My Stepbrother's Baby Sarwah Creed, Can fantasies come true? Evan Stewart. The quarterback love magnet, that was his nickname in high school. He just snapped his fingers, and all the girls came running. He didn't know that I existed, until that night. Well, not exactly that night. I got rid of my glasses, changed my hair, and crashed a party, to get close to him. He was my secret fantasy and as we played spin the bottle and I ended up alone with him, I was glad that I took the risk. Until the cops showed up and everyone had to leave the party. Later, opportunity knocked again, and I wasn't going to let it pass. We sat in the principal's office, and he soon found out who I was. This time, I wasn't about to let anything stand in my way, but I was scared that he'd find out my secret. I didn't know that he had secrets of his own. They were so deep that they just made me want him even more. I believed that romantic fairy tales were the only way to escape my reality. We were the modern version of the lady and the tramp; the problem was that I was no lady, and he certainly wasn't a tramp.

The Friend of My Youth Jim Farrell,2023-06-25 Robert Penn Warren in his masterpiece All the King's Men said you never forget the friend of your youth. No matter how he changes, he is always the same to you. This is a story of two such friends. How their lives go down separate paths, but their friendship remains. Even though they change, they are always the same to each other.

Working on My Brother's Best Friend Sharon Cummin,2017-03-19 It had been five years since my twin brother Gabe had moved to California when I got the call that changed my life forever. He was my family, the only one I had, and he was gone. I sat in the cold, dark funeral home while people moved around me. I could hear them talking, but all I could do was think. How could I have let him go? How could I have lost five years with him? Why hadn't I gone too? There were two reasons. One was to take care of my grandparents. They'd both passed in the five years he'd been gone. The other was the one person I couldn't stand, my brother's best friend, Doug. He'd gone with him to help him start his company. I'd been under my covers in the same clothes for two days when my phone rang. It was my brother's lawyer letting me know that I needed to be in California the following morning. If I didn't show up, my brother's company would stop running. It took all I had to get out of bed and shower off the funk I was feeling, but I did it for my brother, his company, and the people that worked there. When I walked into the room to wait for the rest of the people to arrive, I thought about Gabe and how proud I was of what he had accomplished. When the door opened and his best friend walked in, it took all I had to remain in that room. I couldn't wait for the others to walk in and fill the space between us, but that never happened. There were no others. Then it happened, the lawyer began to speak, and I thought I was going to lose it. Gabe left everything, including the company, to his best friend and me evenly. But that wasn't all, not even close. There were rules we had to follow before the papers would be signed and everything would be split. 1. We had to work together at the company for six months. 2. We both had to live in my brother's house the entire time. I was done. There was no way. My brother had always been a jokester, and that was by far his best joke ever. I was ready to leave when his lawyer added one last thing. If we didn't follow those two rules, the company would be sold and everything would be given away. I couldn't let that happen. There was only one problem, and his name was Doug.

In Love with My Brother's Best Friend Sharon Cummin, 2017-09-10 I had just gotten home from spending a few days with two of best friends in Vegas. All I wanted was a little time to relax and rejuvenate before going to work the following day. I'd just set my bags down, closed my door, and fell onto my couch when my phone rang. I should have known it was my big brother. That was always a joke with him. We were twins, and he was minutes older than me. He'd been protecting and hovering over me my entire life. Of course he'd call to make sure I was home safe and in one piece. He was a thousand miles away, but it never felt like it. When he announced that he was getting married, I was surprised. They had only known each other for about a year. What he said next shocked me even more. They were getting married in two weeks, and he wanted me to be in the wedding. I hadn't been home for more than a moment in over ten years. He'd come to visit me plenty of times, and he'd even brought her with him. No matter what was happening, I'd always found a way out of going home. His wedding was the exception. My brother was getting married, and I needed to be there. There was only one problem. His name was Jackson, but I called him Jackie. He was my brother's best friend and the reason I'd been running for so long. Could I do it? Could I face him after all those years? I didn't have a choice. I knew I had to go, but I didn't have to do it alone. I talked one of my best friends into going with me. His name was Chris. I promised him a weekend of fun on the beach with all expenses paid. That all changed the moment I saw HIM. I did the only thing I could think of and hoped it wasn't going to blow up in my face.

