The Extreme Centre Tariq Ali, 2018-03-13 Against the centre ground Since 1989, politics has been a contest to see who can best serve the needs of the market. In this urgent and wideranging case for the prosecution, Tariq Ali looks at the people and events that have informed this development across the world. It is an investigation that reaches its logical conclusion with the presidency of Donald Trump, the success of En Marche! in France, and the dominance of Merkel's Germany throughout Europe. In this fully updated edition of The Extreme Centre, Ali considers recent events that suggest, despite everything, that there is room for hope. He finds promise in Latin America and at the edges of Europe. Emerging parties in Scotland, Greece, and Spain, formed out of the 2008 crisis, are offering new promise for democracy. Even in the UK, with the rise of Jeremy Corbyn, there are indications that the hegemony of the centre may be weaker than imagined.

Shopping Centre Marketing Piotr Krowicki, Grzegorz Maciejewski, 2024-02-26 There are almost 10,000 shopping centres in Europe, and in the United States there are over 100,000, many of which have entered the end-of-life phase due to growing e-retail. Therefore, the issue of how customers perceive the value of these facilities and customer engagement in the relationship with the shopping centre is becoming increasingly important. In this book, the authors evaluate the relationship between the perceived value of a shopping centre and customer engagement by identifying consumer motives, purchase behaviour and responsiveness to marketing strategies. It offers an analysis of the conceptualisation and history of shopping centres and utilises both theoretical and empirical research, presenting results from extensive studies and building a framework for value creation in retail spaces. The book will find a wide audience among scholars interested in marketing and retail management. The practical implications discussed will also provide further research opportunities and insights for astute practitioners.

Les sciences humaines dans le centre de l'art CORDONNIER Sarah, 2012-09-24 Cet ouvrage propose de décrypter le rôle des sciences humaines dans l'art contemporain au fil de son développement et de son institutionnalisation en France. Cette approche communicationnelle s'intéresse aussi bien aux pratiques qu'aux discours, aux dispositifs (comme l'exposition) qu'aux représentations (en particulier des sciences). Comment observer les sciences humaines dans le champ artistique, alors que leur réception, leurs réappropriations, ne sont pas visibles de manière immédiate ? Comment rendre compte d'un usage collectif de ces savoirs et, donc, les situer dans des règles et normes partagées par les acteurs de l'art contemporain ? Comment repérer et analyser les manières différenciées d'y recourir dans ce cadre commun ? Par l'observation et l'examen détaillé des centres d'art et des expositions d'art contemporain, Les sciences humaines dans le centre d'art vise à éclairer la circulation sociale des savoirs et les manières de l'étudier.

360 Degree Feedback and Assessment and Development Centres Rao, 2009 360 Degree Feedback, often used in tandem with Assessment and Development Centres, is a powerful technique pioneered in India by TV Rao Learning Systems, who have over the last five years applied this very successfully to many of India's large companies. This volume, the third and last in the series, is an indispensable corollary and companion to the second volume, in as much as the focus is on Leadership Development, one of the most urgently felt needs of the Corporate sector. Spurred on by the threats and opportunities of global competition, companies are now focusing on developing talented leaders. This book, in mapping the terrain and the strategies needed to compete, focuses inter alia on: Assessment Centres, New Case Studies Pertaining to Top Indian Corporates, Critical essays pertaining to Competency Mapping, 360 Degree Feedback, Assessment Centres, and Mergers & Acquisitions, In-house Work by Organizations without outside Assistance. These vital issues explored in elaborate detail in this book will be appreciated not only by practicing HR professionals and senior executives, but also by management students.

Assessment and Development Centres Iain Ballantyne, Nigel Povah, 2017-03-02. Since the first edition of this book, the level of interest and the varied forms of assessment and development centres have mushroomed. Iain Ballantyne and Nigel Povah's book looks at the entire process, from the underlying concepts to the most effective methods of validation - not forgetting the organizational politics involved. The main objectives of the book are: to establish a thorough understanding of the principles and practice of assessment and development centres; to provide sufficient knowledge to enable practitioners to run their own events in a professional manner; to help readers to recognise when they may need to call on outside expertise, and to equip readers to ask pertinent questions of any prospective advisers. This second edition includes guidance to reflect the significant developments within the technology, along with further advice on quality control, process improvements and further refinements to the increasingly popular development centre concept. Assessment and Development Centres represents a practical approach which is sure of a warm welcome from HR professionals.

