiovisual Creation Jose Manuel Losada, Antonella Lipscomb, 2019-09-16 Our aim is to understand if myth has been directly affected by the digital revolution and to what extent it has retained its original essence or whether it has mutated to new forms. These articles tackle films and television series that devote a considerable part to the impact of transcendence in our lives. They show that myth continues to be a particularly suitable tool for the knowledge of our society and of ourselves.

Indonesien gestern und heute Horst H. Geerken, Annette Bräker, 2016-08-01 Horst H. Geerken lebte von 1963 bis 1981 in Indonesien. Neben seiner beruflichen Tätigkeit für einen großen deutschen Industriekonzern bereiste er intensiv große Teile des riesigen indonesischen Archipels. Nach 1981 besuchte er jährlich – nach 1993 zusammen mit seiner Lebensgefährtin Annette Bräker – das Land. Annette Bräker kam bereits in jungen Jahren mit Südostasien in Kontakt. Ihr Vater war Orientalist und sie durfte ihn, beziehungsweise ihre Eltern, auf mancher Forschungsreise begleiten. Dabei lernte sie besonders Indonesien lieben. Annette Bräkers Studium der Malaiologie, der Vergleichenden Religionswissenschaft und der Orientalischen Kunstgeschichte verband sie besonders eng mit Südostasien. Beide – Annette Bräker, wie auch Horst H. Geerken – gelten als Kenner von Land, Kultur und Menschen Südasiens, aber besonders von Indonesien. Horst H. Geerken veröffentlichte bereits mehrere einschlägige Werke mit historischen Fakten über Indonesien, wie ‚Der Ruf des Geckos‘, ‚A Gecko for Luck‘ oder ‚A Magic Gecko‘. Das letzte Werk ist eine zweibändige Dokumentation über den Einfluss des Dritten Reichs auf die Unabhängigkeitsbewegung in Niederländisch Indien bis zum Erreichen der endgültigen Unabhängigkeit Indonesiens durch Präsident Soekarno. Das Buch hat den Titel ‚Hitlers Griff nach Asien‘. Alle diese Bücher haben den guten Ruf von Horst H. Geerken als Kenner der Region nicht nur in Deutschland und Indonesien, weiter gefestigt. Sämtliche Bücher sind auf Deutsch, Englisch und in Bahasa Indonesia erschienen. Annette Bräker stand Horst H. Geerken immer beratend zur Seite. Das vorliegende Buch besticht durch amüsante Reiseerlebnisse in dem riesigen indonesischen Archipel in der Zeit von 1964 bis heute. Als menschlich heitere, ja humorvolle Lektüre ist dieses Buch besonders empfehlenswert.

The Union of Isis and Thoth Normandi Ellis,Nicki Scully,2015-11-17 An initiatic guide to temple construction on the spiritual and physical planes

- Details the initiations for consecrating yourself as a divine vessel
- Guides you in building a sacred inner temple for connecting with the gods of Egypt
- Delivers shamanic journeys and initiations on ascension, shamanic death and renewal, soul retrieval and healing, multidimensional realities, and more

Deep within each of us lives a primal memory of a time when the natural world was recognized as divine and our temples were built from sacred materials enlivened through magic. Temples were not places you visited once a week; they were centers of community, divine work, healing, and wisdom, places where Heaven and Earth meet. This union of Heaven and Earth--the sacred temple--is also a union of Thoth and Isis: the Egyptian god of wisdom and the creative cosmic force and the Egyptian goddess of civilizing knowledge. Their relationship established the celestial teachings on Earth, for Thoth taught Isis all the mysteries and magic she knows and Isis acted as Thoth's instrument to deliver the teachings in a form humanity could use. In this initiatic guide to temple building on the spiritual and physical planes, Normandi Ellis and Nicki Scully explain how to create a communal spiritual structure for connecting with the ancient Egyptian pantheon as well as how to consecrate yourself and become a vessel suitable for divine wisdom and a home for your personal gods. The authors detail the construction, shamanic visioning, and ritual consecration of a Moon Temple dedicated to Thoth. They explore teachings that help you develop relationships with the Egyptian neteru and realize your place within the family of the Egyptian pantheon. They guide you as you create your inner heart temple, the adytum, a safe place in which to receive guidance and access your higher spiritual bodies and oracular gifts. They provide shamanic journeys and initiations on ascension, shamanic death and renewal, soul retrieval and healing, multidimensional realities, and more. By creating a sacred temple within and without, we each can take part in the union of Isis and Thoth and restore the magic of the Egyptian mysteries to our time.
