Volusia County's West Side Ronald W. Williamson,2008-09-22 This collection of popular “Sense of Place” columns by Daytona Beach News-Journal award-winning writer Ronald Williamson chronicles the sleepy streams, poignant passages and timeless traditions of the hilly western side of Volusia County—a place quite different from the hustle and bustle of the Daytona Beach area. Majestic St. Johns River steamboats replace speeding racecars, and subdued séances at an old spiritualist camp replace brash biker bashes and spring break revelry. From slavery and segregation to Madame Clarissa Zaraza and mayhaw jelly from swampy creeks, these stories are a moving account from a master storyteller.

Volusia Voices ,2015-12-15 VOLUSIA VOICES is an ambitious project to collect the stories that portray everyday Volusia County residents through both photography and first-person narratives. This is not the tale of movers and shakers, rather that of those on whose shoulders we stand. Gone is the era of handwritten letters and journals saved for future generations. The dynamic attributes of this county are seen in the faces and lives of her residents and come to life through their stories. From the beaches of the east to the ranches of the west; from the farmland of the south to the rich cultural sites of the north, VOLUSIA VOICES explores the county to seek Volusians who are extraordinary -- though they may not know it -- and show the rich diversity and character of this unique area. The goal of VOLUSIA VOICES is to preserve these stories and promote a sense of community through meeting Volusia County residents at work, home and play. Our stories make each of us great, and, by sharing them, we become richer in heart.

Grand Hotels of West Volusia County Larry French ,2018-04-09 In the late 1800s, men like Jacob Brock and Henry Addison DeLand introduced civilized comforts to the wild interior of West Volusia, which resulted in a tourism boom that is still ongoing. Brock built the Brock House hotel and used his steamboats to bring such notables as DeLand and American presidents Ulysses S. Grant and Rutherford B. Hayes there to vacation. Continued tourism growth brought about the need for more hotels. The Ponce de Leon Hotel was built around the fabled Fountain of Youth, while the bustling town of DeLand offered several more hotels, like the Putnam, Carrollton, College Arms, and DeLand. John Batterson Stetson vacationed in DeLand and then built a home, bought a hotel he renamed College Arms, and extended the railroad to his hotel's doorstep for the convenience of his guests. These and other hotels helped shape the growth and history of West Volusia County.

Haunted DeLand and the Ghosts of West Volusia County Dusty Smith,2008-08-29 Author and Haunted DeLand tour guide Dusty Smith recounts a century of ghostly history in the bustling historic community of DeLand, the Athens of Florida. Specters include those of Jeannette Barnhill, whose ghost drove her real estate mogul widower mad by standing behind him to keep a constant watch on his accounting books, and of the guest killed in the 1917 Putnam Hotel fire who leaves the smell of burnt wood and flesh in the air. Forlorn lovers Ruby and Joshua, a freed slave and a plantation foreman, and Suzanna Brown, who jumped to her death with unrequited love for a Stetson professor, are included, as well as the ghostly horse-drawn hearse that has been seen parked alongside what was once the Old Casket Company. From steamboat captains to Spiritualist camp residents, DeLand’s ghosts are sure to delight visitors and residents alike in this stirring account of the area’s historic haunts.
