Das Paradigma Der Landschaft in Moderne und Postmoderne Manfred Schmeling, Monika Schmitz-Emans, 2007

"Und das ungeheure Bild der Landschaft..." Karsten Berr, Olaf Kühne, 2020-01-03
The understanding of landscape in the German-speaking area has some similarities with the discussions of the topic in other European languages and scientific communities, but there are some specifics. These specifics can be found both in the common sense understanding of landscape and in the history of scientific conceptualization. Special features of the common sense understanding lie on the one hand in the medieval roots, a strong romantic charge and the strong connection between home and landscape. With regard to the scientific examination of landscape, there are specific fractions and discontinuities in the German-speaking world. Contents • Theoretical Framing: the Creation of Landscape • The Genesis of the Landscape Concept in the German Language Regions – the Common Sense Understanding • The Concept of Landscape in Landscape-Related Sciences • Landscape Research in its Interdisciplinary and Transdisciplinary Challenge About the Authors Dr. Karsten Berr works as a research assistant at the Department for Urban and Regional Development at the Eberhard Karls University Tübingen. Dr. Dr. Olaf Kühne is professor for Urban and Regional Development at the Eberhard Karls University Tübingen.

Die Landschaft interpretieren: Interdisziplinäre Ansätze Werner Kreisel, Peter Marsden, Tobias Reeh, 2021 There is no generally valid, recognised definition of what landscape actually is. On the basis of its relatedness to the environment, to aesthetics, territory, society, politics, economics, geography, planning, ethnology and philosophy, the concept of landscape is considered to be a composite notion shaped by a thousand years of Central European ideas and of literary and art history. In other words, the very term landscape is ambiguous and it is used in different ways both in the scholarly world and everyday speech. The aim of this volume is to present various possible approaches to the phenomenon of landscape. Far from laying any claim to be exhaustive or comprehensive we have simply tried to do justice to the overarching interdisciplinary approach of the Zentrum für Landschaftsinterpretation und Tourismus (ZELT: Centre for Landscape Interpretation and Tourism) by singling out and addressing individual instances of this fascinating multifaceted phenomenon.

Industrialisation, mechanisation and expansion have wrought profound changes on European cities and the surrounding landscapes in the last century. As regards the positive social and healthy development of inhabitants, landscape planning has become an integral part of all urban planning. Sometimes it is possible to truly merge nature and architecture. ?best of DETAIL Landscape? presents highlights of the past few years from DETAIL: buildings that disappear into their surroundings, lush meadows revealed as roofscapes only after closer inspection, paths and walkways through jungle-like gardens.0Architecture and cities can no longer be counterpoints to nature and the landscape. Rather they should strive to create stunning symbioses.
