Paleogeographic Evolution and Non-glacial Eustasy, Northern South America James Lawrence Pindell, Charles L. Drake, 1998 Isolation of the eustatic components of relative sea levels holds potential for regional and global correlation. The papers in this title assess the tectonic-depositional evolution and relative sea-level history of exposed sections of the Northern South American Cretaceous. Results suggest stable short-term sea levels. This work holds important implications for oil exploration in Northern South America as well as the US Western Interior Seaway and the Gulf Coast.

Grasp Sanjay Sarma, Luke Yoquinto, 2021-08-10 How do we learn? And how can we learn better? In this groundbreaking look at the science of learning, Sanjay Sarma, head of Open Learning at MIT, shows how we can harness this knowledge to discover our true potential. Drawing from his own experience as an educator as well as the work of researchers and innovators at MIT and beyond, in Grasp, Sarma explores the history of modern education, tracing the way in which traditional classroom methods—lecture, homework, test, repeat—became the norm and showing why things need to change. The book takes readers across multiple frontiers, from fundamental neuroscience to cognitive psychology and beyond, as it considers the future of learning. It introduces scientists who study forgetting, exposing it not as a simple failure of memory but as a critical weapon in our learning arsenal. It examines the role curiosity plays in promoting a state of “readiness to learn” in the brain (and its troublesome twin, “unreadiness to learn”). And it reveals how such ideas are being put into practice in the real world, such as at unorthodox new programs like Ad Astra, located on the SpaceX campus. Along the way, Grasp debunks long-held views such as the noxious idea of “learning styles,” equipping readers with practical tools for absorbing and retaining information across a lifetime of learning.

Agricultural Policies in Emerging and Transition Economies 2000 OECD, 2000-07-24 This eighth edition of Agricultural Policies in Emerging and Transition economies presents the latest available data on agricultural policies and support in emerging and transition economies and analyzes interactions between OECD member countries policies and those of emerging/transition economies.
