Tales from the Barber Shop Jo Palmeri,2005 Anthony Tony Palma Palmeri, popular barber and humorist in Pittston, a small Pennsylvania coal-mining town, began telling jokes as he began losing hair in his twenties. With his dynamic wit, Tony built up a repertoire as The Bald Barber, which mushroomed into a stand-up-comedian routine over a 40-year career. With the humor of Robin Williams and the gentleness of Bing Crosby, there was no frightened child whom Tony could not charm into a barber chair, and no sad person he could not make laugh. Nurses, doctors, and townsfolk agreed, He's better than a medicine. In Tales from the Barber Shop, his daughter, Sister Josephine Palmeri, a teaching nun in Morristown, NJ, shares Tony's 40 years of stories, along with inspirational gems from the life of her late Dad, a heartwarming story of down-to-earth holiness and humor.

100 New Haircut Clients in 100 Days Ivan Zoot,2019-11-23 When measured against the total population, the idea of 100 more clients is barely a blip on the radar screen of the industry. That said, most of our lives and businesses would be significantly altered if we were able to capture just 100 more haircut clients than we currently have. One hundred new clients will not happen with one new client every day. Achieving a growth number like that will take some time, and it will take hard work. Growth of this type will build like a snowball rolling downhill.Building a clientele is a journey, not a single event or action. There are steps to take and processes to follow. This book is intended to be your guide book for this adventure.

This is also a story of self-reflection and forewarning of what others who desire a successful business may encounter.
