The First Dutch Settlement in Alberta Donald W. Sinnema,2005 Translated for the first time from Dutch to English, this collection of letters offers a unique perspective on the early pioneer years of the Dutch community in southeastern Alberta. Based on extensive research, the book also includes maps, archival photographs, and an appendix listing all the Dutch settlers in the region between the years of 1903 and 1914. The First Dutch Settlement in Alberta is an invaluable and fascinating collection of primary source material that offers a wealth of information for genealogists and historians, and celebrates the pioneering spirit of Alberta's early Dutch community.

The Political Economy of the Dutch Republic Oscar Gelderblom, 2016-02-24 In the first half of the seventeenth century the Dutch Republic emerged as one of Europe's leading maritime powers. The political and military leadership of this small country was based on large-scale borrowing from an increasingly wealthy middle class of merchants, manufacturers and regents. This volume presents the first comprehensive account of the political economy of the Dutch republic from the sixteenth to the early nineteenth century. Building on earlier scholarship and extensive new evidence it tackles two main issues: the effect of political revolution on property rights and public finance, and the ability of the nation to renegotiate issues of taxation and government borrowing in changing political circumstances. The essays in this volume chart the Republic's rise during the seventeenth century, and its subsequent decline as other European nations adopted the Dutch financial model and warfare bankrupted the state in the eighteenth century. By following the United Provinces's financial ability to respond to the changing national and international circumstances across a three-hundred year period, much can be learned not only about the Dutch experience, but the wider European implications as well.

Wong Sir's Trip: Giethoorn, Overijssel, The Netherlands Wong sir [Frogwong], 2020-01-19

Wong Sir's Trip: Giethoorn, Overijssel, The Netherlands Giethoorn is located in the North West Netherlands, Overijssel, in the De Wilden Nature Reserve, about 120 kilometers from Amsterdam. During the Ice Age, De Verden was located between the two moraine belts, the terrain was lower than the surrounding area, resulting in poor soil and peat bogs. 28% of the land is sandy and cannot be cultivated. Except for reeds, other plants are not easy to grow, the only resource is peat below the ground. In 1170, De Verden was submerged by floods in the Zuide Sea. Residents fled to rebuild their homes on nearby surface land. A large number of wild goat horns were dug underground, so the new home was named Giethoorn. In Dutch, it means land corner protruding in the water. In 1230, residents found peat underground and started mining for a living. Peat crisscrossed in the form of veins. After the residents dug coal, a narrow ditch was formed, which became a water channel after water injection. The water channel cuts the land into separate islands, the residents live on the island. In order to facilitate the transportation of goods by boat, residents have widened the waterway into a canal, which forms the canal and lake today, becoming a water village. The 6000-meter-long river channel is criss-crossed, making it difficult to build roads for cars. Since the village was built 850 years ago, 176 wooden arch bridges have been built on the watercourse. There is still no car in Giethoorn, residents travel by boat or bicycle. In 1958, the Dutch film director Hansstra filmed the film Fanfare in Giethoorn. Giethoorn started to become world-famous with this movie, known as Venice in the Netherlands. Giethoorn is rich in reeds. Reeds have become the main building material. The roof of the house is made of reeds, which is more durable than other building materials. It is warm in winter and cool in summer, rain-proof and sun-resistant, and can be used for more than 40 years. Giethoorn currently has about 2,600 residents living in houses built by the water. Most of the houses are built on independent islands divided by water channels. Most of the residents are island owners and make their own country. Regardless of house construction, outdoor furnishings, flowers and trees, each island owner has its own characteristics. Boats are parked at the door of each house. Some islands are connected to the land by small arch bridges across the watercourse. The front door of the house in Giethoorn faces the river. Locals have only two chances to enter and exit this door in their lives, one is born and the other dies. They usually enter and exit through the side doors on both sides. The small island in the middle of Lake Bovewijde is a kindergarten. Every morning, parents sail a boat to the island and pick it up after school. The houses in Giethoorn are very expensive. The island owners are rich and expensive. They can live in this place away from the hustle and bustle, of course, they will not be wage earners. The locals laughed that young people generally couldn't afford Giethoorn. To live a fairy-tale life, you still have to be rich. After Giethoorn became a tourist attraction, it expanded tourism facilities. Now only 30% of the land is local residential houses, the rest are restaurants, recreation centers, golf courses, camping grounds, etc. The government hopes that this fairy tale village will continue to be preserved without being damaged, the house in Giethoorn must be kept in its original form. Even if the house changes ownership, the appearance of the house cannot be changed, the interior can only be decorated. The arrival of a large number of tourists is a nuisance to the local residents. In March 2019, Giethoorn published a New Tourist Handbook, which introduced all the attractions and visiting rules of Giethoorn in Dutch, English and Chinese. The New Tourist Handbook is provided by an advertising company in Giethoorn and distributed free of charge throughout Yangjiao Village. It is expressed in a funny and humorous manner, regulates the behavior of tourists, makes sightseeing more civilized and orderly. Debor, the head of the advertising company, said that tourists may inadvertently harass the residents of Giethoorn. Some tourists use residents' mailboxes as trash cans, the noise generated by dragging suitcases can also make residents dissatisfied. The rented boat is not a bumper car. Don't bump on the river. You can picnic in many places, but don't break into the residents' gardens. Debor emphasized that Giethoorn welcomes tourists very much, the publication of the New Visitors Manual is not intended to scare away tourists. Visitors to Giethoorn are like visiting other people's homes. Lifting the suitcases when everyone passes near a resident's house or when crossing a bridge can reduce noise to disturb residents. In order to avoid noise and air pollution, Giethoorn never builds roads and residents do not buy cars. The main means of transportation are punts, canoes, kayaks, whispering boats. Whispering boats are named because they are silent. These silent vehicles keep Giethoorn quiet. There are boat rental shops along Giethoorn. Each boat is different and the price is different. The boat costs 10 to 15 Euros per hour, a 10 person boat costs about 35 Euros. The operation of the ship is very simple, you can set sail if you learn the etiquette. Sightseeing boat tour, 7.5 per hour. Some arch bridges on the river are relatively low, sightseeing boats cannot pass. If you want to reach Lake Bovewijde, you must reach it by boat. In order to avoid the need for rent-free boat tourists to get lost in the 6,000-meter-long, crisscrossing waterway, the shop that rents the boat will give the tourist a map of Giethoorn waterway. The main landmark on the map is Bovewijde, the largest lake in Giethoorn. According to the numbered flagpoles on the water, you can find your position on the map. Giethoorn Sheep Intestine Trail is seven kilometers in length and walks for about two hours. In addition to walking, you can ride a bicycle and rent a bicycle for 6 Euros per day. For a deeper understanding of Giethoorn, you can visit the Giethoorn Museum, which introduces the peat life of Giethoorn at that time, special customs, and displays the farm, fisherman's house, and boat dock at the time. There are many private museums opened by locals in Giethoorn. The Shell Museum, the Porcelain Museum, and the Stone Museum are all very distinctive. The t Zwaantje restaurant next to the bus stop in Giethoorn is an old restaurant with a history of more than 80 years, pancakes have more than 30 flavors. There are other Dutch specialities in Giethoorn, such as Dutch beef stew, sandwiches with meat sauce, thick bean curd soup, smoked eel and so on. There is a supermarket near the bus stop, which is convenient for single tourists to buy food. Giethoorn traffic Giethoorn is about 120 km from Amsterdam From Amsterdam Central Station by train to steenwijk railway station Take bus 70 to Giethoorn There is a shuttle bus to Giethoorn at the train station, which costs EUR 5 per person

