Linkography Gabriela Goldschmidt, 2014-03-21 The description of a method for the notation and analysis of the creative process in design, drawing on insights from design practice and cognitive psychology. This book presents linkography, a method for the notation and analysis of the design process. Developed by Gabriela Goldschmidt in an attempt to clarify designing, linkography documents how designers think, generate ideas, put them to the test, and combine them into something meaningful. With linkography, Goldschmidt shows that there is a logic to the creative process—that it is not, as is often supposed, pure magic. Linkography draws on design practice, protocol analysis, and insights from cognitive psychology. Goldschmidt argues that the generation of ideas (and their inspection and adjustment) evolves over a large number of small steps, which she terms design moves. These combine in a network of moves, and the patterns of links in the networks manifest a “good fit,” or congruence, among the ideas. Goldschmidt explains what parts of the design process can be observed and measured in a linkograph, describing its features and notation conventions. The most significant elements in a linkograph are critical moves, which are particularly rich in links. Goldschmidt presents studies that show the importance of critical moves in design thinking; describes cases that demonstrate linkography's effectiveness in studying the creative process in design (focusing on the good fit); and offers thirteen linkographic studies conducted by other researchers that show the potential of linkography in design thinking research and beyond. Linkography is the first book-length treatment of an approach to design thinking that has already proved influential in the field.

Von Backlinks zu sozialen Signalen: Wie Social Media das Online-Marketing verändert

Tilman Hjuler, 2015-02-01 Mit der Entstehung sozialer Netzwerke hat sich auch die Funktionsweise von Suchmaschinen geändert. Die Daten, die User generieren, werden von Suchmaschinen ausgelesen und zur Bestimmung der Relevanz von Web-Inhalten genutzt. So bringt das Web 2.0 neben der Entstehung völlig neuer Kommunikations- und Vermarktungskanäle auch Entwicklungen mit sich, welche die Instrumente des klassischen Online-Marketings und somit auch die der Suchmaschinenoptimierung beeinträchtigen. In dieser Arbeit wird untersucht, welchen Veränderungen das Suchmaschinenmarketing aufgrund der Umwälzungen im Bereich der Online-Kommunikation ausgesetzt ist und welche Konsequenzen sich in der Folge ergeben. Ausgehend von der Funktionsweise von Suchmaschinen sollen Maßnahmen der klassischen Suchmaschinenoptimierung aufgezeigt werden. Darauf folgt eine Betrachtung wichtiger sozialer Netzwerke und der wachsenden Bedeutung sozialer Signale für die Relevanz-Bewertung durch Suchmaschinen. Anschließend werden die Folgen, die sich für das Online-Marketing aus dem Erfolg von Social Media-Angeboten ergeben, analysiert. Im Besonderen wird dabei auf strategische und organisatorische Herausforderungen eingegangen.

Social Computing and Behavioral Modeling Huan Liu, John Salerno, Michael J. Young, 2009-04-05
Social computing is concerned with the study of social behavior and social c- text based on computational systems. Behavioral modeling reproduces the social behavior, and allows for experimenting, scenario planning, and deep understanding of behavior, patterns, and potential outcomes. The pervasive use of computer and Internet technologies provides an unprecedented environment of various social activities. Social computing facilitates behavioral modeling in model building, analysis, pattern mining, and prediction. Numerous interdisciplinary and interdependent systems are created and used to represent the various social and physical systems for investigating the interactions between groups, communities, or nations. This requires joint efforts to take advantage of the state-of-the-art research from multiple disciplines, social computing, and behavioral modeling in order to document lessons learned and develop novel theories, experiments, and methodologies in terms of social, physical, psychological, and governmental mechanisms. The goal is to enable us to experiment, create, and recreate an operational environment with a better understanding of the contributions from each individual discipline, forging joint interdisciplinary efforts. This is the second international workshop on Social Computing, Behavioral Modeling and Prediction. The submissions were from Asia, Australia, Europe, and America. Since SBP09 is a single-track workshop, we could not accept all the good submissions. The accepted papers cover a wide range of interesting topics.
