Google Scholar and More William Miller, Rita

Pellen, 2014-01-02 In only a few years, Google has become an authoritative provider of multiple products which have changed the digital information landscape. This book discusses how libraries can go beyond Google's basic search and Scholar functions to expand services for their patrons. Respected authorities reveal the expanding variety of new Google applications developed in the past few years, many of which have not received wide attention and are as yet not often used in libraries. Applications explored include Google Co-op, Google News, Google Docs & Spreadsheets, Google Calendar, and Google Talk. This book also discusses different important aspects of the company's expansion of functions, such as the failure of the Google Answers experiment, the broad variety of free Google applications that librarians can use to collaborate, and the success of Google's Blogger, among others. A helpful chronology of Google's growth is provided, as well as comparative analyses between various Google functions and other functions that are currently available. The book is extensively referenced. This book is an invaluable resource for academic librarians, public librarians, school librarians, library science faculty, and special librarians. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Library Administration.

Le nouveau management de l'information Christophe Deschamps, 2009 Le constat est indéniable : le temps passé à gérer les multiples outils d'accès à l'information ne cesse de s'accroître au détriment de la productivité personnelle et collective. Au sein d'une entreprise ou en tant que travailleurs indépendants, nous sommes désormais contraints de déployer de nouvelles solutions pour atteindre nos objectifs. Mais le manque d'information sur les outils du web 2.0 ne nous permet pas de bien choisir ceux qui sont pertinents, faciles à mettre en oeuvre, et réellement adaptés à nos besoins. Cet ouvrage répond à la question devenue essentielle : comment bien utiliser les nouvelles techniques et les outils du web 2.0 pour optimiser la gestion de son temps, la mobilité et la surabondance d'informations ?

L'auteur va au-delà du discours marketing ambiant qui prône le web 2.0 comme unique solution. Il analyse et détaille finement tous les besoins actuels et fournit des solutions adaptées, concrètes, et à la portée de tous ceux qui manipulent l'information et veulent développer de nouvelles stratégies. De nombreux cas pratiques sont développés pour : Aider les entreprises à mieux cerner les besoins de leurs employés afin de les placer dans les conditions d'efficacité optimale ; Fournir aux décideurs les moyens qui leur permettront de créer les conditions d'émergence de l'entreprise 2.0 ; Renforcer l'efficacité personnelle et collective ; Donner à chacun les moyens de capitaliser ses connaissances, ses compétences et ses contacts, afin de les mettre au service son employabilité ; Optimiser la gestion de son temps, de la mobilité, de l'information ; Apporter aux étudiants un descriptif complet et actuel sur les outils du web 2.0 au service du management de l'information.
