Access to Knowledge for Consumers: Reports of Campaigns and Research 2008-2010 ,2010 Information Program grantee Consumers International has released the results of a global survey designed to expose the obstacles consumers face in gaining access to education and cultural materials. The survey was conducted in 13 languages, covering 15,000 consumers across 24 countries. The survey found that The biggest barriers that consumers face in accessing copyright works are those created by copyright law. Even so, consumers around the world will choose original copyright works over pirated copies, provided that they are available at an affordable price. While borrowing from libraries and other cultural institutions provided a viable alternative for some consumers priced out of original copyrighted works, the survey found that, particularly in developing countries, access to libraries is limited and the works they carry are few. Although the authors of the survey saw copyleft initiatives like Open Educational Resources and Free and Open Source Software as great ways to help consumers vault access barriers, they concluded that governments needed to act to address consumers' needs for lower cost original materials to buy, borrow and access online. The survey forms the first two chapters of Consumers International's new report Access to Knowledge for Consumers: Reports of Campaigns and Research 2008-2010--Publisher description.

Facebook Nation Newton Lee, 2014-10-16 Facebook's psychological experiments and Edward Snowden's NSA leaks epitomize a world of increasing information awareness in the social media ecosystem. With over a billion monthly active users, Facebook as a nation is overtaking China as the largest country in the world. President Barack Obama, in his 2011 State of the Union Address, called America "the nation of Edison and the Wright brothers" and "of Google and Facebook." U.S. Chief Information Officer Steven VanRoekel opines that America has become a "Facebook nation" that demands increased transparency and interactivity from the federal government. Ubiquitous social networks such as Facebook, Google+, Twitter, and YouTube are creating the technologies, infrastructures, and big data necessary for Total Information Awareness – a controversial surveillance program proposed by DARPA after the 9/11 attacks. NSA's secret PRISM program has reinvigorated WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange's accusation that "Facebook is the most appalling spying machine that has ever been invented." Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg once said, "We exist at the intersection of technology and social issues." This book offers discourse and practical advice on the privacy issue in the age of big data, business intelligence in social media, e-government and e-activism, as well as personal total information awareness. This expanded edition also includes insights from Wikipedian Emily Temple-Wood and Facebook ROI experts Dennis Yu and Alex Houg.

We Are Data John Cheney-Lippold, 2017-05-02 What identity means in an algorithmic age: how it works, how our lives are controlled by it, and how we can resist it Algorithms are everywhere, organizing the near limitless data that exists in our world. Derived from our every search, like, click, and purchase, algorithms determine the news we get, the ads we see, the information accessible to us and even who our friends are. These complex configurations not only form knowledge and social relationships in the digital and physical world, but also determine who we are and who we can be, both on and offline. Algorithms create and recreate us, using our data to assign and reassign our gender, race, sexuality, and citizenship status. They can recognize us as celebrities or mark us as terrorists. In this era of ubiquitous surveillance, contemporary data collection entails more than gathering information about us. Entities like Google, Facebook, and the NSA also decide what that information means, constructing our worlds and the identities we inhabit in the process. We have little control over who we algorithmically are. Our identities are made useful not for us—but for someone else. Through a series of entertaining and engaging examples, John Cheney-Lippold draws on the social constructions of identity to advance a new understanding of our algorithmic identities. We Are Data will educate and inspire readers who want to wrest back some freedom in our increasingly surveilled and algorithmically-constructed world.

Face A Face Com A Verdade F. G. Longobardi, 2015-08-07 Desde os tempos da criação até os nossos dias, podemos comprovar a maneira extraordinária como a Bíblia descreve profeticamente a história da humanidade. Com o intuito de fazê-lo entender com clareza alguns acontecimentos proféticos mencionados não só no livro de Daniel, como também no livro do Apocalipse, encontra-se nesta edição um gráfico com datas e fatos históricos referentes a esses acontecimentos.

FACE A FACE COM A SUA SAÚDE Marta Rocha de Castro, 2020-06-05 Nós humanos, como espécie, além de ganhar a consciência e inteligência no processo evolutivo, ganhamos a identidade facial: um conjunto de traços, forma, distribuição de cabelos, e uma musculatura sofisticada, que expressa nossas emoções e estado de espírito, que são únicos e individuais. Hipócrates, pai da medicina, era um entusiasta do exame da face, e deixou descrito um número considerável de tipos de face, de acordo com muitas doenças que descreveu. A medicina moderna ocidental se preocupa demais com pessoas doentes. Quer esperar as pessoas adoecerem para propor algum tratamento, que, em geral, não soluciona o problema, e sim funciona como uma muleta para a pessoa se apoiar, sem ficar curada. Já no caso da Medicina Tradicional Chinesa, assim como em outras medicinas complementares, existe um foco em equilibrar o doente e evitar que ele adoça ou seja necessário tomar medicamento a vida toda. Neste livro, a Dra. Marta Rocha traz abordagens e ferramentas para que o exame da face possa ser utilizado para melhorar a qualidade do trabalho do profissional de saúde da área da MTC, sofisticando seu diagnóstico e acompanhando melhor a evolução do seu paciente. Além disso, visa contribuir para a autonomia das pessoas em relação aos cuidados com a sua própria saúde através de um recurso simples que é a avaliação facial.

Black Tap Dance and Its Women Pioneers Cheryl M. Willis,2023-04-13 While tap dancers Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly, and Eleanor Powell were major Hollywood stars, and the rhythms of Black male performers such as the Nicholas Brothers and Bill Bojangles Robinson were appreciated in their time, Black female tap dancers seldom achieved similar recognition. Who were these women? The author sought them out, interviewed them, and documented their stories for this book. Here are the personal stories of many Black women tap dancers who were hailed by their male counterparts, performed on the most prominent American stages, and were pioneers in the field of Black tap.

The Cambridge Handbook of Consumer Privacy Evan Selinger,Jules Polonetsky,Omer Tene,2018-04-02 Businesses are rushing to collect personal data to fuel surging demand. Data enthusiasts claim personal information that's obtained from the commercial internet, including mobile platforms, social networks, cloud computing, and connected devices, will unlock path-breaking innovation, including advanced data security. By contrast, regulators and activists contend that corporate data practices too often disempower consumers by creating privacy harms and related problems. As the Internet of Things matures and facial recognition, predictive analytics, big data, and wearable tracking grow in power, scale, and scope, a controversial ecosystem will exacerbate the acrimony over commercial data capture and analysis. The only productive way forward is to get a grip on the key problems right now and change the conversation. That's exactly what Jules Polonetsky, Omer Tene, and Evan Selinger do. They bring together diverse views from leading academics, business leaders, and policymakers to discuss the opportunities and challenges of the new data economy.
