Dictation Kevin Gise, 2016-02-28 Tired of being chained down to your computer? Hands hurt from hours of writing? Looking for a way to dramatically increase your hourly word count? Want to write 1,000,000 words a year without breaking a sweat? Sounds a little crazy when you say it out loud. However, this is easier to accomplish than you'd think. Especially when using dictation for all your writing. Dictation has the power to transform your life whether you're writing a novel, short story, blog post, or paper. Whatever the outlet, dictation can help you increase your productivity levels. Over the past two years I've switched over to dictation and I went from writing about 250,000 words a year to over a million words. If I really wanted to amp things up I think I could go even higher! The quickest way to success as a new author is to pump out more quality books on a consistent basis. Many indie novelists try and get a full 100k+ book out every 3 - 6 months. Using dictation you'll be able to hit those goals with ease. You could release something new every month if you really felt inspired. So what's the secret to getting all this done? Well, dictation on its own, while wonderful won't write your book for you. You still need to build better writing habits and put in the work. Interactive Dictations Judy DeFilippo, Catherine Sadow, 2014 Interactive Dictations is a low-intermediate to intermediate level text that is intended to improve the listening, speaking, and writing skills of ESL students. Each dictation is preceded by an introduction and vocabulary/pronunciation work and is followed by discussion topics. Pair and small-group work is encouraged. Following the discussions, there are an optional writing topic and a variety of other activities, including idiom/vocabulary work, role plays, and many cooperative learning activities. Reading skills are also reinforced, along with attention to vocabulary and grammar. This text provides a wide variety of dictations that include provocative news items, problems to solve, and decisions to make. - There are four different types of dictation: - Partial (Cloze): Students listen and fill in the blanks in the activity. - Pair: Students work in pairs with different gaps in their passages. -

Dictogloss: Students hear a sentence once and have to write the gist of that sentence. - Prediction: Students predict what should be in the sentence blank and then check to see if their prediction was correct. An (optional) audio program is available for download. Visit ProLinguaLearning.com for details.
