Dog and Friends Emma Dodd,2017-08-22 Dog barks 'woof woof' as he runs excitedly across the grass early one morning to join his farmyard friends. 'Cock a doodle doo' cries Rooster, as he wakes up and greets the day. The cows say 'moo moo' in reply. Piggy squeals 'oink oink' and the sheep bleat 'baa baa'. In fact, it all gets a bit too noisy for Dog, who covers his ears as he tries to get a bit of peace and quiet! As the sun begins to set, Owl hoots 'twit-a-woo'. It must be time for Dog to return home for his supper. His owner Vicky raps 'clack clack' on a plate with a wooden spoon to get his attention - that's the best sound in the world to Dog! Finally, at bedtime, Mouse whispers a little goodnight squeak. Goodnight, Mouse! Sleep well, Dog! With appealing images to look at and to talk about, this book is a wonderful aid to learning that little ones will want to come back to time and time again

Inside of a Dog Alexandra Horowitz,2010-02-18 As an unabashed dog lover, Alexandra Horowitz is naturally curious about what her dog thinks and what she knows. As a cognitive scientist she is intent on understanding the minds of animals who cannot say what they know or feel. This is a fresh look at the world of dogs -- from the dog's point of view. The book introduces the reader to the science of the dog -- their perceptual and cognitive Abilities -- and uses that introduction to draw a picture of what it might be like to be a dog. It answers questions no other dog book can -- such as: What is a dog's sense of time? Does she miss me? Want friends? Know when she's been bad? Horowitz's journey, and the insights she uncovered from studying her own dog, Pumpernickel, allowed her to understand her dog better, and appreciate her more through that understanding. The reader will be able to do the same with their own dog. This is not another dog training book. Instead, Inside of a Dog will allow dog owners to look at their pets' behaviour in a different, and revealing light, enabling them to understand their dogs and enjoy their relationship even more.

Making a Drama out of a Crisis Tommy Donbavand,2009-04-21 It's every teacher's worst nightmare: starting a new school year to discover a classroom full of little demons. No matter what you try, they simply will not behave. How can this situation be resolved? The answer is through a dedicated behaviour management programme that includes the pupils, and not simply a system of tips and tricks to get pupils to quieten down for an hour or two. And there is no better way to include all pupils - no matter what their skill level or abilities - than through drama. This book contains dozens of unique drama exercises and games that can be used right across the primary age range to calm tempers, stop restlessness and regain the attention of unruly pupils. Exercises and games include The Hamster's Underpants, which is designed to stop fidgeting instantly among primary school pupils, and The Bottle Ale Rascal, which puts an end to rudeness and bad language in the classroom once and for all. Focusing on everyday areas of classroom conduct such as fighting, jealousy, concentration, bad language and lapses of attention, this book is packed with tried and tested theatre based games and exercises. Teachers are able to use these with little or no preparation time. The outcome will help modify students' behaviour using exercises which readily fit with the new UK Primary Strategy. The revised literacy strategy has a particular focus on speaking and listening and this resource offers sound advice about where to turn for help. Issues such as more serious behavioural issues, such as ADHD, are also tackled in depth. Whether they need to manage unruly pupils or just work more effectively with their class as a whole, the exercises presented here will give teachers plenty of scope to work drama into their lessons. If your students misbehave, don't make a mountain out of a molehill - make a drama out of a crisis! Watch Tommy Donbavand talk about his book here.
