Skip Ad In 5 Gordon Torr,Faisal Ahmed,2018-11-10 The Chief Marketing Officer has never had it so good. Or so bad. Just as data, technology and real-time insights have made it possible to connect, measure and adjust brand messaging at every point of the customer journey, ad-skipping is teaching the same customers to ignore it - and ad-blocking is enabling them to avoid it entirely.The CMO's paradox won't be resolved by the traditional tools of brand planning, nor by doubling down on digital surveillance and manipulation.Now a digital maverick and a seasoned creative director have combined their experience and knowledge of the world's biggest brands to put forward a radical alternative.Outlined in five brief chapters, their phenomenological model reveals that the fastest growing businesses are succeeding by removing the physical, emotional and informational friction that currently intervenes between buyers and sellers - in some cases by facilitating purchase and delivery - but increasingly by removing the kind of brand noise that is turning the expected customer response of attraction very suddenly to repulsion.The ad-blocker's guide to brand planning is timely, important - and unskippable.About the authors: Faisal Ahmed is a digital trailblazer who continues to defy categorisation. He has advised video game companies, Premier League football clubs, pharmaceutical corporates and the UK government, among many others. Faisal co-authored the definitive guide to digital marketing in healthcare, and is leading the fight for greater diversity in UK and global advertising. Gordon Torr is a former global creative director of J. Walter Thompson, a part-time brand planner, a part-time novelist, an international conference speaker and the author of Managing Creative People.

International Arbitration: Law and Practice in Switzerland Gabrielle Kaufmann-Kohler,Antonio Rigozzi,2015-10-22 This book expounds the theory of international arbitration law. It explains in easily accessible terms all the fundamentals of arbitration, from separability of the arbitration agreement to competence-competence over procedural autonomy, finality of the award, and many other concepts. It does so with a focus on international arbitration law and jurisprudence in Switzerland, a global leader in the field. With a broader reach than a commentary of Chapter 12 of the Swiss

Private International Law Act, the discussion contains numerous references to comparative law and its developments in addition to an extensive review of the practice of international tribunals. Written by two well-known specialists - Professor Kaufmann-Kohler being one of the leading arbitrators worldwide and Professor Rigozzi one of the foremost experts in sports arbitration - the work reflects many years of experience in managing arbitral proceedings involving commercial, investment, and sports disputes. This expertise is the basis for the solutions proposed to resolve the many practical issues that may arise in the course of an arbitration. It also informs the discussion of the arbitration rules addressed in the book, from the ICC Arbitration Rules to the Swiss Rules of International Arbitration, the CAS Code, and the UNCITRAL Rules. While the book covers commercial and sports arbitrations primarily, it also applies to investment arbitrations conducted under rules other than the ICSID framework.
