Women in Love D. H. Lawrence, 1987-05-21 Seen by Lawrence as his most accomplished book, but subject to the initial prudery and incomprehension that met most of his fiction, Women in Love examines the regenerative and destructive aspects of human passion, as illustrated by its depiction of Ursula and Gudrun Brangwen - who first appeared in The Rainbow - and their relationships with Gerald Crich and Rupert Birkin. Set against the backdrop of a world consuming itself in war, the novel creates an instructive vision of humanity's dance with life and death. This text is the famous first Women in Love, the unexpurgated version preferred by Lawrence himself, which was rejected by every publisher because of the banning of The Rainbow in 1915. More positive in tone than the revised version published in his lifetime, with different central relationships and a radically different ending, it is now viewed by many as Lawrence's masterpiece.--BOOK JACKET.

Women in Love David Herbert Lawrence, 2022-12-02 Women in Love is a novel by British author D. H. Lawrence published in 1920. It is a sequel to his earlier novel The Rainbow (1915), and follows the continuing loves and lives of the Brangwen sisters, Gudrun and Ursula. Gudrun Brangwen, an artist, pursues a destructive relationship with Gerald Crich, an industrialist. Lawrence contrasts this pair with the love that develops between Ursula and Rupert Birkin, an alienated intellectual who articulates many opinions associated with the author. The emotional relationships thus established are given further depth and tension by an unadmitted homoerotic attraction between Gerald and Rupert. The novel ranges over the whole of British society at the time of the First World War and eventually ends high up in the snows of the Swiss Alps. As with most of Lawrence's works, Women in Love caused controversy over its sexual subject matter. One early reviewer said of it, I do not claim to be a literary critic, but I know dirt when I smell it, and here is dirt in heaps, festering, putrid heaps which smell to high Heaven.

The Apocalypse of Ruairi Roe Mary McGowan,2005 On the thirtieth anniversary of his parents' deaths when he was seven years old, Ruairi Roes does what he always does on this day - he takes out a photo of his mother and makes a wish that he will see her one more time. On this anniversary God grants it. Ruairi falls asleep. A little girl leads him to a place called the depository where the angel

Sirreal is waiting to meet him. At the top of the building is the library, guarded by the Keeper Bookbook, which contains all the Books of Life of each of the Inhabitants. Seeing Ruairi there they rebel and seek out their own Book of Life. They tear the waxen seals off, unleashing their whole life stories as Ruairi planned them. However, some of them abandon their lives when they read the final pages and return to their rooms in the Depository. Others such as the dwarfs decide not to read the last pages and go on a quest to find a place called The Red Pavilion, traveling through strange towns such as Morbeg Dorbeg and its Parliament of Hats, the country of the Belly Rumlbers, Colonel Bombois and the Rusty Knight, and Obscuranta where decent souls are persecuted, and skeletons are partially re-fleshed to make their spirits suffer, and, finally, imprisonment in the City of the Jinn. At the same time Ruairi is being shown terrible visions as Bellybulb the devil, battles to deceive and discourage him on his journey. Only when the dwarfs fall into the Pool of the Spirits where Ruairi meets his mother is the real meaning of the Red Pavilion revealed and Ruairi's apocalypse is ended.
