Biography-Driven Culturally Responsive Teaching, Second Edition Socorro G. Herrera,2016-01-27 Culturally responsive pedagogy, literacy, and English learner education expert Socorro Herrera has updated this bestseller to clarify, focus, and redefine concepts for the continued professional development of educators serving culturally and linguistically diverse (CLD) populations. Teaching strategies and tools have been updated to reflect important new brain research and to keep pace with our nation's ever-changing demographics and constant shift in expectations for K-12 students. Herrera has also revised the structure and format of the book to help educators find information quickly while working in highly complex and demanding environments. New for the Second Edition: Teaching strategies and tools based on the most current knowledge in the field. Authentic classroom artifacts that have been collected from teachers across the country. Glossary of key terms providing an auxiliary resource for current readers and for future applications of content in professional practice. Reorganized features with new icons providing a more user-friendly text for practitioner and classroom use. Updated excerpts from grade-level classroom teachers clarifying practice with CLD students and families. Additional planning and instructional aids available for free at www.tcpres.com. Grounded in the latest theory and with more user-friendly features, the Second Edition of Biography-Driven Culturally Responsive Teaching will help educators to reflect on their assumptions and perspectives, integrate best practices, and accelerate CLD students' academic learning. "Socorro Herrera does a masterful job of mediating multicultural education theory and practice, specifically for culturally and linguistically diverse students, in Biography-Driven Culturally Responsive Teaching." —From the Foreword by Geneva Gay, University of Washington, Seattle

Development and Evaluation of a Self-instructional Spanish Course, 1970 The paper describes the development and evaluation of a self-instructional Spanish course designed to produce an elementary communication skill, sufficient to cope with routine situations. The course has 106 printed lessons and associated tapes. There are two novel pedagogic techniques designed to simulate the experience of using the language in a live conversational situation: simulated tutoring lessons and simulated conversation lessons. Nine military personnel with no prior Spanish training completed the course in an average of 73.7 hours. Average scores on the final examination were 73%, 85%, and 78%. Results established the feasibility of building self-instructional foreign language courses to teach useful, elementary, communication skill. (Author).

Dyslexia in the Digital Age Ian Smythe, 2010-01-27 Dyslexia is a complex condition, and every dyslexic needs a different solution. Technology is not that solution, but a part of the process to minimise the impact of dyslexia on individuals and to assist with the difficulties they face in everyday situations, so that they can demonstrate their potential in school or at work. This book takes the reader back to basics, from understanding the needs of the dyslexic individual to getting the most from available technology. It does this by providing frameworks from theoretical perspectives and following this through to practical implementation, including reviews of the most common types of software. There is plenty of practical advice on how to support dyslexic individuals using technology, including how to get the most out of what is available. It highlights state of the art technology, and suggests what more still needs to be done to make this technology truly enabling for all dyslexics.
