

Beauty Games 1000

Rand Miller, Robyn Miller, David Wingrove

The Beauty Game Anita Anand, 2002 Following the success of India's beauty queens, and the burgeoning cosmetics industry, this book looks at how beauty impacts middle-class city women. It examines how a new, more global image of beauty is being created and promoted by the industry and the media, and whether this is demeaning, exploiting or even objecting.

Decision Support for Forest Management Annika Kangas, Jyrki Kangas, Mikko Kurttila, 2008-03-26 The goal of Kangas, Kangas and Kurttila's Decision Support for Forest Management is to provide students and researchers with a toolbox of methods for approaching the different planning situations that may arise in practice. It draws together a wide range of methods used in planning forest management regimes and presents a systematic overview of current methodological approaches. While earlier books concerning forest planning have tended to focus on linear programming, economic aspects, or specific multi-criteria decision aid tools, this book provides a much broader range of tools to meet a variety of planning situations. The methods themselves cover a range of decision situations - from cases involving single decision makers, through group decision making, to participatory planning. They include traditional decision support tools, from optimization to utility functions, as well as methods that are just gaining ground in forest planning - such as problem structuring methods and social choice theory. Including examples which illustrate the application of each technique to specific management planning problems, the book offers an invaluable resource for both researchers and advanced students specializing in management and planning issues relating to forestry.

The Beauty Game Michaela Day,2013-10 The Beauty Game. When talented copywriter Zoe Diamond first enters the plush offices of global beauty empire Visage D'Or she doesn't own a face cream. She thinks uplift is by Wonderbra. And wrinkles are removed with an iron. Soon she's seduced, manipulated and betrayed by charming words, false promises, and the powerful men behind them. She doesn't drink. Lie. Or have sex on the boardroom table. Yet. She learns beauty means pain. Truth means legal lies. And miracle creams make beautiful profits. Drowning in champagne-fuelled corruption and scandal, Zoe fights to keep her job, her reputation and most importantly, the man of her dreams.