Advanced Concepts for Renewable Energy Supply of Data Centres Jaume Salom, Thorsten Urbaneck, Eduard Oró, 2022-09-01. The rapid increase of cloud computing, high performance computing (HPC) and the vast growth in Internet and Social Media use have aroused the interest in energy consumption and the carbon footprint of Data Centres. Data Centres primarily contain electronic equipment used for data processing (servers), data storage (storage equipment), and communications (network equipment). Collectively, this equipment processes, stores, and transmits digital information and is known as information technology (IT) equipment. Advanced Concepts for Renewable Energy Supply of Data Centres introduces a number of technical solutions for the supply of power and cooling energy into Data Centres with enhanced utilisation of renewable energy sources in order to achieve low energy Data Centres. Because of the high energy density nature of these unique infrastructures, it is essential to implement energy efficiency measures and reduce consumption before introducing any renewable energy source. A holistic approach is used with the objective of integrating many technical solutions such as management of the IT (Information Technology) load, efficient electrical supply to the IT systems, Low-Ex air-conditioning systems, interaction with district heating and cooling networks, re-use of heat, free cooling (air, seawater, groundwater), optimal use of heat and cold storage, electrical storage and integration in smart grids. This book is therefore a catalogue of advanced technical concepts that could be integrated into Data Centres portfolio in order to increase the overall efficiency and the share of renewable energies in power and cooling supply. Based on dynamic energy models implemented in TRNSYS some concepts are deeply evaluated through yearly simulations. The results of the simulation are illustrated with Sankey charts, where the energy flows per year within the subsystems of each concept for a selected scenario are shown, and graphs showing the results of parametric analysis. A set of environmental metrics (as the non-renewable primary energy) and financial metrics (CAPEX and OPEX) as well of energy efficiency metrics like the well-known PUE, are described and used to evaluate the different technical concepts.

The What Works Centres Michael Sanders,Jonathan Breckon,2023-04-28 The last decade has seen a growing focus on producing evidence-based policy and practice in governments around the world – with a specific focus on causal evidence of the impacts of a particular policy on outcomes for citizens. The UK is a key example of this, with the establishment of 14 What Works Centres which collate, create and translate evidence in different policy and practice domains. In this book, leaders, researchers and practitioners from these institutions share insights to help understand what has worked so far in the Centres, and what could be done better in future. It offers guidance to policy makers and funders looking to establish new centres, and for academics looking to create similar institutions that can have a practical impact on the improvement of the world around us.

Moving the Centre Ngūgĩ wa Thiong'o,1992 In this collection Ngugi is concerned with moving the centre in two senses - between nations and within nations - in order to contribute to the freeing of world cultures from the restrictive walls of nationalism, class, race and gender. Between nations the need is to move the centre from its assumed location in the West to a multiplicity of spheres in all the cultures of the world. Within nations the move should be away from all minority class establishments to the real creative centre among working people in conditions of racial, religious and gender equality. -- Back cover.

Meeting Development Goals in Small Urban Centres Un-Habitat,2012-05-04 Half of the world's people live in urban areas, and roughly a third of these live in desperate poverty without access to basic amenities. Taking on the themes of UN-HABITAT's Water and Sanitation in the World's Cities (2003), this new volume focuses on the deficiencies in the provision of water and sanitation where most of the populations of the developing world live: in towns and small cities. Drawing on extensive unpublished research and 15 commissioned papers from experts involved in designing and implementing innovative projects around the world, this is the first major study of the problems facing the smaller urban centres that are recognized to be of enormous importance by governments, international agencies, NGOs and service providers. Tackling these problems is a crucial part of development and of good governance, and critical to meeting the Millennium Development Goals. The volume will be essential reading for all professionals and researchers in the relevant fields and a valuable resource for teachers and students of urban development.
