Rose Bush Indira K. Rao, 2018-07-26 This story describes the authors transcontinental journey starting with seventy-five dollars in hand and a time span of fifty years finishing when the author reaches seventy-five years of age. It is a story of societal and cultural variations across the globe. The travelogue covered in five chapters includes travels across five continents with places visited and events witnessed that combines the history and geography with several travel details. This story explains how a common middle-class family can realize their dreams within their budget and without getting burdened with loans. It is a story for many women trained with employable skills who had to leave their jobs to raise a family and can return to the work force to chase their dreams. The book is provided with four hundred pictures and two hundred and forty foot notes for the reader to access more information.

Highlights in Anglo-American Drama Vesna Bratić, Radmila Nastić, 2016-02-08 This volume represents perspectives on a number of aspects of modern Anglo-American drama and dramatists written by scholars from ex-Yugoslav republics, resulting from long years of common interest and cooperation in the field between the corresponding English Departments in the region. The volume was inspired by the Word across Cultures conference, organised by the Institute of Foreign Languages of the University of Montenegro in Podgorica, Montenegro, in July 2014. The researchers who participated in the conference's literature section were testament to the growing interest in drama among regional literature scholars. The book will appeal to both an academic and non-academic readership. The former will, certainly, benefit from this book since English and, especially, American drama is not appropriately represented by the number of published books it deserves world-wide. The volume provides a South-East European perspective on Anglo-American drama, and represents a valuable addition to existing drama scholarship, since all the contributors are from the ex-Yugoslav republics and write from a standpoint of multiple othernesses. It will also be of interest to theatre and film scholars, as well as theatre and film enthusiasts, because of the variety of approaches adopted in the papers.

Intergenerational Christian Formation Holly Catterton Allen, Christine Lawton, Cory L. Seibel, 2023-06-13 One generation commends your works to another; they tell of your mighty acts.

—Psalm 145:4 Most churches and faith communities segment their ministries by age and generation. In some congregations, people may never interact with those of other ages. But it was not always so. Throughout biblical tradition and the majority of history, communities of faith included people of all ages together in corporate worship, education, and ministry. The church was not just multigenerational; it was intergenerational, with the whole church together as one family and people of all ages learning from one another in common life. The process of becoming Christlike does not happen alone, and intergenerational faith communities are designed for Christian formation. All generations are gifted parts of the body, and churches need all the parts. In this comprehensive text, Holly Allen, Christine Lawton, and Cory Seibel offer a complete framework for intentional intergenerational Christian formation. They provide the theoretical foundations for intergenerationality, showing how learning and spiritual formation are better accomplished through intergenerational contexts. Then the authors give concrete guidance for intergenerational praxis on how worship, learning, community, and service can all be achieved intergenerationally. Case studies of intergenerational congregations provide models for how a culture of intergenerationality can be created in local churches. This second edition has been revised and updated throughout with new empirical research, intergenerational spiritual practices, and Gen Z realities, with fresh stories of intergenerational formation both in the US and around the world. Discover the riches of intergenerational ministry, and let all generations commend the works of God to one another.

Theatre and Identity in Imperial Russia Catherine A. Schuler, 2009-05-01 What role did the theatre—both institutionally and literally—play in Russia’s modernization? How did the comparatively harmonious relationship that developed among the state, the nobility, and the theatre in the eighteenth century transform into ideological warfare between the state and the intelligentsia in the nineteenth? How were the identities of the Russian people and the Russian soul configured and altered by actors in St. Petersburg and Moscow? Using the dramatic events of nineteenth-century Russian history as a backdrop, Catherine Schuler answers these questions by revealing the intricate links among national modernization, identity, and theatre. Schuler draws upon contemporary journals written and published by the educated nobility and the intelligentsia—who represented the intellectual, aesthetic, and cultural groups of the day—as well as upon the laws of the Russian empire and upon theatrical memoirs. With fascinating detail, she spotlights the ideologically charged binaries ascribed to prominent actors—authentic/performed, primitive/civilized, Russian/Western—that mirrored the volatility of national identity from the Napoleonic Wars through the reign of Alexander II. If the path traveled by Russian artists and audiences from the turn of the nineteenth century to the era of the Great Reforms reveals anything about Russian culture and society, it may be that there is nothing more difficult than being Russian in Russia. By exploring the ways in which theatrical administrators, playwrights, and actors responded to three tsars, two wars, and a major revolt, this carefully crafted book demonstrates the battle for the hearts and minds of the Russian people.

Antika za tretje tisočletje Brane Senegačnik, Maja Sunčič, 2004 Zbornik vsebuje petnajst razprav, ki z različnih zornih kotov osvetljujejo vprašanje, kakšno vlogo imajo antične študije v Sloveniji danes, ko tudi politično znova postajamo del Evrope, torej prostora, v katerem smo nastali kot narod z lastno kulturno identiteto. Namen zbornika je soočiti mnenja vidnih slovenskih raziskovalcev, ki se znanstveno udeležujejo na različnih področjih, ki zadevajo antiko in srednji vek, ter jih predstaviti v njihovi skladnosti in razlikah.

Implicit Pedagogy for Optimized Learning in Contemporary Education Vodopivec, Jurka Lepi?nik, Jan?ec, Lucija, Štemberger, Tina, 2018-08-31 In addition to the content prescribed by the official curriculum of any given educational establishment, students learn other information and skills outside of the intended and taught information (such as sharing, communication, and conflict-resolution). These learned skills, otherwise unaccounted for in the education process, can be considered as a part of a hidden or unwritten curriculum. Implicit Pedagogy for Optimized Learning in Contemporary Education is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on the application of assessment methods for the evaluation of indirect and direct educational methods.

While highlighting topics such as language development, teacher agency, and learning process, this publication explores hidden curricula as well as the methods of learning outside of the prescribed school curriculum. It is ideally designed for educators, administrators, students, and researchers seeking current research on the effect of hidden curricula on the education process.

Sport Tourism and Local Sustainable Development Claude Sobry, Sorina Cernaianu, 2022-02-08 Sport tourism is now widely regarded as a tool for sustainable local development. This book brings together 24 authors from a range of countries to address this topic, with analyses ranging from particular types of events to more theoretical approaches concerning the role of sport tourism in the development of Spanish cities or the digital communication of sporting events in Italy as a means of promotion. The book is geared towards academic researchers and students interested in sport tourism, sport economics, management, and sustainable development, as well as policymakers and professionals tasked with dynamic tools to promote their territory.

Croatian Design Now Victor Margolin, Fedja Vukić, Feđa Vukić, 2009 This is the first international book on Croatian design. It is written as a critical overview of Fedja Vukić and Victor Margolin, who are selectors and authors. More than 180 selected works of 60 different authors testifies that design and designers became the centre of the market communication in Croatia, and that this kind of book is essential for understanding the design in this region. This edition covers all aspects of design production (destination identity, corporation identity, packaging, advertising, industrial design, web design...) and is divided into 12 categories. Each work is represented with project details, photographs, and authors' comments on the project. All projects were created between 2005 and 2008. This book's content proves that this is an impressive insight of recent design production in Croatia.
