JONAS. BENDIKSEN

Found, Not Lost Elliot Erwitt, 2021-06 This book has been an opportunity for Erwitt to revisit the photographs he made in his early career and to uncover meaning upon second glance which was not apparent when the image was originally taken. The master of visual one-liners--bold statement images replete with humour, irony and acknowledged absurdity--the photographs selected for this book are quieter, more subtle and suggest Erwitt's increasing confidence in his own eye. By selecting these photographs he has begun to both examine and challenge how his younger self saw the world.

Daleside: Static Dreams Lindokuhle Sobekwa, Cyprien Clément-Delmas, 2021-01-26 Since 2015, French photographer Cyprien Clément-Delmas and South African photographer Lindokuhle Sobekwa have collaborated to create a portrait of Daleside, a small Afrikaner suburb south-east of Johannesburg, South Africa. Daleside, in the Gauteng Province, once had a predominantly white population and is isolated in the industrial outer suburbs of Johannesburg. Its separation has resulted in Daleside's residents becoming increasingly inward-facing, and in the space of a decade it has become an isolated ghost town with a dwindling population consisting of mostly mine workers and smallholders. Commissioned by Rubis Mécénat through their Of Soul and Joy programme, the resulting photographs provide a counterpoint--Clément-Delmas's images show dignified figures whose dreams are at odds with reality whereas Sobekwa's landscape portraits show no such escapism. Looking beyond the deep-seated Black/white binary, they depict the poverty afflicting Black and white residents alike as forgotten members of society stuck in a dead end. Contrary to his expectations of what he might find there, Sobekwa came face to face with the reality of Black and white residents experiencing the same poverty out of eyeshot of the tightly-guarded houses of the wealthy. In Daleside: Static Dreams, the images by each photographer are presented alongside each other in a foldout book so they can be read individually or as pairs.

Leave and Let Us Go Alexandra Rose Howland, 2021-11-22
Leave and Let Us Go presents a portrait of Iraq --a country often misunderstood and misrepresented. In this new book, Alexandra Rose Howland combines her own photographs with found images and written testimonies with the aim of challenging and expanding the ways that geopolitical events are communicated.

Non Grata Åke Ericson, 2018-04-16 For the past eight years, Åke Ericson has been documenting the daily life of the Roma people across Europe.

Drummies Alice Mann, 2022-08-02 This a long-term project, by South African photographer Alice Mann, explores the unique sport of drum majorettes. The images depict the aspirational subculture surrounding all-female teams of drum majorettes affectionately known as 'Drummies' The sport of drum majorettes has a long history in South Africa, becoming popular in the early 80s, but participation in the sport has since dropped dramatically. In contemporary culture there is a strong sense of nostalgia linked to drum majorettes; it is viewed as the pursuit of a bygone era. However, in many marginalised communities across the country, it is still taken seriously and is considered a highly competitive sport. For the girls and young women involved, being a drummie is a privilege and an achievement, indicative of success on and off the field. The notoriously demanding practice schedules are representative of the girls' commitment, and their ability to work hard.

The Book of Veles JONAS. BENDIKSEN, 2021-07-13
Photographs of contemporary Veles are intertwined with fragments from an archaeological discovery also called 'the Book of Veles' -- a cryptic collection of 40 'ancient' wooden boards discovered in Russia in 1919, written in a proto-Slavic language. It was claimed to be a history of the Slavic people and the god Veles himself--the pre-Christian Slavic god of mischief, chaos and deception

Questions (After Brecht) Karen Knorr, 2021-01-26 Karen Knorr photographed the building site of the disused Parisian Art-Deco Department store, La Samaritaine, in the summers of 2017 and 2018. In this new book, the resulting photographs, transformed with solarisation and infused with playful fantasy and surrealism are accompanied by lines from Brecht's poem: 'Questions from a Worker Who Reads' (1935).

When We Lie Down, Grasses Grow from Us Karolina Gembara, 2020-02-04 Photographic book documenting seven years spent in Delhi, India.

The Parallel State Guy Martin, 2019-03-12 Photographer Guy Martin investigates the blurred lines between reality and fiction in Turkey.

Paradise City Sébastien Cuvelier, 2020-10-12 Sébastien Cuvelier's journey to Iran was inspired by a manuscript written on travels to Persepolis made by his late uncle in 1971. In this book, the photographs from Sébastien's time in Iran are layered on top of his late uncle's diary as a conversation between the two journeys. The book follows Sébastien's search through both the contemporary and ancient landscapes of Iran to locate an elusive, dreamlike version of paradise.

