Masato Kobayashi

East and West Kazuhiko Yoshida, Brent Harmon Vine, 2009 Papers from an international conference held on Sept. 11-12, 2007, at Kyoto University.

Iranian Languages and Texts from Iran and Turan R. E. Emmerick, 2007 This Memorial Volume is dedicated to one of the most prolific and renowned scholars in the field of Iranian Studies, the late Professor Ronald E. Emmerick, who held the chair of Iranian Studies in Hamburg until his untimely death in 2001. The volume consists of thirty-three papers, written by some of the foremost scholars in the field of Iranian Studies. The articles are essentially concerned with Old, New and especially Middle Iranian languages and texts, reflecting the predominant scholarly interests of Ronald Emmerick, whose researches were also directed towards Indian and Tibetan Studies. Nine papers deal with the Khotanese and Tumshuqese language, one of Emmerick's main fields of research. The volume is accompanied by an updated Bibliography and Indices of quotations and of words.

Historical Phonology of Old Indo-Aryan Consonants Masato Kobayashi, 2004

Capitalscapes Matthew Philip McKelway, 2006-02-28 Following the destruction of Kyoto during the civil wars of the late fifteenth century, large-scale panoramic paintings of the city began to emerge. These enormous and intricately detailed depictions of the ancient imperial capital were unprecedented in the history of Japanese painting and remain unmatched as representations of urban life in any artistic tradition. Capitalscapes, the first book-length study of the Kyoto screens, examines their inception in the sixteenth to early seventeenth centuries, focusing on the political motivations that sparked their creation. Close readings of the Kyoto screens reveal that they were initially commissioned by or for members of the Ashikaga shogunate and that urban panoramas reflecting the interests of both prevailing and moribund political elites were created to underscore the legitimacy of the newly ascendant Tokugawa regime. Matthew McKelway's analysis of the screens exposes their creators' masterful exploitation of ostensibly accurate depictions to convey politically biased images of Japan's capital. His overarching methodology combines a historical approach, which considers the paintings in light of contemporary reports (diaries, chronicles, ritual accounts), with a thematic one, isolating individual motifs, deciphering their visual language, and comparing them with depictions in other works. McKelway's combined approach allows him to argue that the Kyoto screens were conceived and perpetuated as a painting genre that conveyed specific political meanings to viewers even as it provided textured details of city life. Students and scholars of Japanese art will find this lavishly illustrated work especially valuable for its insights into the cityscape painting genre, while those interested in urban and political history will appreciate its bold exploration of Kyoto's past and the city's late-medieval martial elite.

Information Technology (IT)-based Educational Materials, 2003

Philosophy, Phenomenology, Sciences Carlo Ierna, Hanne Jacobs, Filip Mattens, 2011-02-01 The present volume contains many of the papers presented at a four-day conference held by the Husserl-Archives in Leuven in April 2009 to commemorate the one hundred and fortieth anniversary of Edmund Husserl's birth. The conference was organized to facilitate the critical evaluation of Husserl's philosophical project from various perspectives and in light of the current philosophical and scientific climate. Still today, the characteristic tension between Husserl's concrete and detailed descriptions of consciousness, on the one hand, and his radical philosophical claim to ultimate truth and certainty in thinking, feeling, and acting, on the other, calls for a sustained reflection on the relation between a Husserlian phenomenological philosophy and philosophy in general. What can phenomenological reflection contribute to the ongoing discussion of certain perennial philosophical questions and which philosophical problems are raised by a phenomenological philosophy itself? In addition to addressing the question of the relation between phenomenology and philosophy in general, phenomenology today cannot avoid addressing the nature of its relation to the methods and results of the natural and human sciences. In fact, for Husserl, phenomenology is not just one among many philosophical methods and entirely unrelated to the sciences. Rather, according to Husserl, phenomenology should be a "first philosophy" and should aim to become the standard for all true science.
