Services Computing for Language Resources Yohei

Murakami, Donghui Lin, Toru Ishida, 2018-02-23 Describing the technologies to combine language resources flexibly as web services, this book provides valuable case studies for those who work in services computing, language resources, human-computer interaction (HCI), computer-supported cooperative work (CSCW), and service science. The authors have been operating the Language Grid, which wraps existing language resources as atomic language services and enables users to compose new services by combining them. From architecture level to service composition level, the book explains how to resolve infrastructural and operational difficulties in sharing and combining language resources, including interoperability of language service infrastructures, various types of language service policies, human services, and service failures. The research based on the authors' operating experiences of handling complicated issues such as intellectual property and interoperability of language resources contributes to exploitation of language resources as a service. On the other hand, both the analysis based on using services and the design of new services can bring significant results. A new style of multilingual communication supported by language services is worthy of analysis in HCI/CSCW, and the design process of language services is the focus of valuable case studies in service science. By using language resources in different ways based on the Language Grid, many activities are highly regarded by diverse communities. This book consists of four parts: (1) two types of language service platforms to interconnect language services across service grids, (2) various language service composition technologies that improve the reusability, efficiency, and accuracy of composite services, (3) research work and activities in creating language resources and services, and (4) various applications and tools for understanding and designing language services that well support intercultural collaboration.

Computer Idee Zomerworkshopgids 2015 ,2015-08-10

Met gepaste trots presenteren we u deze Zomer Workshopgids. Op maar liefst 124 pagina's leest u de ene workshop na de andere, variërend van het optimaliseren van uw netwerk thuis tot het bewerken van uw foto's en het terugvinden van kleine kinderen dankzij de 'kindervinder'. Juist de zomer is dé periode voor urenlang workshop-plezier. Heerlijk lange avonden waarin de tv alleen maar herhalingen brengt en er in Nederland toch een beetje vakantiegevoel hangt. En wat is er dan leuker om eindelijk eens rustig na te gaan hoe je van Windows overstapt op Linux Mint? Of hoe je Windows 7 of 8 het uiterlijk van Windows 10 geeft? Liever een handige workshop die stap voor stap laat zien hoe u een film streamt naar uw tv? Dat kan ook. Ach, blader zelf rustig deze workshopgids maar door. Geheid dat u een aantal onderwerpen tegenkomt die u zo aanspreken dat u er meteen mee aan de slag wilt.

Lights Out Ted Koppel,2016-10-18 NEW YORK TIMES

BESTSELLER • Ted Koppel reveals that a major cyberattack on America's power grid is not only possible but likely, that it would be devastating, and that the United States is shockingly unprepared. "Fascinating, frightening, and beyond timely."—Anderson Cooper Imagine a blackout lasting not days, but weeks or months. Tens of millions of people over several states are affected. For those without access to a generator, there is no running water, no sewage, no refrigeration or light. Food and medical supplies are dwindling. Devices we rely on have gone dark. Banks no longer function, looting is widespread, and law and order are being tested as never before. It isn't just a scenario. A well-designed attack on just one of the nation's three electric power grids could cripple much of our infrastructure—and in the age of cyberwarfare, a laptop has become the only necessary weapon. Several nations hostile to the United States could launch such an assault at any time. In fact, as a former chief scientist of the NSA reveals, China and Russia have already penetrated the grid. And a cybersecurity advisor to President Obama believes that independent actors—from “hacktivists” to terrorists—have the capability as well. “It’s not a question of if,” says Centcom Commander General Lloyd Austin, “it’s a question of when.” And yet, as Koppel makes clear, the federal government, while well prepared for natural disasters, has no plan for the aftermath of an attack on the power grid. The current Secretary of Homeland Security suggests keeping a battery-powered radio. In the absence of a government plan, some individuals and communities have taken matters into their own hands. Among the nation’s estimated three million “preppers,” we meet one whose doomsday retreat includes a newly excavated three-acre lake, stocked with fish, and a Wyoming homesteader so self-sufficient that he crafted the thousands of adobe bricks in his house by hand. We also see the unrivaled disaster preparedness of the Mormon church, with its enormous storehouses, high-tech dairies, orchards, and proprietary trucking company—the fruits of a long tradition of anticipating the worst. But how, Koppel asks, will ordinary civilians survive? With urgency and authority, one of our most renowned journalists examines a threat unique to our time and evaluates potential ways to prepare for a catastrophe that is all but inevitable.