Now suddenly Adele has found a new love and is dragging Ariel all the way across the country to Texas where billionaire oil baron Alton lives. Their decision to get married comes along with the surprise that Ariel is getting not just a new stepfather, but a new stepbrother in the devastatingly gorgeous and frustratingly difficult Dax. My Best Friend's Brother M. J. Thompson, 2014-08-19 That's right. I was in love with my bully. Having a best friend with a cruel older brother is a recipe for disaster. It was worse for Hope who's best friend, Heather, had twin demons as brothers who restlessly bullied them, especially her when she visits their house. Fast forward to a few years, Hope finds herself in a summer where the twins come home from college. She can no longer run, especially when her friend Heather is the one visiting this time with her brothers in tow. Will Hope ever reconcile with her bullies? Or will she be stuck harboring feelings for one of them? SAMPLE 1: Still standing under the lukewarm water I couldn't help but think back to what I heard... Nathan is in love with some girl. I know he never said the word 'love' but I could tell by his tone that's what he meant. My chest went tight and started to hurt, my eyes filled up with tears blurring my vision. Why did the thought of him being with someone else hurt so much? It's not like he has ever led me on or showed me any interest (in a romantic way) in the past. I never really told him anything to indicate that either. But even when.... No I can't... I felt the tears start to fall from my eyes. I slouched down to the floor of the shower until I was effectively sat down and hugging my legs to my chest. Before I knew it I was crying my soul out. I felt physically sick to my stomach, my chest felt like someone was sat on it. I felt more depressed than any other time in my life and nothing was going to fix it. I was stupid really.... That's right I was in love with my bully. SAMPLE 2: How long have you been crushing on your little sister's best friend? Matt asked his voice full of amusement. I looked away I.. I haven't been I stutter out. Really? Heather asked, trying not to laugh. The two looked at each other and laugh. You are such a bad liar. Matt laughs. I'm not. So is this a recent thing or is this an old thing? Heather teased. No Hev, it has to be recent right Nate? Matt quickly said asking for me. I don't answer, still looking away. Right Nate? Matt asks again, this time in a more serious tone. I coughed but didn't say anything still. Heather's mouth dropped open but quickly closed it again as if realizing something. Longer? she almost whispers. I slowly turned to them and purse my lips. Oh my god... Seriously man? Matt asked shocked. How long has it been? Dean asks, making me jump. Since I first saw her is all I say.

The Fugitive's Sister Linda L Case,2015-10-15 Linda made a promise to her brother, Dan, on his deathbed to take care of their younger sister, Becky, in his absence. Two days following Dan's funeral, Becky's company was raided by the FBI and shut down. Ultimately, Becky was convicted by a jury of numerous white-collar crimes and was looking at a sentence of up to seventy-five years in prison. Prior to sentencing, Becky escaped, disappeared and became one of America's Most Wanted fugitives; then she contacted Linda for help. Although Linda was raised to protect and support her family no matter what, her dedication and commitment to her sister ultimately landed Linda in jail. As Linda struggled to stay alive and maintain her sanity behind bars, Becky was living the high-life in another country. Intense and intertwined, Linda's unusual story of grief and loss, The Fugitive's Sister, reveals how quickly an American Dream can become an American Nightmare. What happens next is a warning to all... You have quite a story to tell. I can see this going to film, TV, or somewhere important. So many lives were affected by this. - Randy Peyser, author of Crappy to Happy as featured in the movie Eat, Pray, Love.

It Started with Dracula Jane Congdon,2011 The terrifying legend of Count Dracula silently skulking through the Transylvania night may have terrified generations of filmgoers, but the tall, elegant vampire captivated and electrified a young Jane Congdon, igniting a dream to one day see his mysterious land of ancient castles and misty hollows. Four decades later she finally takes her long-awaited trip-never dreaming that it would unearth decades-buried memories of life with an alcoholic mother, and trigger a life-changing inner journey.