We Are Indestructible Mads Nissen, 2018-07-23 More than 50 years of conflict between the government army, guerrilla rebels and paramilitary groups has led to the internal displacement of more than 7 million - leaving visible scars on the landscape and people of Colombia. We are Indestructible is the culmination of Nissen's work, providing a portrait of a war-torn country navigating the complexities of newfound peace.

Good Morning, America Volume Four Mark Power, 2024-04-09 Power moved slowly through Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska and Wyoming before heading back to Colorado. In a later trip he travelled to Alaska and then another lengthy trip to Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and upstate New York. This new book includes some of these new images alongside those taken on previous trips. Power has described the process to be like 'assembling a large and complicated jigsaw puzzle with little idea of what the final picture will be.' Each book in the series has represented a shift in mood or tone. This latest book has seen the human presence subtly move from the peripheries or the incidental in the landscape to being a more integral part of some images. The tone of the book is more optimistic than previously, and the human presence diminishes a sense of isolation so often present in the vast landscape. In the background on his recent trips the political landscape had shifted with the election of Joe Biden as 46th President. Power was aware that although domestic US politics seemed less dramatic and eventful under the new president, that the country remained divided with the next election around the corner.

Pittsburgh, 2017-06-12 Includes previously unpublished photographs of Pittsburgh by acclaimed photographer Elliot Erwitt taken between 1949 and 1950. These photographs, capturing the humanity and spirit of the architecture and people of the city of Pittsburgh, were thought lost until the negatives were recently located in the Pittsburgh Photographic Library.

HAYAL & HAKIKAT Cemre Yesil Gonenli, 2020-10-13 The photographs in this book depict the hands of prisoners from the early 20th century Turkey and have been drawn from the photographic albums of Abdul Hamid II, the 34th Sultan of the Ottoman Empire. Hayal & Hakikat (translated as Dreams & Fact) takes the form of two booklets-- A Handbook of Forgiveness and A Handbook of Punishment-- which can be viewed side by side. This book by Cemre Yesil Gonenli was inspired by the workshop 'Interpreting the Encyclopedia of Istanbul with Photographs' organised by Genis Açı Project Office and SALT in May 2019.

Sin Salida Tariq Zaidi, 2022-04-05 Sin Salida' ('No Way Out') by photographer Tariq Zaidi documents the impacts of the notorious Mara Salvatrucha gang (MS-13) and its rival Barrio 18 gang members on El Salvador. By depicting the gang members, police, prisons, murder sites, funerals, and the government's war against the gangs, Zaidi illustrates the control the gangs have over the wider Salvadoran society, the violence through which they operate and the grief and loss resulting from the violence.

Weathering Time NANCY. FLOYD, 2021-05-11 'It's not just the body that changes: Fashions and hairstyles evolve; pets come and go; typewriters, analog clocks, and telephones with cords disappear; and finally, film gives way to digital and the computer replaces the darkroom. While Weathering Time is a personal archive, and I am mining the archive to address issues of the female body, the family snapshot and loss, I am also interested in producing images that suggest some of the experiences of my generation. Indeed, the photographs underscore the cultural, technological, and physical changes that have occurred over the past thirty-five years--from my youth to the dawn of my old age.' Nancy Floyd

The Settlements Ken Taranto, 2022-04-05 Ken Taranto had been visiting Israel once or twice a year for seven years when he decided to visit the settlement, Ma'ale Adumim, the first he had ever been to. He had seen the signs for it on the highway from Jerusalem to the Dead Sea and could see clusters of apartment buildings on the hilltops. Six months later Taranto and his family moved to Israel and he printed out a map of all the settlements and began to research them. He learned there were six distinct regions of settlements in the West Bank--Shomron, Binyamin, Gush Etzion, East Jerusalem, the Jordan Valley and the Hebron Hills. They were of various densities and ages. There were small settlements with a few hundred residents, some with a few thousand, and others with over ten or twenty thousand people. There were also many unofficial settlements, called outposts, with populations made up of a small number of families. The Settlements is an architectural portrait of the settlements in Israel from a broad sampling of all types, sizes, densities, ages and regions.

Trilogy Lu Nan, 2018-09-10 Culmination of Magnum photographer Lu Nan's epic 15 year project documenting contemporary Chinese life.

Hyenas of the Battlefield, 2014 The book is a study into the 'unholy alliance' between the military, the entertainment industry and technology, and their coalescence around modern-day warfare.

Campesino Cuba Richard Sharum, 2021-09-07 Photographer Richard Sharum travelled across Cuba to document the lives of isolated farmers, or 'Campesinos, ' and their wider communities at a time of national transition. The histories of these communities have formed the backbone of Cuba, and yet they are rarely depicted in photographic representations of the country. Sharum began researching Campesino communities in late 2015 and his resulting black and white photographs depict the intertwined relationship of people and the land they depend on.
