Experiential Marketing in Automotive Industry Anna Adilova,2017-03-10 Essay from the year 2016 in the subject Communications - Public Relations, Advertising, Marketing, Social Media, grade: 9, The Hague University, language: English, abstract: Experiential marketing has been practiced by a lot of brands across different industries. Not long ago brands in automotive industry began moving away from traditional advertising and embarked in non-traditional channels such as social media advertising and experiential marketing. Since buying a car is a major investment and even a big part of drivers' lives, personal experience is vital for customers. It is interesting to see that automobile industry companies have been utilizing the concept of experience marketing for a very long time - in the form of test drives. However, in order for the potential customers to seek a test drive, they should already be interested, or at least aware of the car model. So now these companies are aspiring to reach out to their other, more valuable customer segment, which is the people who are not yet attracted by the new product. And to do so, companies are providing their users with other sorts of experiences to demonstrate the features or performance potential of the up-coming or fresh product.

Talking especially of Aamir films when we talk about Jo Jeeta Vo Sikandar; Lagaan; 3 Idiots; Tare Zameen Par; Rang De Basanti; PK; Dangal and of course how can we forget the popular TV Series Satyamev Jayate; Aamir picked up those sensitive issues which remained usually untouched or unexplored before the society in terms of cinema and he dealt with those social issues in his TV program Satyamev Jayate which is already present in our society and our homes long back and still survive. His program on such critical issues gave light of awareness and when youth saw these true stories; victims; conditions and consequences; they came to know directly or indirectly that it is happening in our homes too. How Aamir grew his struggles and experiences that he has seen thus far; and how he has evolved into an actor; person and how his films create awareness among the people of society and create an impact too remain all about the scripting of this book. This book is not about the person; it is about the way of thinking and urge to serve something to society and take those brave steps which can be lethal too for an actor.

WPA Posters in an Aesthetic, Social, and Political Context Cory Pillen,2020-03-09 This book examines posters produced by the Works Progress Administration (WPA), a federal relief program designed to create jobs in the United States during the Great Depression. Cory Pillen focuses on several issues addressed repeatedly in the roughly 2,200 extant WPA posters created between 1935 and 1943: recreation and leisure, conservation, health and disease, and public housing. As the book shows, the posters promote specific forms of knowledge and literacy as solutions to contemporary social concerns. The varied issues these works engage and the ideals they endorse, however, would have resonated in complex ways with the posters' diverse viewing public, working both for and against the rhetoric of consensus employed by New Deal agencies in defining and managing the relationship between self and society in modern America. This book will be of interest to scholars in design history, art history, and American studies.

This book marks the first attempt to contribute to road safety, considering, in depth, these meanings and the cultures of driving that are shaped by them. In the Company of Cars examines the perspectives that young people have on cars, and explores the broader social and cultural meanings of the car, the potential it is supposed to fulfil, and the anticipated benefits it offers to young drivers. From focus-group research conducted in Australia, the book takes up the views of young people on a range of topics, from media to car use to gender performance. The author looks at the ways in which driving has been defined by articulations of the car that emphasize valued features of the car-driver, such as gender, youthfulness, status, age, power, raciness, sexiness, ruggedness and competitiveness. The book takes a global perspective on mobility, considering the impact of cars and road safety policy on quality of life, and the value and significance of other modes of travel, in a range of countries.
