Beginning Postsecondary Students Longitudinal Study Second Follow-up Field Test Report (BPS:90/94) Daniel Johnson Pratt,1994 This document is a summary and evaluation of methodological procedures and results for the field test of the Beginning Postsecondary Student Longitudinal Study Second Followup, 1990-94 (BPS:90/94). The BPS study is a departure from previous studies in that it starts with a cohort of individuals as they enter their postsecondary studies regardless of when they completed high school. As a result, information is becoming available about nontraditional students who have delayed the completion of their education. All types of postsecondary students (academic, vocational/occupational, and technical) are included and can be represented in known proportions. An introduction considers the background, purposes, and scheduled products of the BPS study. Chapter 2 describes study design and method. Operating control systems implemented for the study are described in chapter 3. Details and descriptions of data locating and collection activities and outcomes are given in chapter 4, and data quality is examined in chapter 5. Supporting documentation is presented in four appendixes. Eight figures and 42 tables contain information about conducting the study. (SLD)

Find cell phones' area online by cell tower triangulation utilizing LAC (Location Area Code) and Celled from PC, iphone or Androide phone. Cell tower triangulation utilizes the LAC and Cellid to focus the position of a cellular smartphone. With information from no less than three cell towers, this strategy can ascertain a handset's area exactly. Each one base station covers a certain region, the more cell towers in your general vicinity, the more precise result it delivers. So the thickness of cell towers decides the precision. For the most part, the thickness is higher in the urban zones particularly at downtown. While in country territories, where there are less cell towers, the result is less precise.