The Convening of the Synod of Dordt Donald Sinnema,2022-12-12 The Synod of Dordt 1618/1619 was one of the most important church councils in the history of the Reformed tradition. International delegates from all over Europe served as important participants and played a significant role in the evaluation of Remonstrant doctrine and in the formation of the Canons of Dordt. The Synod made important pronouncements on other issues such as Sunday observance, catechism instruction and theological education. Given the continuing worldwide historical significance of the Synod's Canons and church order, the absence of a critical scholarly edition of the majority of documents of the Synod is remarkable. The Johannes a Lasco Bibliothek in Emden, a leading research center for the history and theology of Reformed Protestantism, has taken the initiative to edit the Acts and documents of the Synod of Dordt. The edition is organized as a RefoRC project, with the participation of other institutions and scholars in Europe and North-America. Vol. II/1 edits the Convening of the Synod.

Radical Enlightenment Jonathan I. Israel,2002-07-18 Arguably the most decisive shift in the history of ideas in modern times was the complete demolition during the late seventeenth and eighteenth centuries - in the wake of the Scientific Revolution - of traditional structures of authority, scientific thought, and belief by the new philosophy and the philosophes, culminating in Voltaire, Diderot, and Rousseau. In this revolutionary process which effectively overthrew all justification for monarchy, aristocracy, and ecclesiastical power, as well as man's dominance over woman, theological dominance of education, and slavery, substituting the modern principles of equality, democracy, and universality, the Radical Enlightenment played a crucially important part. Despite the present day interest in the revolutions of the late eighteenth century, the origins and rise of the Radical Enlightenment have been astonishingly little studied doubtless largely because of its very wide international sweep and the obvious difficulty of fitting in into the restrictive conventions of 'national history' which until recently tended to dominate all historiography. The greatest obstacle to the Radical Enlightenment finding its proper place in modern historical writing is simply that it was not French, British, German, Italian, Jewish or Dutch, but all of these at the same time. In this novel interpretation of the Radical Enlightenment down to La Mettrie and Diderot, two of its key exponents, particular stress is placed on the pivotal role of Spinoza and the widespread underground international philosophical movement known before 1750 as Spinozism.
