Guide to Medical Billing and Coding ICDC

Publishing Inc,ICDC Publishing Inc. Staff,2007

Medical billing is one of the fastest-growing employment opportunities in the United States today. Insurance companies, medical offices, hospitals and other health care providers are in great need of trained personnel to create medical claims. This book will ensure learning the skills necessary to become a successful medical claims biller. It is presented in a comprehensive, yet user friendly way, following a logical learning format beginning with a broad base of information and then, step by step, following the course for creation of a medical claim. This book teaches the skills necessary to become a well-rounded medical biller. By completing this course of study with a satisfactory grade, the user will be granted a certificate and can have the opportunity to work towards an Honors Certificate, which is even more valuable to a potential employer.

Exercises for Coding and Reimbursement ICDC Publishing, Inc, 2006-10 This text is an exercise book for learning medical billing and health claims examining.

The Practice of Medical Billing and Coding ICDC Publishing Inc, ICDC Publishing Inc. Staff, 2006-04 Formally know as Exercises in Medical Billing and Coding, The Practice of Medical Billing and Coding, 2e, contains instructional training in the MediSoft Patient Accounting computer program, as well as a simulated work program to help you experience the real life situations that a medical biller experiences. This book is created for use as either a stand-alone text for those wishing to learn MediSoft, or in conjunction with ICDC Publishing's Guide to Medical Billing and Coding. Some of the exercises in the simulated work portion of the book are based upon concepts learned in the Guide to Medical Billing and Coding (i.e., procedure and diagnosis coding, privacy issues, etc.). While this book is complete in teaching the MediSoft patient accounting program, it should not be considered a complete text for learning medical billing. It is important that trainees not only learn to enter data into a computer billing program, but also to understand the concepts behind what they are entering. It is suggested that a trainee take a complete medical billing course prior to learning computerized billing with this book. The simulated work portion of this text incorporates concepts that are not taught by simple data entry, for example CPT and ICD-9 coding, privacy guidelines, patient record keeping, reception area duties, correspondence, and manual completion of claims. This text is designed to enable the student to work through the material at their own pace. In the simulated work portion, the outside margin of this text has been enlarged to allow room for taking notes and jotting down procedure and diagnosis codes.

Application of Nanotechnology in Food Science and Food Microbiology

Jayanta Kumar Patra, Han-Seung Shin, Spiros Paramithiotis, 2018-06-25

Nanotechnology is a fast-evolving discipline that already produces outstanding basic knowledge and industrial applications for the benefit of society. It is a new emerging and fascinating field of science, that permits advanced research in many areas. The first applications of nanotechnology mainly concerned material sciences; applications in the agriculture and food sectors are still emerging. Food science nanotechnology is an area of rising attention that unties new possibilities for the food industry. Due to the rapid population growth there is a need to produce food and beverages in a more efficient, safe and sustainable way. The application of nanotechnology in food has also gained great importance in recent years in view of its potential application to improve production of food crops, enhance nutrition, packaging and food safety overall. The new materials, products and applications are anticipated to bring lots of improvements to the food and related sectors, impacting agriculture and food production, food processing, distribution, storage, sanitation as well as the development of innovative products and sensors for effective detection of contaminants. Therefore, nanotechnology present with a large potential to provide an opportunity for the researchers of food science, food microbiology and other fields, to develop new tools for incorporation of nanoparticles into food system that could augment existing functions and add new ones. However, the number of relative publications currently available is rather small. The present Research Topic aims to provide with basic information and practical applications regarding all aspects related to the applications of nanotechnology in food science and food microbiology, namely, nanoparticle synthesis, especially through the eco-friendly perspective, potential applications in food processing, biosensor development, alternative strategies for effective pathogenic bacteria monitoring as well as the possible effects on human health and the environment.

Formally known as Exercises in Health Claims Examining, The Practice of Health Claims

Examining, 2e, contains a simulated work program to help you experience the real life situations that a claims examiner experiences on a daily basis. This book is created for use in conjunction with ICDC Publishing's Guide to Health Claims Examining. Some of the exercises in the simulated work portion of the book are based upon concepts learned in the Guide to Health Claims Examining (i.e., procedures for processing claims, interpretation of contracts, understanding UCR and deductibles, etc.). This book alone should not be considered a complete text for learning health claims examining. It is suggested that a trainee take a complete health claims examining course prior to using this book. The simulated work portion of this text incorporates concepts which are not taught by simple data entry, for example UCR calculations, privacy guidelines, client record keeping, correspondence, and manual completion of claims processing. This text is designed to allow the student to work through the material at their own pace.
