The author shares his 20 years of experience and invaluable insights into radio production, communication, and promotion. The potential of developing technologies like artificial intelligence and voice cloning and their impacts on the world of radio and the professionals who work in it cannot be ignored. In the fourth edition these topics are discussed, along with how and what people listen to on the radio in the twenty-first century. A new chapter on podcasting explores the development of podcasts, as well as the preplanning and equipment needed to create an episode. Fully updated, the text enhances students' technical skills and knowledge of digital audio recording and transmission. Each chapter features suggested activities outside the classroom, key informative websites, and a glossary of industry terms. Mobile Saints Kate M. Craig,2021-04-22 Mobile Saints examines the central medieval (ca. 950–1150 CE) practice of removing saints’ relics from rural monasteries in order to take them on out-and-back journeys, particularly within northern France and the Low Countries. Though the permanent displacements of relics—translations— have long been understood as politically and culturally significant activities, these temporary circulations have received relatively little attention. Yet the act of taking a medieval relic from its “home,” even for a short time, had the power to transform the object, the people it encountered, and the landscape it traveled through. Using hagiographical and liturgical texts, this study reveals both the opportunities and tensions associated with these movements: circulating relics extended the power of the saint into the wider world, but could also provoke public displays of competition, mockery, and resistance. By contextualizing these effects within the discourses and practices that surrounded traveling relics, Mobile Saints emphasizes the complexities of the central medieval cult of relics and its participants, while speaking to broader questions about the role of movement in negotiating the relationships between sacred objects, space, and people.
